Mayor Says 1967 Will Be Year of Promise and Problems

(Following is the annual address of Mayor John F. Collins delivered on January 3, before the Boston City Council):

Today we stand on the threshold of a New Year—a Year of Promise and a Year of Problems.

I hope—and I am confident—that we will be able to continue the progress that has been achieved in our city during the year just ended and for the past seven years.

Great strides were made during 1966 toward the realization of a New Boston as yesterday's dreams became today's realities.

It was my hope and my prayer, when I assumed office seven years ago, that I would be able to come before you at the start of each New Year, and report to you and to our citizens, that our Boston was a better city than it had been the year before.

With great pride and yet with deep humility, I feel I can say that truthfully to you today as I have done for each of the past six Januaries.

I also can tell you that great new advances will be made in the year now starting and that there will be further fresh evidence of the confidence in our city and its future—a confidence which will be translated into broader opportunities, new jobs, and a higher degree of prosperity for our people.

Nineteen hundred and sixty-six was another year of progress for the New Boston, another year of sharp contrast with conditions that existed in our city in years past.

The face of our city continued its change for the better. Business activity expanded further. Municipal services increased and improved.

This is not to say that in 1966 our city was without problems nor that the past seven years have been without great sacrifice or perhaps annoyance for some of our citizens.

This is understandable, because if the spread of blight and the decay of civic pride were to be curbed, strong decisions and firm policies were required.

Pains of Progress

Just as harsh-tasting medicine must sometimes be administered to cure a sick patient, the prescription for a once ill city, of necessity, must for a time, and for some persons, be hard to swallow.

Displacement by urban renewal is not taken as a happy remedy by those who must move elsewhere.

Realignment and modernization of city services is considered painful by those who insist upon old methods and familiar locations.

Mayor Hails Decision

(Following are the remarks of Mayor John F. Collins at a news conference following a Superior Court judge's decision regarding the Boston School Committee and the State Board of Education):

I would like to preface these remarks with a word of apology to my friends, the patients at Long Island Hospital.

As you know, it is my custom to join you every year at this time, but a series of events occurred which affect the lives of every man, woman and child residing in Boston.

Earlier today a Superior Court judge ruled that the State Board of Education acted illegally in rejecting a Boston School Committee plan for the redistricting of Boston schools.

I am pleased that Judge Donald M. McCauley rendered the decision in such timely fashion.

Whatever controversy existed has been between the School Committee and the State Board of Education. However, to withhold funds—which now amount to approximately 7 million dollars—penalizes not only the School Committee, but every citizen, taxpayer, and school child in Boston.

I talked to State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane and requested that he release these funds, which belong to the people of Boston. I regret to say my request was unsuccessful.

Unusual Winterfest Exhibits Scheduled February 22-26 at Memorial Auditorium

Skilled craftsmen demonstrating little-known, new, or unusual arts and crafts techniques; action shows, such as deep sea diving and karate demonstrations; exhibits from foreign governments; and a display of "Treasures of Massachusetts Cities" are among the more than 100 exciting, educational, and entertaining exhibits planned for Boston's second edition of Winterfest in late February.

Running the gamut from antique autos to zoo animals, Winterfest exhibits will open at the War Memorial Auditorium in Boston on Washington's Birthday, February 22, and run through Sunday, February 26. Exhibit hours are 10 A.M. to 10 P.M. daily, and 1 P.M. to 10 P.M. on Sunday. Admission is free.

Some 300,000 visitors are expected to jam the Auditorium during the five exhibit days, with thousands more expected to attend the various programs scheduled throughout the city for Winterfest Week in Boston, February 19-26.

The crafts demonstration lineup includes "Showcase Americana," a group of 30 artists from the New England area that will present a continuing program focused on the historic development of arts and crafts in New England. They will explore the area of cordwaining (colonial term for shoe cobbler) and the making of applehead dolls, stained glass windows, and antique jewelry, including hair jewelry.

New developments in arts and crafts will be presented by David C. Baker of Jackson, New Hampshire, who has developed a new watercolor technique called "vitreous flux" watercolor which utilizes plasticized board as a base; mobiles by Roger Vogtman of Boston; and unique papier-mache jewelry created by Mats Studio of Salem.

The first annual Crafts Fair of the Massachusetts Association of Craftsmen will be held in conjunction with the Winterfest program. Other local craft groups participating in Winterfest exhibits include the Cambridge Potters, the Newton Workshop, Bay Colony Chapter of the Embroidery Guild of Boston, and many more.

Visitors attending the exhibits will be able to purchase items being made by the various craftsmen in a "trading post" to be set up on the exhibit floor.

Foreign government exhibits include the largest site model of Canada's EXPO '67—a 20x60-foot electrified display that will be leaving Canada for the first time—and a display commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Magna Carta presented by the British consul.

"Treasures of Massachusetts Cities" is the theme of one display segment. Cities taking part are: Beverly, Brockton, Cambridge, Everett, Fitchburg, New Bedford, Newton, Newburyport, Salem, Springfield, Taunton, Worcester, and Quincy.

Art treasures on display at the Auditorium will include a collection of Winslow Homer's paintings from the Sterling and Francine Clark Art Institute, Williamstown, Massachusetts, and a sampling of the collections at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, valued at more than $3 million.

Other groups scheduled for Winterfest participation include NASA, Merrimack Valley Textile Museum, Boston Public Library, World Freedom Fair, Mattson Academy of Karate, Boston Fire Department Scuba Diving Team, American Federation of Art, Boston Zoological Society, and many more.

In addition to exhibits, the Winterfest '67 program includes performances in music, dance, and drama; lectures, discussions, and seminars on major topics; special children's programs; film festival; folk festival; and a number of special events.

Mayor's Greeting

(Following is the New Year's Greeting of Mayor John F. Collins):

My family and I extend to the people of Boston our wishes for a New Year filled with happiness and health—a year which will bring into fruition the fondest aspirations of themselves, their families, and their loved ones.

Perhaps, man knows no more inspiring endowment than that gift we know as "hope." As 1966 passes into history—we turn as one to 1967 with its bright pages; its promise of better days ahead.

It is not given to man to divine his future. Yet, as we follow Time across another threshold we know that with hope and confidence we can seek out and find cause for cheer.

For all I hope 1967 will be a most happy year.

Promise and Problems . . .

Compelling tax-exempt institutions—for the first time in Boston's history—to pay charges for city services is little-recognized consolation for those who refuse to be satisfied except by massive tax relief, which only the Commonwealth can provide.

Realizing from the outset the enormity of our task, this administration has devoted whatever its talents and all its energy to leading Boston on the long and difficult journey from bleak yesterday to bright and booming tomorrow.

Many steps have been taken to bring nearer the completion of this long journey.

At the very beginning of our journey we sought to eliminate waste and modernize purchasing procedures.

Boston's budget was cut while, at the same time, the state budget and the federal nondefense budget were spiraling upward.

Substantial Tax Hike Looms

Even before the enactment of the state sales tax, Boston's tax rate was reduced for four successive years.

It would give me tremendous satisfaction if I could stand here today and tell you that our tax rate will be reduced again in 1967.

Unfortunately, that is not possible. We have approximately $31 million in built-in increases in our budget. Most of that money must be raised from the tax levy on real estate. There is no other way we can get it.

I can make no precise forecast as to how great the rise in the tax rate will be. We will do everything within our power to keep it as low as possible. However, I regret to say that it will be substantial.

In this connection, let me say that we must provide the essential services for our citizens, and I believe the standard of the services we furnish compares very favorably with those in our neighboring communities.

We must care for our needy, our sick, and our aged.

We must continue to strive for racial harmony.

We must continue our efforts to eliminate blight and human misery from our city.

These things cost money—a great deal of money. Yet we cannot afford NOT to do them.

State Should Assume Welfare

I remarked earlier that we are beginning a Year of Promise and a Year of Problems.

The problems which will confront us before 1967 has run its course will be enormous.

We will do our utmost to meet and overcome every problem which we have the means of solving. Would that we have the means to overcome them all.

Unfortunately, some of them are beyond our power to solve, and we must look to our state and federal governments for help if we are to overcome them and do what should be done for our people.

It is my hope and my expectation that the incoming Legislature, which convenes tomorrow, will enact a bill under which the state will assume the public welfare costs now borne by our local communities.

At the time of the enactment of the sales tax legislation, Governor John A. Volpe promised that soon the cost of welfare or public assistance would be shifted from the cities and towns to the state.

Therefore, I have requested the Corporation Counsel to take whatever steps are necessary to protect the interests of the city in receiving money which rightfully belongs to the people of Boston. He has filed a restraining order in Superior Court asking for release of the money to the City of Boston.

Suffolk Superior Court Judge Joseph Ford on December 29 granted the city's request for a preliminary injunction preventing State Education Commissioner Owen B. Kiernan from using a 1965 formula for the distribution of State School Aid to Boston.

The city's Chief Legal Officer, James J. Sullivan, Jr., filed the petition asking for the temporary injunction.

It stated that if Kiernan certifies State School Aid to Boston on the basis of 1965 equalized valuation, the city would lose some 5 million dollars. The city seeks to have Kiernan certify the distribution of funds on Boston's 1966 equalized valuation figures.

Sullivan's request for the preliminary injunction was made without objection by the Attorney General's office. In a brief hearing, Judge Ford agreed that there should be no certification pending a judicial determination.

Ford also suggested the trial on the merits of the case be postponed until Elliot Richardson assumes the office of Attorney General and Sullivan and Richardson agree on a trial date. He further suggested that the racial imbalance case go over to the same date.

Promise and Problems . . .

When this is done, a considerable burden will be lifted from the shoulders of our taxpayers. If it is not done, our taxpayers must reach even more deeply into their pockets.

Most of our cities and many of our towns across the Commonwealth desperately need this help from the state.

We have the poor in large numbers. In all fairness and all justice, this is a burden which should be assumed by the state.

Let me emphasize that Boston is taking full advantage of federal grants and federal funds wherever they apply in city government.

But the load is still too staggering for the city to carry.

Federal Help Needed

And we should be able to turn to the federal government for even greater help.

If the federal government can solve the problems of outer space, it should be able to help provide the means of solving the problems of the city dwellers on this planet and in this nation.

I was pleased to read President Johnson's statement that the United States of America is indeed rich and powerful enough to meet our commitments in Vietnam and at home for the problems of this country are in the cities and the money is in Washington.

To right the conditions of the underprivileged and deprived, massive new federal programs are needed.

Refinements and improvements of existing federal approaches will not give us what we need.

It is time for a drastic overhaul of the whole complex of relationships between the federal government and the cities.

I do not propose that we look only to the national treasury. I believe that ways can be found to create incentives for private initiative and private capital to work constructively in the depressed areas of cities. The internal revenue code and insurance of some urban investments are examples.

As I indicated last month a new COMSAT type public-private corporations to enlist the full concern of our universities, and investments by banks, insurance companies' pension funds, hardware manufacturers, would merge public power and private incentive to solve the nation's most critical domestic problem.

Each city in America, many to a degree worse than Boston, faces these problems on a daily basis. They cannot be solved on the local level.

So we must of sheer necessity look to our state government and in an even greater degree to our federal government for help in meeting the problems of our people which we ourselves have not the means of overcoming.

Now let me review briefly some of the things we achieved in 1966 and some of the things we will accomplish in 1967 in our efforts to make Boston a better city.

During the year just ended hundreds of low and moderate rental housing units were built and are now occupied by families who formerly lived in substandard dwellings. Thousands more will be constructed in 1967.

The same is true for some 500 units of new public housing for our valued elderly.

The Government Center, once a slum, is taking form as new structures are completed and others are rising including the new City Hall. Work on several new major buildings will be started during 1967 by private interests.

The recreational facilities available to our people, including play areas and tot lots, were increased in 1966 and will be expanded further in 1967.

GIVE TO FIGHT CANCER

Promise and Problems . . .

Looking Ahead to 1967

We plan to spend some $6 million this year for new streets and sidewalks. These plans include the construction of a new Commonwealth avenue. New lights will be installed on several miles of streets.

Our fire-fighting facilities will be strengthened by the most modern and efficient equipment available.

Every possible effort will continue to be made to keep the face of the New Boston clean. The city-wide cleanup campaign of the Public Works Department will be extended and intensified. We intend to purchase $1 million worth of new equipment for the department. We will lease new street sweepers instead of buying them. The success of this endeavor must necessarily depend on the cooperation of our citizens.

A roving inspection service will be inaugurated to report anything which needs fixing for which the city is responsible.

The scooter patrol in the Police Department will be expanded to cover residential neighborhoods.

High-speed computers will be installed in the Police Department, the Hospital Department, and City Hall.

This will make possible instantaneous communication between the Boston Police Department and the National Crime Information Center in Washington. It will enable the Hospital Department to handle its Medicare bills and will result in more efficient administrative procedures at City Hall.

The rejuvenation of the Boston City Hospital is now successfully under way and by merging the resources and skills of the Hospital and Health Departments, there is now available comprehensive health care to all our citizens.

School appropriations have been increased each year; and to break the long-existing log jam in school construction, we have a new Public Facilities Department with full authority to plan and build schools for our children.

It should be pointed out that the long standing disagreement between the State Department of Education and the Boston School Committee has resulted not only in withholding state funds for school purposes but also in the freezing of construction funds for new school buildings.

This impasse cannot be permitted to continue. But if it should it will not be the contesting Education Boards who will be punished, but rather those who are not parties to the controversy, the school children and taxpayers of Boston.

The task of rebuilding, revitalizing, and rejuvenating an old city such as Boston is not an easy one.

We knew it would not be an easy one when we undertook it. We knew that difficult problems would have to be met and that hard decisions would have to be made.

Not everyone agrees with the way hard decisions are made. If a unanimity of opinion were possible, they wouldn't be hard decisions.

But the tough decisions made by this administration in 1966 and in each of the six years preceding 1966—were always made in the light of what was best for the greatest number of our citizens and without regard for political considerations or political effect.

That is the way they will be made in 1967. Indeed, it is the only way they can be made if our city is to continue to move ahead.

In reporting to you, as I have, on the progress we have achieved during the seven years I have served as your Mayor, may I stress most strongly and most sincerely that it would not have been possible except for the cooperation and encouragement we have received from the great majority of our citizens.

Mayor-Mrs. Hicks Talk

Mayor John F. Collins and School Committeewoman Louise Day Hicks met for over an hour on January 2 to discuss delays in the construction of demountable schools in the South Boston district.

The meeting, which Mrs. Hicks requested, took place at the Mayor's house in Jamaica Plain.

During the course of the meeting, Mrs. Hicks told the Mayor she was aware that the problem was that of the School Committee, which had made the decision to purchase portables, but that she was calling upon him for his help in getting the schools built.

The Mayor described the meeting as, "Looking back down the corridor of time beginning when the Norcross School was destroyed by fire—the School Committee decided to obtain demountables—and to the present time when only one of the contemplated 12 buildings is up."

The Mayor said that the disagreement between the School Committee and the State Board of Education has made even more difficult the construction of new schools and he hoped that the State Board of Education "will not complicate an already difficult situation by forcing a premature end to double sessions." The Mayor said he "is exploring every legal means of assembling the demountables and ultimately billing the contractor for the added expense."

The Mayor concluded: "Although, the problem is that of the School Committee it has become my problem also, because I am concerned about everything which occurs in our city."

PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT

REMOVAL AND DISPOSAL OF TREES

DEAR SIR:

You are respectfully notified that advertised proposals for removal and disposal of dead or diseased trees in the City of Boston were publicly opened and read at this office on Tuesday, November 1, 1966, at 2 P.M., as follows:

Maltby & Company, 30 Old Page street, Stoughton, $24,411.

Pelrine's Tree & Landscape Service, Inc., R775 Front street, Weymouth, $24,874.50.

The proposal submitted by Maltby & Company, in response to a publicly-advertised invitation in the City Record for removal and disposal of dead or diseased trees in the City of Boston, contained on page two certain qualifications to their bid regarding the time of completion which is in conflict with the specifications.

The contract called for completion in 90 days, but Maltby & Company made a qualification of completion within 130 days, which negates the original conditions. This counter proposal makes their bid unresponsive, and therefore, unacceptable.

Accordingly, it is respectfully requested that we be allowed to award the contract to the second bidder, Alpine Tree and Landscape Corporation, 60 Hall avenue, Somerville, for the estimated sum of $24,720, to be charged to the Parks and Recreation Department budget Beautification and Improvement of Public Park Land, 1-11-41 ($31).

Very truly yours,

JOHN J. TIERNEY, JR.,
Commissioner.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the award of contracts, without public advertising, based on the following communications:

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT

Purchasing Division

SURGICAL MICROSCOPE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Invitation to bid on proposals for furnishing surgical microscope to the Boston City Hospital was advertised in the City Record. Subsequently, bids received were publicly opened and read in this office on December 2, 1966.

The bid submitted by E. F. Mahady, Division of Will Ross, Inc., of Mass., who was the low bidder, was irregular in that both copies of their bid were filed in the Purchasing Division. Authority is requested to dispense with further advertising and award a contract, without public advertisement, to this company on the basis of the prices submitted on the public bid. In my opinion, the best interests of the city will be served by awarding the contract in this manner.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $4,571, less 2 percent, time of payment.

Respectfully yours,

MICHAEL A. DESIMONE,
Purchasing Agent.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT

ENGINEERING SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On May 17, 1965, your Honor authorized the award of a contract for the carrying out of certain engineering services required in connection with the proposed construction of the various water, sewer, and drainage systems related to the Washington Park Urban Renewal Area, Project No. Mass. R-24, to Fay, Spofford & Thorndike, Inc., 11 Beacon street, Boston.

The contract states that the engineer's basic fee shall be a percentage of the actual construction cost and that the work designed under the contract shall not exceed $1,000,000 in construction cost. Additional design work not anticipated in conjunction with the contract, but necessary and urgent in order to carry out BRA planning, indicates that realistically the contract should read "not to exceed $1,200,000" rather than $1,000,000 in construction cost.

Article 3 of this contract lists varying percentages that the consultant engineer shall be paid for varying construction costs. Increasing the $1,000,000 maximum to $1,200,000 requires another percentage to be added to this list, namely, 4.95 percent for this $1,200,000 maximum. This percentage is less than the 5.025 percent for $1,000,000 but the total consultants fee, because of the new ceiling, could amount to up to $9,150 more.

However, the maximum amount that the city shall pay the engineer can remain unchanged at $83,750 because the potential increase of $9,150 can be provided for by reducing the $33,500 originally provided for supplementary services to $24,000 since it now appears evident that this $24,000 will suffice for supplementary services. To accomplish the above changes, Articles 3, 4, 5, and 12 would need revision.

In view of the satisfactory performance already provided by Fay, Spofford & Thorndike, Inc., and in order to insure continuous engineering service to the Washington Park Urban Renewal Project, your Honor's authorization is respectfully requested to dispense with public advertising and to amend the contract so as to provide for the above-referenced changes in terms which do not, however, increase the total contract amount.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SNOW EQUIPMENT

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In addition to contract equipment used within the various districts of the city to supplement the department forces and equipment in connection with the work of keeping highways and streets opened following snowstorms, the department also has a need for graders and heavy four wheel drive trucks to be used on routes that pass through two or more districts. I have established rates for these plows that are below the average price bid for similar equipment used in the district work, and all available equipment will be hired.

Accordingly, your permission is requested to dispense with public advertising and to award contracts to the following contractors to supply this equipment:

P. V. Barone Corporation (1 grader), 100 hours at $24, $2,400.

Merry Contracting Service (2 graders and 1 medium, 4 wheel drive truck), 200 hours at $24, $4,800; 100 hours at $15, $1,500.

S. J. Tomasello Corporation (1 grader), 100 hours at $24, $2,400.

Baker & Co., Inc. (2 graders), 200 hours at $24, $4,800.

Sylvester A. Ray (2 large 4 wheel drive trucks), 250 hours at $24, $6,000.

Walsh Company, Inc. (1 grader), 100 hours at $24, $2,400.

Total, $24,300.

It is understood and agreed that the work to be done is at the established hourly rate.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PERAMBULATION OF THE BOUNDARY LINES

Coun. CRAVEN and HYNES, for the Committee on Perambulation of the Boundary Lines, between Boston and the cities of Revere, Everett, Somerville, and Newton, and the towns of Brookline, Dedham, Milton, and Winthrop, submitted the following:

In City Council, December 12, 1966.

The special committee appointed to examine the lines and bound marks between the City of Boston and the cities of Revere, Everett, Somerville, and Newton, and the towns of Brookline, Dedham, Milton, and Winthrop, respectively, report that they have attended to the duty with which they were charged, have met with the committees designated by the said cities and towns, and have jointly examined and verified the several boundaries and bound marks in the existing boundary lines.

The committee found the existing boundary markers and points to be essentially in the same condition as reported by the last previous perambulation committee.

The boundary lines between Boston-Somerville, Boston-Newton, Boston-Brookline, Boston-Dedham, and Boston-Milton are for the most part satisfactorily marked; although some of the markers are not in evidence by virtue of being buried under existing pavement or ground surfaces, and a few others are missing or inadequately marked.

The boundaries between Boston-Revere and Boston-Winthrop are insufficiently marked in those areas where the Belle Isle Inlet and Shirley Gut waterways have been filled in.

The boundary line between Boston and Everett is not clearly marked because many of the markers are buried. It is the intention of the Engineering Division of the Public Works Department with the approval of the commissioner to correct this condition in the near future by the installation of permanent visible markers.

Inasmuch as the committee members and engineers of the communities involved and referred to herein, are in general agreement as to where the marking of the respective boundary lines can be improved by more adequately marking existing markers; restoring missing markers; raising markers that are buried; and setting additional markers at certain significant points, it is the recommendation of this committee that the Commissioner of Public Works be requested to order the Engineering Division of the Public Works Department to prepare and plan for specific improvements as may be indicated through consultation and agreement with the engineers of the respective cities and towns of Revere, Everett, Somerville, Newton, Brookline, Dedham, Milton, and Winthrop.

We submit herewith, a description of the boundary lines and marks for record.

KATHERINE CRAVEN,

BARRY T. HYNES,

Councillors.

FREDERIC J. O'DONNELL,
Assistant City Clerk.

FREDERICK L. GARVIN, Division Engineer,
Engineering Division,
Public Works Department.

The report of the committee and descriptions are contained in City Document No. 44.

The report of the committee was accepted, and ordered printed.

ESTABLISH BOUND MARKS AND PLACE VISIBLE BOUND MARKERS AT CITY BOUNDARIES

Coun. CRAVEN and HYNES offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to establish bound marks and place permanent visible markers at those boundary corners having no markers or where markers are buried or otherwise not plainly visible, as recommended by the report of the Special Committee on Perambulation of the Boundary Lines, between Boston and the adjacent cities and towns of Revere, Everett, Somerville, Newton, Brookline, Dedham, Milton, and Winthrop.

Passed under suspension of the rules.

REVIEW OF POLICY RE INSPECTIONS BY HOUSING INSPECTION DEPARTMENT

Coun. PIEMONTE offered the following:

Whereas, The Massachusetts Supreme Court in the Malden case has defined the rights of municipal inspectors in the matter of the right to enter homes in connection therewith; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, on this 12th day of December, 1966, do request his Honor the Mayor to direct the appointing authorities to review the policy of the city with respect to inspections; and further

That the appointing authorities establish adequate safeguards to be included in the qualifications for such positions.

The resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules.

TRANSMITTING COMMUNICATION TO POLICE COMMISSIONER RE EXPANSION OF DEPARTMENT

Coun. PIEMONTE offered the following:

Ordered, That the City Clerk cause to have transmitted to the Police Commissioner for immediate action and his reply to the following communication dated December 8, 1966, addressed to each member of the Council which reads as follows:

Coun. Gabriel Piemonte, City Hall, Boston, Mass.

December 8, 1966.

We the residents, clergy, and merchants of the Dorchester-Roxbury Community are outraged at the increased crime and violence that plague our streets.

We hold our elected officials responsible to take the necessary corrective action to stop this reign of terror in our community.

We look to the Mayor and City Councillors to see that police protection be expanded considerably. We demand:

1. More foot patrolmen in the streets at night.

2. More patrol cars responding immediately to citizens calls.

3. More policemen added to the district forces.

4. More rigorous prosecution of muggers, bag-snatchers, house breakers, and assaulters.

We as a group intend to organize to overcome this climate of fear. We will co-operate with the present overworked Police Force but we shall not rest until our goals for more police, especially foot patrolmen are achieved. We will not be satisfied by token or temporary measures in response to our need.

We are also aware that our courts must also take responsibility to see that crimes are dealt with swiftly and justly. Repeated offenders are terrorizing our neighborhood and we intend to see it stopped.

Sincerely,

Citizens' Committee to Combat Terror,

FRANCIS F. McELROY,

ARNOLD E. MATHESON,

Co-chairmen pro tem.

SOLEMN TRIBUTE PAID FIRE CHIEF JAMES FLANAGAN AT HOLY CROSS CATHEDRAL

Final tribute to Boston Fire Chief James J. Flanagan was paid at Holy Cross Cathedral on January 11, when Richard Cardinal Cushing presided at a Solemn Requiem Mass attended by an outpouring of worshippers from every walk of life.

Chief Flanagan spent most of his adult life as a fire fighter in the best tradition of the BFD. He served only 10 weeks as the head of the department he loved. Among fire fighters he was long known for his courageous devotion to duty, his leadership, and his unfailing concern for protection of lives and property.

In accordance with his wishes his body was borne to its last resting place in St. Mary's Cemetery, East Dedham, on the hose deck of his final Company 3, housed close to the Cathedral.

He died on January 7 at Boston City Hospital from injuries sustained in an automobile accident on the Southeast Expressway during the rush hour the previous day.

His wife, Mary, his only survivor, met with Fire Commissioner William Fitzgerald and told him her husband said, upon returning last October from the funeral of 12 New York firemen killed in the line of duty, he would like to be buried in the New York Fire Department tradition.

In New York, when a fire fighter dies in the line of duty, his hearse is always his fire engine.

Commissioner Fitzgerald ruled Chief Flanagan had died in the line of duty, in that he was attempting to aid a distressed motorist, was on duty and in full uniform when the accident occurred.

Wednesday morning at 9, the cortege formed at the funeral home and proceeded the length of Washington street, from Jamaica Plain to the South End.

As the cortege passed fire houses along the route the traditional last alarm, 10-1-5, was tolled.

At the Cathedral, Governor Volpe, with former Governors Peabody and Furcolo, Commissioner Fitzgerald and the only two living Boston ex-fire chiefs, John Stapleton and William A. Terrenzi, met the procession.

These dignitaries, led by Mayor Collins, led the funeral procession into the Cathedral as the Boston Fire Department band played the fireman's dirge.

A 1,000-man delegation from the Boston Fire Department attended the funeral, led by International Firefighters Union Vice-President Howard McClellan and local union officers Joseph Hardiman and Martin Pierce.

Commissioner Robert O. Lowery and Chief John T. O'Hagen of the New York Fire Department headed a 500-man delegation.

A 300-man delegation of the Massachusetts Fire Chiefs Association was led by their president, Chief Walter Carter of Lynn, and Chief Frederick Perkins of Newton.

Fire Chief James Grote of Chester, Connecticut, headed 350 chiefs from the New England Asso-

Death Takes Popular "Billy" Devine

Former Boston Parks and Recreation Commissioner William J. Devine, 47, of 166 Bellevue street, West Roxbury, died on January 7 of a heart attack. He had resigned his post in November because of ill health.

Mr. Devine was a lifelong friend of Mayor John F. Collins. He was appointed chief secretary to Mayor Collins in 1960 and was appointed Parks Commissioner in April, 1964, succeeding retiring Martin F. Walsh.

He was an all-scholastic football player at Jamaica Plain High School. After his graduation from Jamaica Plain High School he attended Bridgeton Academy. He captained the Boston College 1941 freshman football team.

He left Boston College to enlist in the U. S. Marine Corps during World War II and served in the Pacific.

Mr. Devine served as an aide to Mayor Collins after the Mayor's polio attack in 1955 and continued the role during the Mayor's first four-year term at City Hall.

He lived in Jamaica Plain until two years ago when the family moved to West Roxbury. He was a communicant of St. Theresa's Church, West Roxbury.

He leaves his wife, Sophie, and two children, William J., Jr., 12, and Andrea, 16.

A Solemn Requiem Mass was sung at St. Theresa's Church, West Roxbury, on January 10.

Mayor Asks President Johnson To Prevent Crippling Slash of Community Action Funds

In a strongly worded letter to President Johnson, Mayor Collins, on January 4, urged the Chief Executive to prevent slashing of funds to the extent that Community Action Programs of the Office of Economic Opportunity be sharply reduced or even wiped out.

The Mayor pointed out that the Community Action Program "is one of the most important weapons" in the Anti-Poverty War. He urged the President to preserve the substantial gains "these programs have made."

His letter follows:

PRESIDENT LYNDON B. JOHNSON,
The White House,
WASHINGTON, D.C.

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT:

As Mayor of the City of Boston, I am deeply concerned by the indications that many important Community Action Programs now serving the poor may be sharply curtailed or even eliminated.

I wish to appeal directly to you, Mr. President, to prevent this tragic development. I know you share with me the belief that our nation cannot attain its full measure of greatness if the present affliction of poverty is allowed to continue unabated.

Since the beginning of the War on Poverty, there has been evidence that poverty can be at least alleviated, and in some instances wholly eliminated. The Community Action Program is one of the most important weapons in this fight, and I urge your assistance in preserving the substantial gains these programs have made.

While real benefits will certainly come from such fine programs as Head Start, Job Corps, Legal Services, and Neighborhood Youth Corps, which are now scheduled for direct funding, the basic advances made through Community Action Programs have established a solid foundation for progress. Depriving the poor of these gains will damage the whole concept of a successful War on Poverty.

In short, much of value to our communities will be lost by any cut in community action type programs.

In my own city in the past year, some fifty thousand low-income Bostonians participated in and benefited from a wide variety of Community Action Programs. These disadvantaged citizens were active in programs ranging from neighborhood tutorial efforts assisting children who have difficulty in school, to neighborhood organizations that transform dirty, vacant lots into lovely small parks and play areas. The gain to all our citizens from this spirit of cooperation and pride is beyond measure.

In closing, Mr. President, I wish to express to you my complete confidence and personal support for the programs carried out in this city by Action for Boston Community Development, Inc., and for the Community Action programs nationally. I urge you to do everything in your power to increase and strengthen these vital programs.

With kindest personal regards,

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

Chief Flanagan . . .

BHA Aids Neighborhoods

Chairman Jacob I. Brier of the Boston Housing Authority announced that 47 apartments in public housing developments have been assigned to agencies offering health, welfare, and community action programs for residents of the developments and the neighboring areas.

These assignments of operational space in housing developments are in addition to 35 dwelling units previously turned over to sponsors of programs benefitting the community.

The Authority's contribution of space, representing a cash value of approximately $90,000 a year, enables the various agencies to bring their programs to the people in the areas served.

Tufts University Medical School which has been operating a comprehensive program of medical services at Columbia Point, in a three-story building of 12 apartments at 300 Mt. Vernon street, is planning an expansion of its Health Center programs to include dental services and mental health programs. These will be housed in 21 apartments in two buildings adjoining the Health Center.

The Boston University School of Medicine is sponsoring two Maternal and Child Health Centers in housing developments areas. One of these will be located in four apartments in the Orchard Park development. The other will occupy four apartments in the South End development. Six apartments at the Bromley-Heath development now serve as headquarters for the Family Health Center sponsored by the Harvard University School of Public Health.

ABCD's Neighborhood Action Centers are operating most successfully from centralized locations in housing developments. Centers already established in the Columbia Point, Bromley-Heath, and Mission Hill developments account for 13 apartments. Two additional dwelling units at the Franklin Hill development are scheduled to serve as offices for the Dorchester Neighborhood Action Center.

The Roxbury Neighborhood House, slated to move from its present Albany Street address, will relocate its entire program of services in eight apartments at Orchard Park. One apartment in the South End development is given over to a Community Service Center conducted by the United South End Settlements and a special program for elderly people recently opened in four apartments in the Charlestown development.

A unit of the Boston Welfare Department increased the efficiency of its operation by relocating in three apartments in the Columbia Point development.

The Columbia Point Center, sponsored by the Dorchester Federation of Neighborhood Houses, now conducts its programs from four apartments in that development. The community space it formerly occupied at 274 Mt. Vernon street was remodeled into a day nursery operated by the Associated Day Care Services.

Mr. Brier pointed out that community space in developments has enabled the Authority to provide working areas for other services. Such space has been utilized for a Day Care Center and a Service Center at Orchard Park, the Jamaica Plain Neighborhood House programs in the Bromley-Heath development, and for the Whittier Street Service Center in the Whittier Street development.

Mr. Brier noted that it always has been and will continue to be the policy of the Boston Housing Authority to work cooperatively with other agencies in making social, health, educational, and recreational programs available within the developments as an added contribution to the well-being of the individual and the family living in public housing developments and the adjacent communities.

March of Dimes Plea

Mayor Collins has issued the following March of Dimes plea to all department heads:

"The annual appeal for the March of Dimes is now under way and will continue until the end of January. It is not necessary for me to call the attention of city employees to this worthy cause which is sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc.

"Research, therapy, and continued care of victims affected by crippling diseases, birth defects, and polio are a must and I urge all to contribute as generously as they can to this most important work of mercy.

"I have designated Edmund W. Holmes, Collector-Treasurer of the City of Boston, as chairman of this drive. Returns should be made to Mr. Fred L. Uriot of the Treasury Division. All department heads shall assign a responsible person from their department who will contact Mr. Uriot and obtain the necessary information in connection with the drive.

"I sincerely and respectfully urge department heads and collectors to make a special effort to make this year's contribution by city and county employees a really successful achievement."

Mayor's Tribute

Mayor Collins paid the following tribute to Fire Chief James J. Flanagan on learning of his untimely death on January 7:

"In his long career as a fire fighter, Chief Flanagan personified courage and dedication to the welfare of others. In his brief career as chief of department, his leadership qualities and compassion were acknowledged by all.

"I join with all the members of the Boston Fire Department in mourning his death and in expressing sympathy to Mrs. Flanagan."

DRIVE CAREFULLY

New Elementary Schools

Construction of three or four elementary schools will start this spring, Mayor Collins announced.

The Mayor did not say where the schools would be built but, at a press conference, said "top priority" would be given to solving legal problems that have nearly halted school construction for the past year.

The School Department last year announced plans for the construction of 11 schools, most of them elementary, as the first part of a long-range construction program.

Construction slowed because the state stopped school building aid until the Boston School Committee complies with the racial imbalance law.

The financial loss to Boston is considerable because, under existing law, the state pays 45 percent of all building costs. If a school meets the racial imbalance law requirements, state aid goes up to 65 percent of school costs.

Mayor Collins said he would initiate legal action to determine what kind of court or legislative action can be undertaken to free an estimated $110 million for school construction.

Some $53 million is the city's own money, the Mayor added, while the rest comprises state and projected federal funds.

Construction of the three or four schools will be Malcolm E. Dudley's first task as the city's building boss.

Maryknoller Needs Help

How would you like to help a Maryknoll Missionary assist the underprivileged people of Peru in obtaining such needed equipment as a new tractor, etc.? If you are interested, you may help by contacting Father Daniel Flavin of the Maryknoll Missioners at 361-1827.

Father Flavin will be returning to Peru this month and before he leaves, his family, relatives, and friends are sponsoring a drive to be held at the Columbus Club of Dorchester, Columbus Council No. 116, Knights of Columbus, on Saturday evening, January 21.

Job Hunters, Attention

On January 14 the Greater Boston Careers Exposition will meet head-on with the severe metropolitan labor squeeze.

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce through its Personnel Managers Club will sponsor this first recruiting session at which graduating seniors, both high schools and colleges, will be placed in contact with top-level personnel administrators and interviewers from 50 of the largest Greater Boston firms. This is the largest event of its kind in New England. The seniors will be able at this time to interview with all of these companies in one day and in one place, thus eliminating the otherwise lengthy and expensive job-hunting process.

An extensive public information campaign including radio broadcasts, direct mailing, guidance counselor participation, and newspaper features, should insure that all sixty thousand graduating seniors in the Boston area are aware of this beneficial event.

Viet Vets Council Guests

Council President Barry T. Hynes announces that the Boston City Council will sponsor a luncheon for 18 wounded Vietnam veterans currently recuperating at the Chelsea Naval Hospital.

The luncheon will take place at 11.30 A.M., January 16, at Anthony's Pier Four Restaurant.

Following the luncheon, these young veterans will be guests of the Council at their regular session at 2 P.M.

NO GAS STATION

Turkish President Cemal Gursel beamed with pride as he roared away from Ankara's parliament building in the first auto ever made in Turkey, with a chauffeur at the wheel. A scant 100 yards later, Gursel's smile froze as the engine coughed and died. "We made this car with the Western part of our minds," he berated the chauffeur, "but with the Oriental part we forgot to put gasoline in it."

Chamber Looks to '67

Community Development, a bulletin issued by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, contained the following article under the heading "Renewal and Development" in its January 6 issue:

"South Station, Demonstration Cities Program, a stadium proposal and opening of the new City Hall appear to be significant development and renewal issues for 1967. With the exception of the new City Hall, each of these important issues can be expected to generate considerable heat and light in the New Boston.

"Stalemated in 1966, the Boston Redevelopment Authority can be expected to move on securing a developer for the South Station site. Every possible attempt should be made to develop this critical area of the Central Business District. Legislative authorization for the Massachusetts Port Authority to develop a proposed Trade and Transportation Center remains the key to development of the area.

"Recast proposals for a new stadium may be made in mid-March by a Special Commission of the Legislature which has been reviewing design, location, and finance involved in stadium construction. Serving on the Commission are Chamber Board Members Ephron Catlin, Jr., and Robert C. Nordblom.

"Possible completion of the new City Hall in 1967 should give a boost to Boston City Government. Municipal elections and Boston's hosting of the National League of Cities Annual Municipal Congress could combine with this event to give Boston municipal affairs a special drama and spotlight in national affairs.

"With federal program requirements still somewhat undefined, Boston's application and participation in a Demonstration Cities Program remains on the drawing boards. Planning and development of this unique and ambitious federally aided program adds a new dimension to Boston's renewal efforts. The broad program scope of the Demonstration Cities' program will call for dramatic administrative arrangements within the city government's structure."

Mayor Urges Rail Aid

The single most important issue in transportation for the Boston metropolitan area this year will hinge on MBTA efforts to continue interim rail passenger service.

The MBTA has filed legislation seeking an extension of the rail subsidy authorization for a period of four (4) years—December 31, 1967–December 31, 1971. The legislation would also make available $20 million to defray the cost of rail service during this period of time. Specifically, these additional funds would be realized on the same basis as the existing rail subsidy funds calling for a $10 million state grant from proceeds of the cigarette tax and $10 million from bonds to be amortized by the 78 cities and towns.

The request for extension of interim rail service involves important financial issues for the 78 cities and towns. Mayor Collins has filed legislation which would change the present formula for assessing rail commuter service with the general result of having the communities receiving rail service share a greater proportion of the costs. When existing formulas are applied Boston assumes over 50 percent of rail service costs.

Dr. Stephen J. Maddock

Dr. Stephen J. Maddock, 68, of Topsfield road, Boxford, retired director of the Boston City Hospital's Experimental Surgical Research Laboratory, died on January 8 at the hospital.

Born in Cincinnati, he was a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and of Harvard Medical School, class of 1925. Following his internship at Long Island College Hospital, Brooklyn, New York, he returned to the New England area.

Dr. Maddock had been affiliated with Boston City Hospital for 35 years prior to his retirement in 1962. At one time he headed the Fifth Surgical Service at the institution. He also headed the Boston Blood Bank at one time.

He served on the Board of Health in Boxford for many years, was a founder and director of the Essex County Green Belt Association, an organization for the conservation of wild lands in northern regions of Greater Boston. He also was a member of the Ipswich River Council and the Parker River Watershed associated with the same conservation theme.

Dr. Maddock leaves a wife, Dr. Charlotte L. Maddock, of the Jimmy Fund Cancer Research Foundation; a son, Stephen, Jr., of Raleigh, North Carolina, and a daughter, Mrs. Judith Hudson of East Lansing, Michigan.

Memorial services were held at 2 P.M. at the First Congregational Church in Boxford.

JUMPING VILLAGE

The Welsh village of Nantymoel hasn't gotten around to erecting a statue of its favorite son, Lynn Davies, winner of the Olympic broad jump, but it has done the next best thing. Painted on Nantymoel's main street are two white lines placed exactly 26 feet 5½ inches apart—the span of Davies' winning jump. All the village children—and even some grownups—are having a go at the record, and leaping figures have become commonplace.

POLICE

EXTRAORDINARY STEP-RATE ADVANCE UNDER COMPENSATION PLAN FOR EMPLOYEES OF CITY OF BOSTON

POLICE DEPARTMENT

December 21, 1966.

DUNCAN T. FOLEY,
Supervisor of Personnel.

DEAR MR. FOLEY:

On December 21, 1966, I have appointed Joseph B. Conlon as a clerk and typist in this department from an eligible Civil Service list as a result of an open competitive examination.

Mr. Conlon was employed as a clerk and typist in the Veterans' Administration from April, 1946, to April, 1951. He also was employed as a clerk and typist in the Watertown Arsenal from April, 1953, to August, 1955.

In view of Mr. Conlon's previous service with the Federal Government and his outstanding qualifications for this position, it is requested that his ½-year, 1½-year, 2½-year, and 3½-year increments be determined under the provisions of Rule 9 (F) of the Current Compensation Plan, to be effective December 28, 1966.

Very truly yours,

EDMUND L. McNAMARA,
Police Commissioner.

New Vehicle Rules

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin announced that all applicants for motor vehicle driving licenses or motorcycle licenses must have attained the age of 17 years unless they have been certified as having successfully completed an approved driver education course in which case they must be at least 16½. This does not alter the age for applying for a Learner's Permit—which is 16.

Learners' Permits issued after July 2, 1966, will be validated for one year from the date of issue if present holders apply for such validation and only three road tests may be taken within that period. When a 16½-year-old applicant appears for a driving examination, he must show his driver education certificate to the examiner in order to be tested.

New regulations also govern the operation of motorcycles. On and after June 1, 1967, all original licenses to operate motor vehicles and all renewals will be INVALID for the operation of motorcycles unless the licensee has been licensed by the Registrar to operate motorcycles as provided by law and these rules and regulations. Persons who on June 1, 1967, hold licenses granted by the Registrar endorsed "valid for motorcycles only" or "valid for motorcycles also" will have such licenses renewed in the ordinary course except that the renewal license will be distinctive in color.

Special provisions have been made so that motor vehicle operators now holding a valid motor vehicle license may apply from now through May 31 to have their present license endorsed as "valid for motorcycles also" without payment of additional fees and without further written or road test IF they qualify in any one of the three following ways:

1. If the licensee was the registered owner of a motorcycle during the 12 months immediately preceding the date of application for endorsement and if the Registrar determines that he has had adequate experience in the operation of a motorcycle.

2. If on January 3, 1967, the licensee was and is at the time of application employed in any occupation in which the operation of a motorcycle is involved if the Registrar determines that he has had adequate experience in the operation thereof provided that the employer's certificate is filled out by the applicant's employer.

3. Any other licensee who supplies information in writing which the Registrar requires to determine whether the applicant has had adequate experience in the operation of motorcycles.

Applications for the motorcycle endorsement may be made at any Registry office.

On and after June 1, applicants for licenses to operate motorcycles will be subject to the payment of fees provided by law for the written test and the road test and will be required to take a road test on a two-wheeled vehicle.

The gigantic increase in the use of motorcycles and the mushrooming number of accidents involving motorcycles triggered the Registrar's program for motorcycle operators to test their knowledge of the rules of the road and their ability to safely operate a motorcycle. The rules and regulations were filed with the Secretary of State after a public hearing on December 22.

Massachusetts becomes the 11th state to require a separate licensing procedure for motorcycle operation, a recommendation recently issued under the Federal Highway Safety Act of 1966.

CITY OF BOSTON

Proceedings of City Council

Monday, December 19, 1966.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., Senior Member Craven in the chair. Absent, Councillor Langone.

The Right Reverend Christopher P. Griffin, chaplain of the City Council, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY THE RIGHT REVEREND CHRISTOPHER P. GRIFFIN

Almighty God, may our life and our labors always be in accord with Thy holy will and well pleasing to Thee. Grant that through each day of our service here in this chamber, that we may have a vivid sense of Thy divine counsel and guidance, inspiring our minds with understanding and our hearts with peace. Take our finite wisdom and frail human strength to fulfill the blessed purpose for which we gather here. We commend to Thee the needs, the longings of our citizens, for we know Thy concern for them is far greater than our own. Bless us and remain with us always.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

PURCHASE OF UNIFORMS FOR CERTAIN NURSES

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 19, 1966.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

G. L., c. 40, s. 6K, states that a city or town which accepts it "may appropriate money for the purchase of uniforms for public health nurses employed by its board of health." In order that the city's representative may confer in good faith on this matter, I recommend adoption of the order transmitted herewith for the acceptance of the statute cited.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

MINORITY REPORT OF COUNCILLOR PIEMONTE RE APPOINTMENT OF HOUSING INSPECTORS

Coun. PIEMONTE:

I offer a minority report.

As Chairman of the Committee on Public Services I initiated the action to refer the notice of appointments as housing and environmental sanitation inspector to the Public Service Committee as each notice was read into the Council meeting. I realize that there is nothing we can do as members of the Council or as a body towards accepting or rejecting the individual appointments.

It was and is my hope, however, that by doing this we might excite enough interest in the appointing authority which might result in a review of the qualifications for this position and the method of appointments. This concern has been affirmed by the recent Massachusetts Supreme Court decision in the Malden case in which the Supreme Court defined the authority of an inspector to enter a dwelling for the purpose of making an inspection. In substance the Supreme Court has placed in the person of the housing and sanitation inspector more power than the police have in the matter of entering homes.

Hearings were held by the committee at which the individuals appointed as provisional housing and sanitation inspectors were invited to appear. Each was asked basic questions. It is obvious that much needs to be done in the matter of review of qualifications and method of appointment. More than half of the inspectors serving the past two years were provisional or temporary appointees. A Civil Service exam was held in September. Of the 65 who took the exam only 11 passed. Only 9 of the 44 temporary or provisional employees passed the Civil Service exam for that position.

As long as I am a member of the City Council, I will continue to request that these notices of appointment of temporary and provisional housing and sanitation inspectors be referred to an appropriate committee in the hope that some time during this period the appointing authority will divest himself of "acting under allegiance to the administration" and act as if it were the last act he was called upon to perform on this earth.

GABRIEL F. PIEMONTE,

Member of Committee on Public Services.

Placed on file.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON URBAN RENEWAL

Coun. IANNELLA, for the Committee on Urban Renewal, submitted the following:

1. Report on resolution (referred April 11) authorizing application for Neighborhood Facilities Grant—recommending no further action is necessary.
2. Report on resolution (referred April 11) authorizing application for Neighborhood Facilities Grant—recommending no further action is necessary.
3. Report on order (referred May 2) re Code Enforcement Grant S. 117—recommending no further action is necessary.
4. Report on order (referred May 2) re summons issued for Edward J. Logue to appear before Committee on Urban Renewal—recommending no further action is necessary.
5. Report on communication from Boston Redevelopment Authority (referred June 13) re certain information on land in Brighton-Allston for West End Boys' Club—recommending no further action is necessary.

The reports were severally accepted.

MINORITY REPORT OF COUNCILLOR FOLEY RE NEIGHBORHOOD FACILI- TIES GRANTS

The letter from the Development Administrator dated October 28, 1966, is a characteristic and typical example of Logue claptrap and double talk. From the very beginning it was plain that the purpose of the Neighborhood Facilities Act was to provide multi-service centers to support the War on Poverty.

He, of course, tried to divert this program intended by the Congress and the federal administrators to aid the poor, to the support of his bloated and grandiose urban renewal program.

The letter would indicate that it has only recently become the policy of the federal administrators to direct the funds available under the Neighborhood Facilities Act to social purposes. This is a lie. The local public agency letter, which was read extensively at the hearings upon this matter, indicated plainly that it was always their intent to so direct the funds available.

At the time of the hearing in the Council, the Park Commissioner and his staff were present. It was obvious that they knew nothing of the subject, and it is further obvious that they knew nothing of the subject because of Logue's deliberate policy to keep all but himself and a handful around him in the dark. The Washington Park Project about which we hear so much was an elaborate and expensive effort which resulted in massive displacement of poor people and the creation of a middle-class enclave in Roxbury which thereafter voted 2 to 1 to keep poor people out who needed public housing.

To add to this silly arrangement, a gymnasium to be built with funds intended to service the people Logue had chased away would, indeed, be to compound the felony.

This is a three quarter of a million dollar blunder on Logue's part. It is that and nothing more, and I challenge the editorial writer of any Boston newspaper to say otherwise. If any member of this Body made an error a tenth the magnitude of this one, he would not only be defeated for reelection, he would be tarred and feathered and run out of Boston on a rail. Unhappily, this is only one more episode in the long-continued Collins and Logue policy of robbing the poor to support urban renewal.

WILLIAM J. FOLEY, JR.,

Member of the Committee on Urban Renewal.

DEATH OF JOHN I. FITZGERALD

Coun. KERRIGAN, for all the Councillors, offered the following:

Whereas, The Boston City Council has learned with deep sorrow of the death of John I. Fitzgerald, a former councillor of our beloved city; and

Whereas, John I. 1967 NATIONAL CONVENTION OF AMERICAN LEGION TO BE HELD IN BOSTON IN AUGUST

Boston was further established as one of the major convention cities of the nation with the recent announcement that the seven-day national convention of the American Legion definitely will be held here in August.

The announcement by Edward J. Norcott, Legion department commander for Massachusetts, and Ernest Henderson, president of the Convention Corporation for Massachusetts, ended months of uncertainty over accommodations and transportation.

It is estimated that up to $20 million will be spent in the Greater Boston area by the more than 25,000 legionnaires and their families who will attend the convention in War Memorial Auditorium.

A special committee, along with National Commander John Davis, has been deliberating for weeks on whether Boston could furnish 5,000 first-class accommodations for the anticipated influx of conventioners.

That was the amount promised when Boston made its bid for the convention. And it was one of the factors considered when the Hub was selected as the convention site almost a year ago.

A major hitch over the number and quality of the accommodations threatened to force the Legion to move to another city.

However, Henderson, Robert Brush, executive vice-president of the convention corporation, and the convention housing chairman, George Stitt, conferred with hotel owners to provide more rooms for delegates and their wives.

Among other things, arrangements were made to house some of the visiting legionnaires in the motor hotels and inns on the Route 128 perimeter.

And it is understood that Mayor Collins reached agreements with MBTA officials for quick transportation from those places to convention headquarters in Boston.

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce lauded the decision of American Legion Commander John Davis in finalizing plans for the National Convention to be held in Boston.

Chamber President Frank S. Christian stated, "The business community is proud to have Boston chosen to host this great convention which will meet August 25 to 31, 1967."

"We are also pleased that our Convention and Visitors Bureau played such an important role in coordinating the schedule which will insure availability of ample rooms to accommodate the expected registration of 25,000 legionnaires and their families."

Christian continued, "It is gratifying to note the Legion's appeal to their membership for law and order. Admittedly, fun-making is a traditional part of most conventions. The Legion officials, in their good judgment have placed emphasis on a working conclave with a wholesome family atmosphere."

Dr. Sackett Heads Hub Hospital-Health

Dr. Andrew P. Sackett, 49, former assistant U. S. surgeon general, was sworn in on January 11 in Mayor Collins' office as the first permanent commissioner of Boston's Health and Hospitals Department at $35,000 a year.

Mayor Collins hailed the appointment as a step toward making the merged Health and Hospitals Department one of the most efficient public health agencies in America.

Dr. Sackett for the next few weeks will be assisted by Donald M. DeHart, Gillette Company executive, who has served as $1-a-year executive officer in charge of City Hospital and other institutions for the hospital board of trustees.

Sackett's new duties will include supervision of City Hospital, Long Island Hospital, the Mattapan Sanatorium; the old Health Department operations and health clinics throughout the city.

He received his master's degree in Public Health from the University of London, School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine. He is a native of the State of Washington. After graduating from Washington State College, Dr. Sackett was awarded his M.D. degree at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Sackett and Mrs. Sackett, a former nurse in Salt Lake City, are parents of three daughters, Polly, 21, attending Antioch College; Clarice, 17, Christine, 14, and a son, Jody, age 9.

BCH Studies Lead to $225,000 Research Grant

A research program involving the application of new procedures of organ culture to the study of infectious agents which produce disease in man is being undertaken by the Department of Tropical Public Health of the Harvard School of Public Health under a grant of $225,323 from the John A. Hartford Foundation, Inc., of New York. The program will extend over a three-year period starting at once and ending December 31, 1969.

The study will utilize new methods of organ culture developed in the Sears Surgical Research Laboratory of the Harvard Medical School's Department of Surgery at the Boston City Hospital under the direction of Dr. M. Judah Folkman, Instructor in Surgery.

Dr. Thomas E. Frothingham, Associate Professor of Tropical Public Health at the Harvard School of Public Health, will direct the research program.

Dr. Folkman, in March, 1966, disclosed the development of an isolated organ perfusion system which permits him to study the growth rates and rate of spread (metastasis) of malignant human and animal tumors. The process permits the maintenance of organs or large pieces of tissue for long periods of time within plastic or glass containers wherein an oxygenated medium is circulated via perfusion pumps. The method has not been used in the study of infectious diseases.

Dr. Frothingham is currently familiarizing himself with the techniques of the organ culture procedure developed by Dr. Folkman at the Boston City Hospital with the goal of utilizing the method to study known agents as well as to isolate unknown agents that cause disease in man. Among the diseases to be studied, but in no sense limited to them, will be infectious mononucleosis and infectious hepatitis, malaria, schistosomiasis and trichinosis.

Until the development by Dr. Folkman at the Boston City Hospital, Dr. Frothingham pointed out, "attempts to maintain large pieces of tissue by vascular perfusion have required cumbersome equipment, and the problem of constant oxygenation and buffering of the perfusate has not been resolved in a practical manner."

R. E. Bradley Retires

Robert E. Bradley, Deputy Superintendent of Records and Communications of the Boston Police Department retired after 26 years with the department.

Mr. Bradley, who lives at 5 Rosemont street, Dorchester, joined the force in 1940. A year later he was called to active duty with the Army Air Force.

He is the brother of William Bradley, Deputy Superintendent in Charge of Administration for the department.

Prior to his assignment at Headquarters he was commander of the Charlestown district.

Sherry Biltmore Sale

The eight-story Sherry Biltmore Hotel, on Massachusetts avenue, has been purchased by Bryant & Stratton business school for something in excess of $1,260,000. This was the sum of two mortgages held by its former owners, Lester Feinberg, Joseph Sarotta, and Julius Goldstein.

The hotel, which is largely residential, will remain in operation until June 30.

Various shops and a cocktail lounge in the hotel will continue to function beyond that date.

Llewelyn White, owner and president of Bryant & Stratton foresees ultimate conversion of the hotel to house 500 men and women on different floors. The dormitory will pay property taxes.

His school now enrolls 1,150 students in three basic courses, secretarial, business administration, and data processing.

There are no dormitories now and 85 percent of the students live at home.

Some 265 of the hotel's 315 rooms are actually apartments with stoves and refrigerators. Two or three floors to year-round residents may remain undisturbed, White said, until the school can fill all the floors with students. That may be a few years hence.

NOT OLD ENOUGH

When R. Buckminster Fuller developed the radomes for the Distant Early Warning radar line, he was forced, because of arctic storms, to design a structure that could be erected in less than 20 hours with untrained Eskimos providing most of the labor. The challenge was successfully met and the radomes across the northern rim of our continent were assembled in an average time of 14 hours.

When the Museum of Modern Art held a one-man Fuller show, one of the radomes was displayed in the museum's garden. Because of the labor problems involved, it cost thousands of dollars and took over 30 days to erect the structure in New York City.

Mayor Urges Easing of Boston's Share of Costly Five-Year Commuter Subsidy Financial Burden

Mayor John F. Collins sent the following letter to Judge Charles C. Cabot, chairman of the Board of Directors of the MBTA and to other members of the MBTA Advisory Board, outlining the position of the City of Boston with regard to the legislative program filed by the Authority to continue subsidy payments for Boston & Maine and New Haven Railroad commuter service until 1972.

He said he was releasing the text of this letter in order to express publicly his concern that the Authority legislation would require the City of Boston to pay the major share of the cost of railroad subsidies for such an extended period of time.

He said he intends to study closely a detailed report from the Authority which would support the necessity for continuing this most expensive program for another five-year period and he intends to seek a frank discussion and evaluation of the Authority program at the next meeting of the Advisory Board to the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority.

The Mayor said he wished to emphasize that the City of Boston will support and encourage retention of essential commuter railroad service for a reasonable period of time. However, he said he must also strongly emphasize that the vast bulk of the funds to support this continued railroad service must come from the state government and the suburban municipalities directly receiving such railroad service.

"It is beyond the financial capability of the City of Boston to continue to bear such a large share of the burden for the existing limited railroad commuter service in view of the many other more important demands upon the city's limited financial resources.

"Last month I filed legislation which would reduce the current unfair heavy assessment for railroad service upon the City of Boston for consideration in the 1967 session of the Legislature.

"It is the position of the City of Boston that this type of legislation must be enacted prior to legislative consideration of extending the current subsidy program.

"The current law provides that Boston must pay over 56 percent of the local share of commuter railroad subsidies. The legislation filed by the City of Boston would reduce Boston's share of the local cost of the subsidy to a sum approximating 15 percent of the cost."

His letter follows:

DEAR JUDGE CABOT:

My financial advisors have informed me that your Authority has filed legislation which would empower the MBTA Board of Directors to expend $20,000,000 in order to continue the current commuter railroad subsidy program for the time period May 1, 1967, to January 1, 1972.

I have noticed that the Authority General Manager has ordered a 5 percent fare increase for the Boston & Maine Railroad and the New Haven Railroad and has ordered a reduction in service for some New Haven Railroad services.

However, in spite of these fare increases and service changes, the MBTA legislation calls for funds that would mean a 4 percent higher subsidy on a monthly basis than is currently being received by the two railroads providing commuter service for approximately 15,000 average daily inbound passengers.

I must again raise the question, as I did to you in my letter of April 29, 1966, why the MBTA must subsidize New Haven Railroad commuter trains carrying approximately 2,500 daily inbound passengers when the operation of these trains is required by state and federal law.

Thomas P. O'Connor

A Requiem Mass for Thomas P. O'Connor of 215 N street, South Boston, a lawyer associated with the City of Boston Assessing Department for 30 years, was offered in St. Brigid's Church, South Boston.

He formerly served as counsel for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and was a veteran of World War I in which he served overseas in the 301st Infantry Division.

He was a member of the Boston and Massachusetts Bar Associations, the Michael J. Perkins Post 65 A. L., the South Boston Council, K. of C., the Charitable Irish Society, and the Boston Harbor Yacht Club.

He leaves a son, Thomas P., Jr., of Boston; three daughters, Mrs. Margaret M. Day of Milton, Miss Virginia O'Connor of South Boston, and Mrs. Marylou Lambe of Bergenfield, New Jersey; another brother, Daniel F. of New York; and a sister, Mrs. Ella E. Cavanaugh of South Boston.

Dudley Heads New Facilities Commission

The Public Facilities Commission ended a four-month talent search for a director as it announced the appointment of Malcolm E. Dudley of Marshfield, a civil engineer.

Public Facilities Commission Chairman William A. Fisher said Dudley will begin work in the $25,000 a year post this month. Other Public Facilities Commission members are Superintendent of Schools William H. Ohrenberger and Arthur G. Coffey, Director of Administrative Services.

The Public Facilities Commission will be responsible for construction of all public buildings in the City of Boston, including schools, fire stations, libraries, etc. Its com-

Subsidy . . .

Secondly, why does the MBTA legislation apparently imply a request for funds to continue the West Roxbury-Needham commuter line when the Authority Development Program, approved by the Advisory Board last September, calls for termination of service on this line later this year so that construction may begin on the Forest Hills-West Roxbury rapid transit extension project. This line currently carries 1,500 inbound passengers daily.

I am sure that you and your fellow Board members realize that the public subsidy cost for railroad commuter service is exceedingly high on a per passenger basis, particularly when contrasted with the comparable cost of transporting a passenger on the Authority's own express rapid transit services. The subsidy cost of a railroad ride was 52 cents per trip, while the cost of an MBTA express transit trip was only 4 cents per trip for the most recent fiscal period.

The City of Boston reluctantly accepts the necessity of providing a 4-cent per trip subsidy for the 215,000 daily inbound MBTA express transit riders but Boston cannot accept the need for a 52-cent per trip subsidy for the 15,000 daily inbound commuter railroad riders when Boston is required to pay over 56 percent of the commuter railroad subsidy bill paid by local communities.

When the City of Boston originally supported the temporary railroad subsidy provision of the legislation creating the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, it was clearly recognized that such support was for a specified time period in view of the fact that railroad commuter service, as currently operated, is a most inefficient and costly means of transporting a limited and decreasing number of riders.

Ten years ago, the two subsidized railroads carried 50,000 inbound passengers to Boston daily. Today this number has decreased to 15,000 inbound passengers. Under the MBTA program of fare increases and service reduction this number will further decline in the next five years.

As far as the City of Boston is concerned, it would appear that the benefits of continued commuter railroad service have reached the point where additional significant city assistance has become no longer reasonable.

I am cognizant that elimination of the remaining commuter railroad service will result in some increased peak hour automobile demand for highway and parking space in downtown Boston. However, the City of Boston and the other municipalities within the metropolitan area can shortly expect that new transit services, particularly the South Shore transit line scheduled to open next year, will relieve the pressure of this added demand.

The City of Boston's current financial position simply will not allow Boston taxpayers and rent-payers to continue to pay the major share of continued commuter railroad subsidies for the next four and one-half years. If the program of continued railroad subsidy at the service levels proposed by your Authority is to be maintained until 1972, such service must be financed by the state government and the suburban municipalities receiving the direct benefits of railroad passenger service.

The City of Boston bears the financial burden of a disproportionate share of the welfare costs of the metropolitan area and the state, the city harbors the bulk of tax-exempt facilities for government and educational services available to the metropolitan area, the city must solve most serious financial problems in order to further improve its public school system, the city must provide a high level of public services to its residents and business establishments, and the city must expend a large share of its financial resources to upgrade its older neighborhoods. In the face of these other more essential demands upon the city's limited money resources, I am sure you can understand my position that the city does not anticipate devoting any further significant sums for railroad commuter subsidies for the next five years.

It is my understanding that your Authority has promised a fully detailed staff report outlining the MBTA program for continued railroad subsidy to the Advisory Board to the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority within a few days.

I look forward to reviewing this report and you may rest assured that both I and my colleagues on the Advisory Board will carefully consider all aspects of the proposed MBTA railroad subsidy program.

Very truly yours,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

WELFARE COSTS FOR SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER

Following is a summary of the Welfare Department:

Due to the advent of Medicaid (MA), the statistics for September and October are issued jointly. This affords an opportunity to examine the shifting pattern of caseload and payments inherent in the new plan. Vendor Medical payments in the past were allocated to the categories in which they occurred. With the exception of General Relief all such payments are now grouped under the MA category. Under the more liberal MA plan, former MAA clients who are not eligible for a money payment have been transferred to this new Medicaid.

Total expenditures for these two months are as follows: September, $5,867,272; October, $5,397,348.

Vendor payments for the two months came to $4,373,477, with Vendor Medical payments under MA accounting for 92.3 percent of this total.

During the two-month period 2,641 applications were approved, 2,332 cases were closed and 443 applications were rejected or withdrawn.

Fire Commissioner William J. Fitzgerald ordered all district fire chiefs to institute nightly patrols of streets in their districts for parked vehicles that may interfere with the passage of fire apparatus or the operations of the Fire Department.

When vehicles are found to be parked in such a manner, the Police Department will be requested to assist by immediate towing of these vehicles, he stated.

"Any delay in apparatus arriving at a fire can lead to loss of life or serious fire extension. In the interests of public safety, vehicles so parked that they could occasion such a delay, cannot and will not be tolerated." Commissioner Fitzgerald said.

"It is my earnest wish that all drivers will recognize the seriousness of the situation and will not endanger life or property by improperly parking their vehicles," he added.

He expressed regret that there will be necessity to tow vehicles but the safety to life and property of the general public must be respected and given first consideration.

missioners were appointed last October and immediately began a search for a director to head its building program.

Dudley, 42, was most recently employed as Project Manager for the Boston engineering firm of Ganteaume & McMullen, Inc. His responsibilities in the concern included construction of multimillion dollar automated production plants at Detroit, Michigan, and Middleboro, Massachusetts.

Prior to that his experience with other engineering firms included work on two major airports in Iran—supervision of some 60 architects, engineers, designers, and draftsmen on a number of projects in New England—and resident manager in charge of more than 6 million dollars worth of construction at Dow Air Force Base in Bangor, Maine.

GRANDSTAND MANAGER

A baseball manager who had an ulcer was in his physician's office for a check-up. "Remember," the doctor said, "don't get excited, don't get mad, and forget about baseball when you're off the field." Then he added, "By the way, how come you let the pitcher bat yesterday with the tying run on second and two out in the ninth?"

Two Years Too Short To Measure Results Of Anti-Poverty War

(Following is an address made by Executive Director George Bennett of Action for Boston Community Development before the Seventh Annual Combined Boards Seminar of the Women's Division, Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Boston on January 24):

The War Against Poverty as defined in the Economic Opportunity Act (of 1964) has been significantly changed in 1966 by action of the 89th Congress. Originally strong support was provided for neighborhood determination with strong emphasis on self-help projects. The 89th Congress has shifted to specific opportunity programs, causing a marked decrease in neighborhood participation and local incentive. A number of reasons are being cited:

1. Riots in the cities;
2. Political concern over the emergence of a new leadership;
3. Poor programs;
4. Reaction against the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO);
5. The Vietnam War;
6. The "black power" concept, and
7. Political competition.

What has happened to change the poverty war emphasis? On what terms will the struggle be waged?

Some American cities point with pride to projects of considerable significance. Detroit, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, and New Haven among others have shown an unusual ability to design significant programs, with strong components in manpower, education and training, Head Start and health services. These projects are carried out with considerable local community involvement and there is a large degree of self-determination. Meanwhile other cities have had their crises with problems arising in administration and program. If the over-all measure is involvement of inner-city residents in planning and program, we can point to considerable success in many Community Action Programs (CAPs) across the country.

Our Money's Worth

Have we gotten our money's worth? Indeed we have. Major resources for program delivery have been developed by the inner-city. We know precisely how communities can mount productive efforts against poverty. Considerable expertise has been developed. We know we must meld national programs with local programs, using a mixture of professionals and subprofessionals.

We now have the capacity to mount a unified attack against inner-city poverty.

Jacob's Pillow Salute on Winterfest Stage

Jacques d'Amboise, a principal dancer with the New York City ballet since 1953, will head the cast of dancers in Winterfest's "Salute to Jacob's Pillow" at the War Memorial Auditorium on Wednesday, February 22, at 8.30 P.M.

The performance will honor Jacob's Pillow, an outstanding educational institution and dance theater located in Lee, Mass.

Two ethnic dancers, Alonzo Rivera of Mexico and The Great Bhaskar of India, and members of the Boston Ballet Company and the Cambridge Ballet Theatre, many of whom have performed at the Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival, will also take part in the tribute to the dance school and theater which was founded in 1942.

Highly acclaimed for his portrayal of "Apollo," d'Amboise danced the leading male role in "Stars and Stripes" at the official opening of the New York State Theatre at the Lincoln Center. He has starred on the Bell Telephone Hour many times, was featured in the Broadway musical "Shinbone Alley," and appeared in several films including "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," "Carousel," and "The Best Things in Life Are Free." He is also a guest teacher at the School of American Ballet.

Comedian Bill Cosby Here for Winterfest

Comedian Bill Cosby, star of NBC's "I Spy" television series will make his first appearance in Boston during Winterfest, February 19-26, Eli Goldston, chairman, Boston Gas Company, and general chairman of the eight-day civic-cultural festival, has announced.

He will present a show at the War Memorial Auditorium on Friday, February 24, at 8.30 P.M., on behalf of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., Summer Camp Program.

Phi Sigma Delta fraternity of Boston University is coordinating Cosby's appearance in Boston. Each year Muscular Dystrophy Associations, Inc., through its local chapters, sponsors a summer camp program that provides a counsellor for each child attending the MDAA's summer camp. "This unique program prompted us to bring to Boston a popular attraction which could help raise the necessary funds for continuing and expanding this worthwhile project," said Robert Griggs of Princeton, New Jersey, president of Phi Sigma Delta.

Along with the summer camp program, MDAA's chapters provide two clinics in Boston—University Hospital and Boston Floating Hospital—purchase needed medical appliances, such as wheelchairs, lifts, and braces for free utilization by muscular dystrophy patients, as well as physical therapy, and a worldwide research program.

Tickets for the Bill Cosby show are priced at $5.50, $4.50, and $3.50 and may be purchased by sending a check and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., 29 Commonwealth avenue, Boston. Telephone number: 742-4410.

Winterfest Week in Boston is scheduled from February 19-26 at the War Memorial Auditorium and other locations throughout the city. NOT IN THE BOOKS

A young married man had read all the psychoanalytic and religious self-help books on how to adjust to life, marriage, and to other difficulties. His young wife, who had tried to live up to the precepts in all these books, one day rebelled. "Now that we've found real happiness," she said, "couldn't we have some fun, too?"

She leaves a son, Lieutenant Detective Edward F. Sherry of the Boston police homicide squad, and a daughter, Miss Mary E. Sherry of Brighton.

Burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

Anti-Poverty War . . .

At the outset, OEO's emphasis was so strong on inner-city determination that community organization became the goal rather than the vehicle to develop local programs. The creation of representative boards and local action groups became the OEO objective, often at the expense of program development. In fairness to OEO, it was logical to put emphasis on community participation. For who can argue but that neighborhood involvement coupled with good programs provides the maximum result?

As the OEO program unfolded, it was logical that the inner-city take the opportunity to articulate its needs. In fact, OEO encouraged it. Perhaps there was surprise at the outpouring of demand, for there was not nearly enough resource to begin to meet the expressed needs. Since choices had to be made between programs within neighborhoods and between neighborhoods, local CAP agencies took the responsibility to establish priorities. There was no other way to tailor proposals to the dollar guidelines from OEO, and CAP agencies have been tortured by such choices. But they have done the job.

Two Years Too Short

When a country makes a commitment to fight a war, there is little chance that a short-run effort will determine the outcome. Two years is too short a time and we need to reexamine the decision to deemphasize "maximum feasible participation," rededicating ourselves to our original goals. The Vietnam war will be concluded satisfactorily some day and the cities must be ready to mount a gigantic effort against blight, despair, and alienation.

The amended Economic Opportunity Act has specifically allocated money to programs for children's services, Neighborhood Youth Corps, legal services, subprofessional training and health services. The appropriation for fiscal year 1967 encourages multiservice operations with emphasis on research, planning, manpower, and training. Limited resources are available for program administration and neighborhood action functions, provided that flexible use of resources and staff can be arranged.

The process in 1967 of program development is more sophisticated than in the past, but the sad fact is that we do not know whether we are strengthening local determination or nailing the lid on community action. The difference in emphasis between 1964 and 1967 is fundamental — the crux is the degree of community involvement in planning and delivery of neighborhood programs. Congress has limited the funds for community action by earmarking money to specific programs.

Inevitable Disillusionment

The Boston effort is now being designed to strengthen local action by establishing new services and by weaving opportunity services into the neighborhood councils. At best there will be neighborhood service under severe money limitations. Nevertheless, Boston is working with what funds are available, preparing for the time that enough resources become available to sponsor local programs that meet all the community needs.

The change in Congressional emphasis must not dilute or end self-determination and self-motivation. We cannot settle for programs filtered down to the local level.

When the Economic Opportunity Act became operational, it was heroically stated by well-meaning people that we were about to eradicate poverty in the United States. When, two years later, there is more disagreement than agreement on what the anti-poverty war has accomplished, there is inevitable disillusionment.

How does Vietnam affect the War on Poverty? The United States is committed to a solution that meets the free world's needs and a disservice is being done to our national and international commitment by pushing the poverty struggle at the expense of the Vietnam War. There are some who feel that this correlation has grievously damaged our anti-poverty effort.

The unfortunate riots in Watts, Hough and Atlanta have compounded the plight of the anti-poverty programs. In addition, the concept of "black power" as interpreted by an extreme group, small yet vocal, has had a negative effect on Congress as it considered refunding of community action programs.

Positive Partnership

It is also true that there have not been enough solid community successes to counterbalance the adverse pressures. Under all the circumstances, many people are convinced that community action is approaching the shoals of dismemberment.

CAP agencies are now demonstrating how neighborhoods and the community perform in a positive partnership. OEO has been and still is the sponsor of community action, and we desperately need government resources to finance community-based programs. Not only must there be meaningful local coordination, there must also be a national coordination of resources and programs.

The Boston CAP agency has developed a concept of service that emphasizes technical assistance in education, training, youth services, manpower, health, legal programs and economic development. In Boston, neighborhood programs are delivered by Area Planning and Action Councils (APACs), local corporations composed of elected boards of directors that hire the staff. APACs vary their local programs to meet local needs. One APAC operates manpower services, tutoring, health services, and Head Start. Another APAC operates Head Start, manpower, day care services, and social services. All APACs have community organization functions, emphasizing delivery of services.

Community action is becoming a viable instrument. We now see a fabric of service and program coupled with negotiation at all levels of inner-city life. Community action becomes individual opportunity for all those residents who choose to become involved. It is clear from past experience that meaningful programs do lead to positive response in the inner-city.

Mediation Service

Boston's CAP agency is about to introduce a neighborhood mediation service to provide orderly processing of local grievances. We intend to use neighborhood-based staff, from the local areas whenever possible, to serve as intermediaries and conciliators between grievants and the party being charged. This process will certainly minimize misunderstanding and avoid unnecessary frustration. Neighborhood action will become meaningful neighborhood negotiation. As the neighborhoods participate in concerted programs to introduce and improve educational services, housing, manpower, training, and health services, the War Against Poverty will be won.

Locally trained mediators will proffer services to the disputants, moving back and forth between the parties to develop settlements. Mediation provides an orderly method of disposing of neighborhood issues, with issues being handled quickly and quietly. The institutions being questioned must be willing to meet the mediator to talk about the grievance, and, further, they must be prepared to handle legitimate issues. As mediation builds a settlement process into the inner-city, people will become more skilled in handling their own problems.

Mediators who are locally based and easily available to local residents will clear up problems that in the past either remained unsettled, causing frustration and hopelessness, or erupted into demonstrations and demands for action. Confrontations and public disputes may be with us but at least they will be preceded by a local peace-making effort.

We must support community involvement and the process of participant decision-making. It may be too late. Too late for now, perhaps, but we must come this way again. If we can see community action programs for what they are, we will rally to support them. After all, what happens to our brothers happens to us.

Skating with Music on Old Swan Pond

A traditional return to a winter carnival atmosphere on the natural ice of the Public Garden's picturesque Swan Pond has been announced by Boston Mayor John F. Collins.

Park Commissioner John J. Tierney, Jr., has revealed that department veteran, Walter Novak, a former Laconia skating champion, will act as both instructor and supervisor at the Swan Pond's skating project. Novak, an all-around athlete, who won the Silver Skates Tourney in the Boston Garden in 1938, and has competed in such athletic events as the B.A.A. Marathon, is remembered as chief carpenter at the annual Christmas Festival on Boston Common.

At the urging of Mayor Collins, Commissioner Tierney employed the facilities of his division to construct a small attractive greenhouse, near the pond, containing benches, where skaters can comfortably sit and don their skates. A sound system, mounted high in a neighboring tree, as well as an outdoor heater, have been installed for the entertainment and comfort of the skaters. Popular and classical platter arrangements are attended by a full-time staff member, utilizing the most modern stereo equipment installed in a section of the women's convenience station.

Weather and ice permitting, music is played for the skaters from 3.30 to 9.30 daily, with an hour out for supper at 6 P.M.

School Committeeman Joe Lee, who has been conferring with Commissioner Tierney regarding the revised skating facility, quotes one elderly Back Bay lady as stating: "That little house is as nice as can be. When I was a little girl, they had a house just like that here."

Lee told Commissioner Tierney that on the several occasions when the weather has been conducive to good ice, since shortly after Christmas, he has observed over 100 people skating on the pond.

In daily reports to Commissioner Tierney, Rink Supervisor Novak has confirmed these facts and has estimated that with a goodly stretch of frigid weather, skating groups will build up to between: "two and three hundred skating folk."

Commissioner Tierney revealed that "Mayor Collins has advised me to use every facility at the Park Department's disposal to contribute to the comfort and pleasure of Swan Pond skaters in the winter weeks ahead."

WELFARE COSTS FOR NOVEMBER

Following is a summary of the Welfare Department for November:

A November budget of $6,141,130 was a 13.8 percent gain of $743,782 above last month. Largest increases occurred in the Medicaid and Aid to Families with Dependent Children Programs, up $309,886 (17.4 percent) and $370,986 (18.2 percent) respectively. The 36,327 caseload was 126 more than last month and 1,897 higher than November, 1965.

During the month 1,375 applications were approved, 202 rejected or withdrawn, and 1,249 cases were closed. Loss of employment due to illness or discharge was the leading reason for seeking assistance. More than 25.0 percent of Old Age Assistance cases, 35.3 percent of Aid to Families with Dependent Children cases, 58.9 percent of Disability Assistance cases, and 72.9 percent of General Relief cases were approved for this reason. Of the 480 Old Age Assistance, Medicaid and Disability Assistance closings, 190 (39.6 percent) were due to death, 28.2 percent of Aid to Families with Dependent Children cases which were closed had found reemployment.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

January 13.

General Order No. 2

I. CHIEF OF DEPARTMENT JAMES J. FLANAGAN

It is with deep regret that the Fire Commissioner announces the death, on January 7, 1967, of Chief of Department James J. Flanagan. Chief Flanagan was appointed to the department on December 23, 1929. He was promoted to the grade of fire lieutenant on October 16, 1940; to fire captain on October 6, 1945; to district fire chief on September 6, 1950; to deputy fire chief on January 11, 1956, and to chief of department on November 1, 1966.

The funeral was held from the Thomas F. Brady Funeral Home, 10 Tower street, Forest Hills, at 9 A.M., Wednesday, January 11, 1967, followed by a Solemn Requiem High Mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross on Washington street, Boston, at 10 A.M.

Hundreds of officers and members of the Fire Department who were off duty, attended the funeral services together with many members of Fire Departments from other cities and towns; also present were many clergy and officials of the city, state, and federal governments.

The funeral was an accolade by the public to the Chief of the Boston Fire Department, and the respect paid by our fire fighters gives thankful pride to my heart.

Personnel Order No. 1173

Patrolmen Salvatore S. D'Allessandro, Walter J. O'Rourke, and Clifford R. Stronach, District 7, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty displayed by these officers, who, by their alert and decisive police action, without regard for their own personal safety, brought about the arrest of two armed felons, who were in the act of robbing a drugstore and confining a terror-stricken customer therein.

January 17.

Personnel Order No. 1174

Sergt. Sulwynne W. Felton and Patrolman Harold J. Linehan, District 10, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted one day additional vacation.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty displayed by these officers, who, by their alertness and keen power of observation, brought about the arrest of two dangerous and vicious felons wanted for armed robbery and kidnapping, both of whom were on parole at the time of the arrest. Due to their alertness this arrest was made even though several hours had elapsed between the time of the crimes in another district and the time of the apprehension.

January 17.

Personnel Order No. 1175

Sergeant Detective Richard F. Crowley, Detective First Grade Elmer V. H. Brooks, and Detective Third Grade George E. Timmons, Criminal Investigation Division, detailed to District 2 are hereby commended for excellent police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 10.15 A.M., Thursday, March 24, 1966, Detective Brooks and Timmons received information of an armed robbery at 333 Washington street, city, the Harry Cortell Jewelry Company, Inc., located on the third floor and they immediately proceeded to the scene. Upon arrival they learned the owners had left with Sergeant Detective Crowley for Police Headquarters to view photographs. The five employees were interrogated and during the questioning the owners returned and descriptions of the men involved were obtained.

During the questioning, a man by the name of "Richard Clutch" was mentioned as having visited this location many times during the previous five weeks to purchase a diamond ring, the said purchase being made five days prior to the robbery.

Many photographs were brought to the jewelry store to be viewed by employees and, subsequently, positive identification was made of a picture of one Charles S. Lombardi, 35 years, of 32 Hancock street, Boston, and one Erwin Soroko, 34 years, of 56 Russell street, Brookline, known to them as "Richard Clutch," as the two men who had committed the robbery. On March 30, Lombardi was arrested in a hotel in the Back Bay, booked at District 2 and taken to court where he was held in $50,000 bail. On April 1, Erwin Soroko appeared in District 2 with his attorney, refused to answer any questions and because of insufficient evidence at the time, he was not held. On May 9, evidence was presented to the Suffolk County Grand Jury and the following day, Soroko was arrested.

On December 12, 1966, Lombardi and Soroko went on trial before Judge Felix Forte, and were found guilty. Lombardi was sent to the Massachusetts Correctional Institution for five to fifteen years on a charge of armed robbery with a sentence of three to five years imposed, concurrent, on seven counts of assault by means of a dangerous weapon with intent to rob. Soroko was given a ten-to twenty-year sentence in the same institution for armed robbery while masked and seven counts of assault by means of a dangerous weapon with intent to rob.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the dedicated duty demonstrated by the above-mentioned officers in this case, who, by their untiring investigative work, brought about a solution of this robbery and thereby halted the further activities of these dangerous felons.

January 19.

Personnel Order No. 1176

The resignation of School Traffic Supervisor Charlotte DeFranca, District 3, having been presented, it is hereby accepted, effective Tuesday, January 17, 1967, at 7.45 o'clock A.M.

January 20.

Personnel Order No. 1177

Patrolmen James H. O'Brien and Francis T. Todd, Criminal Investigation Division, Juvenile Aid Unit, detailed to District 10, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty displayed by these officers, who, although not making the physical arrest of two dangerous felons who had committed a wanton and vicious killing of an aged clergyman, by their remarkable memory, sense of deduction of the modus operandi of former crimes and their dedication to responsibility of combating crime, caused the apprehension and prosecution of these criminals.

January 20.

Personnel Order No. 1178

Patrolmen John F. Dwyer and Clifford R. Stonach, District 7, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty displayed by these officers, who, with utter disregard for their own personal safety, entered a burning dwelling and an apartment filled with dense smoke, to bring about the rescue of a husband and wife and ten children. As a result of their efforts both officers were overcome by smoke inhalation and exhaustion and were removed to the Boston City Hospital for treatment.

Conservatory Chorus Booked for Winterfest

The New England Conservatory Chorus, recently returned from a five-week State Department sponsored concert tour of the Soviet Union, will open the Winterfest Week in Boston festivities on Sunday, February 19, at 8.30 P.M., at Jordan Hall, Eli Goldston, chairman, Boston Gas Company, and general chairman of the eight-day civic-cultural event, has announced.

The chorus, under the direction of Lorna Cooke deVaron of Cambridge, will present excerpts from its Russian concert tour which was arranged under the auspices of the Cultural Exchange Program of the United States Government and the Union of the Soviet Socialist Republics.

"The Winterfest concert will have a distinct international flavor with music spanning five centuries, including French, Italian, German, Russian, and American compositions," said Mrs. deVaron, who was the first U. S. woman conductor to visit Russia in a professional capacity. "We will start with 16th Century French motets and close with Ravel and Copland," Mrs. deVaron added.

The 51 chorus members and 15 instrumentalists who made the Russian trip will perform the Winterfest concert. Soloists will be announced at a later date.

During the Russian tour, Sovetskaya Kultura (Soviet Culture), official newspaper of the Soviet Ministry of Culture, said of the New England Conservatory Chorus: "One is impressed by the naturalness of singing, impeccability of ensemble and uniformity of timbre." Mrs. deVaron was also praised. "The choir bears the indelible imprint of its gifted conductor," said Sovetskaya Kultura.

The official Soviet news agency, Tass, said following the chorus' first concert in Moscow: "The American choir made a good impression. The superb culture of sound, exquisite sense of style, and the emotion of the performance enchanted the audience."

The New England Conservatory Chorus, since its inception in 1947, has been directed by Mrs. deVaron. Under her leadership, the chorus has developed and evolved into one of the principal performing organizations in the Boston area. The chorus has been privileged to perform under such eminent guest conductors as Charles Munch, Robert Shaw, G. Wallace Woodworth, Erich Leinsdorf, Guido Cantelli, Nadia Boulanger, Ernest Ansermet, and Leonard Bernstein, as well as under the baton of noted composers Aaron Copland, Randall Thompson, and Fritz Buchtger.

Prior to the concert, Richard Eberhart, Winterfest's commissioned poet and the 1966 Pulitzer Prize winner in poetry, will read his specially commissioned Winterfest poem, one of four commissioned works slated for Winterfest. The others are in music and the graphic arts.

The Conservatory Chorus is the first major performance of Winterfest Week in Boston, which is scheduled from February 19-26 at the War Memorial Auditorium and other points throughout the city. Other major attractions include the Boston Pops and Symphony Orchestras, a folk festival, ballet, and modern dance program, Gilbert and Sullivan Showcase starring Martyn Green, New Orleans jazz, and comedian Bill Cosby in a benefit performance for Muscular Dystrophy.

The Winterfest program also includes a number of performances by professional and amateur drama and music groups; special children's programs; a film festival; a series of seminars on timely topics; and more than 100 exhibits and "live" demonstrations at the Auditorium, starting February 22.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the award of contracts, without public advertising, based on the following communications:

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT
Purchasing Division
FIRE APPARATUS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Invitation to bid on proposals for furnishing fire apparatus—ladder trucks to the Fire Department, was advertised in the City Record. Subsequently, bids received were publicly opened and read in this office on November 7, 1966.

All bids received are being rejected inasmuch as they were unresponsive in varying degrees.

Permission is therefore requested to dispense with further advertising and award a contract, without public advertisement, to American LaFrance on the basis of prices submitted by this company at the public opening. Tabulation of bids is attached. It is my opinion that the best interests of the city will be served by awarding the contract in the manner requested.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $107,200, net.

Respectfully yours,
MICHAEL A. DESIMONE,
Purchasing Agent.

In addition to contract equipment used within the various districts of the city to supplement the department forces and equipment in connection with the work of keeping highways and streets open following snowstorms, the department also has a need for graders and spreader trucks to be used on routes that pass through two or more districts. CITY OF BOSTON.

Proceedings of City Council.

Wednesday, December 28, 1966.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., President LANGONE in the chair, and all the members present.

The Right Reverend Christopher P. Griffin, chaplain of the City Council, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY THE RIGHT REVEREND CHRISTOPHER P. GRIFFIN

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

Almighty God, having endowed us with a capacity to serve, to achieve, to accomplish what is good for our city, we here and now seek Thy grace in the fulfillment of our high vocation. As councillors of Boston grant that the president and members of this Body may merit Thy divine favor and be held in honor by their fellow citizens. We beseech Thee to bless them with the wisdom and the guidance of Thy spirit as they seek in this chamber to lift and lessen the burdens which weigh so heavily on some members of the human family. Where there is darkness and gloom, may they be messengers of light. Where there is fear and frustration may they be ambassadors of courage. Where there is cynicism and despair, may they be heralds of a better and brighter day.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON URBAN RENEWAL

Coun. IANNELLA, for the Committee on Urban Renewal, submitted the following:

1. Report on message of the Mayor and resolution (referred October 13, 1965) amending land acquisition loan, Castle Square area—recommending no further action is necessary. The report was accepted.

On motion of Councillor Iannella, the report was accepted.

MINORITY REPORT OF COUNCILLOR WILLIAM J. FOLEY, JR., RE RESOLUTION APPROVING FILING OF PLAN AND APPLICATION APPROVING EARLY LAND ACQUISITION AND DISPOSITION OF CAMPUS HIGH SCHOOL URBAN RENEWAL PROJECT

The proposal to locate the so-called campus-type high school in the Madison Park area is both economically disastrous and educationally disastrous and indefensible on either score.

ECONOMICS

On the third day of the stenographic record of the Madison Park campus high school hearings, page 495,

"Councillor HINES. Excuse me, I only have ten minutes and I do wish your answers would be more brief.

"Criticism is coming that a large part of it is not going to industrial use. Are you of that opinion yourself?

"Mr. LOGUE. I am of the opinion, unfortunately, and regretfully with present practices the City of Boston will not have adequate land for industrial growth without far more family displacement than we would ever want to recommend, and very quickly, this is one story maximum flexible construction, minimum site use with columns, 50 percent expansion room if the firm prospers, and maximum flexibility. We don't have that kind of land."

It has been my position for some four years that the problem of economically rehabilitating the City of Boston is one which Edward J. Logue cannot solve within the time limit he has allotted himself, to achieve national glory. He, therefore, excuses himself from the battle.

I should invite to the attention of the Body the fact that a man who could say on November 23, 1966, that we don't have "that kind of land" has obviously short-changed the City of Boston for a long time.

1. This is the man who, in Charlestown, recommended the wiping out of two lumber yards standing upon 55 acres of land, one of which was the only importer of mahogany on the eastern coast of the United States, for the purposes of providing a location for apartment house construction which, on the BRA's own figures, would be well above that which the 500 displaced families could pay for housing. The site was on the periphery of the Charlestown area, an eminently industrial site; nevertheless, the going businesses were destroyed, jobs eliminated for the purpose of constructing apartments which the Charlestown people affected cannot afford.

2. This is the Edward J. Logue who recommended the conversion of the so-called "State Prison Site" to a college campus. The language, "State Prison Site," is deliberately deceptive to disguise the fact that the campus would be composed of 50 acres, only 8 of which would come from the old State Prison Site. The remaining 42 acres, commercial and industrial land, much of which is already developed, which would stand near or upon the extension of Route 93 to Boston, an extensive railroad yard, and if that were not enough to make it a promising industrial and commercial site, there also will run past the area rapid high speed mass transportation. This site, nevertheless, is to be converted to a college campus. The college will be faced with the choice of constructing approximately $8,000,000 worth of garages or the allocation of 35 acres to student parking out of 50.

3. This is the Edward J. Logue who recommended the conversion of 104 acres upon the waterfront serviced by both rail, and by the central arterial highway constructed at the cost of great pain and anguish to the people of the City of Boston to luxury apartment housing. Into this area, when and if development is completed, will move 6,000 people who must be serviced. The city will extract from these 104 acres about $1,500,000 more than was extracted before. Simple long division will indicate that it costs the city over a million dollars to service 6,000 people. The year this foolish recommendation was made, the city budget jumped $20,000,000.

4. This is the Edward J. Logue who taking a 28-acre site in the South End on the Turnpike, two blocks from the Expressway, decreed that 15 acres of the site should go for FHA financed housing; that 5 acres of the site should be developed to housing for the elderly, overlooking the Turnpike extension; that a substantial expansion of the parking lot of the Holy Trinity Church should be accomplished because, of course, the parishioners of the Holy Trinity Church now live in Belmont, Weston, Arlington, and other suburban communities and must have a place to park their cars. All this despite the fact that the developer who wanted to develop the 28 acres had demonstrated his ability to develop the 24-acre New York Streets site, and that the development of the entire area would have been much easier than the New York Streets development because of factors intervening in time. Nevertheless, this was the decision for Castle square.

Now we are asked to take a point in the city where the Southwest Expressway and the Inner Belt cross and to convert it into a high school campus.

In the course of the hearings, I pressed Mr. Logue to tell us why this should be the site. He said that it would be a good thing for suburbanites coming to work in Boston to see a large campus high school as they go by. Men have been committed for less than that.

The point in Boston where the Southeast Expressway and the Inner Belt cross is potentially a most valuable site because the Southwest Expressway is the road to New York or will be the road to New York, and New York and Philadelphia are where people live in the United States. Route 95 north and Route 93 north are fine roads but in each case they run to a state, the population of which is not as great as that of the City of Boston. Route 95 south will be a main artery of commerce and the area in the immediate vicinity of it should not be squandered in this fashion. We have to earn a living in Boston and we will have to earn a living after Logue goes, or after he is driven out, the latter now seeming to be more likely.

This is an ideal commercial-industrial location. It is almost criminal to squander it in this way after the errors of the past, including, of course, the brutal blunder committed by the BRA driving the produce men to Chelsea and Everett, but perhaps in spite of the fact that the economics of the question seem so clear-cut, we should sacrifice economics for education, which leads me to the second major point.

EDUCATION

The proposal is educationally disastrous as well.

Before I state my reasons why I so believe, I want to state that it is wrong that this Body should have to make decisions in the field of education. The fact that such a duty devolves upon it is not the fault of the elected School Committee of the City of Boston. It is, to a considerable extent, the fault of the liberal establishment here in the Commonwealth which has now become the largest and most vocal of our many mutual admiration societies.

The United States Office of Education has recently prepared a study on the subject of equality of education in the United States, and some excerpts from that study are pertinent at this point. This is one by James Coleman, sociologist at John Hopkins University, in collaboration with Ernest Q. Campbell of Vanderbilt University, and Carl J. Hobson, James McPartland, Alexander M. Mood, Frederic D. Weinfeld, and Robert L. York, all of the United States Office of Education.

HOW IMPORTANT IS INTEGRATION?

From a recent report by the U.S. Office of Education prepared by Mr. Coleman, a sociologist at John Hopkins University, in collaboration with Ernest Q. Campbell of Vanderbilt University and Carl J. Hobson, James McPartland, Alexander M. Mood, Frederic D. Weinfeld and Robert L. York, all of the U.S. Office of Education:

James Coleman,
et al

"What factors in the school seem to be most important in affecting achievement?..."

"Variations in the facilities and curriculums of the schools account for relatively little variation in pupil achievement insofar as this is measured by standard tests. But it is for majority whites that the variations make the least difference; for minorities, they make somewhat more difference. Among the facilities that show some relationship to achievement are several for which minority pupils' schools are less well equipped relative to whites. For example, the existence of science laboratories showed a small but consistent relationship to achievement, and... minorities, especially Negroes, are in schools with fewer of these laboratories.

"The quality of teachers shows a stronger relationship to pupil achievement. Furthermore, it is progressively greater at higher grades, indicating a cumulative impact of the qualities of teachers in a school on the pupil's achievements. Again, teacher quality seems more important to minority achievement than to that of the majority...."

"Finally, it appears that a pupil's achievement is strongly related to the educational backgrounds and aspirations of the other students in the school. Only crude measures of these variables were used (principally the proportion of pupils with encyclopedias in the home and the proportion planning to go to college). Analysis indicates, however, that children from a given family background, when put in schools of different social composition, will achieve at quite different levels. This effect is again less for white pupils than for any minority group other than Orientals. Thus, if a white pupil from a home that is strongly and effectively supportive of education is put in a school where most pupils do not come from such homes, his achievement will be little different than if he were in a school composed of others like himself. But if a minority pupil from a home without much educational strength is put with schoolmates with strong educational backgrounds, his achievement is likely to increase.

"This general result... has important implications for equality of educational opportunity. For... the principal way in which the school environments of Negroes and whites differ is in the composition of their student bodies, and it turns out that the composition of the student bodies has a strong relationship to the achievement of Negro and other minority pupils." (Equality of Educational Opportunity)

Mr. President, there is a further article here upon the subject of some length which I should like to include. This is by a very well-known educational writer, one Christopher Jencks who is a Fellow at the Institute for Policy Studies in Washington and he reviews equality of educational opportunity for The New Republic:

WHAT DETERMINES STUDENT PERFORMANCE?

Mr. Jencks, a Fellow at the Institute for Policy Studies in Washington, D. C., reviews Equality of Educational Opportunity for The New Republic:

Christopher Jencks

"Equality of Educational Opportunity is not light reading. Prepared as a U.S. Office of Education report to Congress, it is written in the workmanlike prose of an Agriculture Department bulletin on fertilizer. Well over half its 737 pages are filled with tables, charts and questionnaires, most of which will be virtually incomprehensible to those who are not trained in statistics...."

"Despite its defects as literature, the report is the most important piece of educational research in recent years. To begin with, its scale is unprecedented. The study surveyed more than half a million students and 60,000 teachers in 4,000 schools, at a cost of $1.5 million. The survey was nominally intended to document the extent and effects of racial segregation, North and South, but it actually did far more. It does not, after all, take $1.5 million to show that Americans of different colors usually attend different schools, and that those with darker skins usually have worse facilities, worse teachers, less varied programs and less stimulating classmates.

"The revolutionary thing about James Coleman's study is that it went beyond this well-known if depressing fact to ask what effect different school characteristics had on what individual students, white and black, actually learned. Shocking as it may seem, this question had never before been examined in a systematic way...."

"While the authors themselves make no policy recommendations, their diagnosis of what makes students learn is at odds with almost everything legislators, school board members, and school administrators have believed in recent decades. Not only that, but it is at odds with what most contemporary curriculum reformers believe. If the report's analysis is correct, then most of the money now being spent to improve the public schools is going down the drain.

New buildings?

"The report begins by describing some of the differences between schools attended by Negroes and whites. Schools attended by Negroes generally have inferior facilities and programs, but the differences are not very large. Indeed, Negroes are in some respects better off than the average white. In the South, for example, the average Negro attends school in a newer building than the average white, reflecting the fact that most Southern school boards built 'modern' facilities for whites before World War II, while they did not build them for Negroes until more recently. In the urban North, on the other hand, Negro school buildings are older than white ones."

Other factors such as libraries, textbooks, class size, etc., also vary between Negro and white schools. "Overall, however, the striking fact about school facilities for Negroes and whites is how alike they are. The gap between Negro and white schools is significantly less than the gap between rural and urban schools or the gap between Southern and Northern schools.

"When one turns from facilities to staff, much the same picture emerges. Teachers of Negroes are on the whole inferior to the teachers of whites, but the differences are generally small and far from uniform...."

"In addition to facilities, programs and staffs, the survey collected information on students themselves. Some of the findings are startling. Desire?

"To begin with, the dropout rate among 16- and 17-year-olds, while higher among Negroes as a group than among whites, is not higher among many particular kinds of Negroes. In the rural South, for example, Negro men are more likely to be in school at 16 and 17 than white ones. Perhaps this reflects the fact that most of these rural Negroes want to move to a city, preferably in the North, and want a diploma to help them find work. The whites, on the other hand, usually plan to stay in the rural South, and do not need a diploma to take over the family farm or store. In the urban South, Negro girls stay in school slightly longer than whites, perhaps because they expect to go on working after marriage and therefore care more about having a diploma. Similarly, in the nation as a whole among families whose head has less than eight years of education and earns less than $3,000, Negro children are more likely than whites to stay in school. . . . The problem . . . is not lack of motivation but lack of performance. . . .

"What does all this mean? . . .

"The authors' first conclusion was that despite the rather small external differences between Negro and white schools, Negroes were learning substantially less than whites. About a sixth of the Negro first graders score above the national average on tests of verbal ability. The same is true of Negro high school seniors. The picture is not substantially different when one examines nonverbal ability, reading, mathematics, or general information. Twelve years of schooling, in other words, does nothing to narrow the initial gap between Negroes and whites. In the South, schooling actually seems to widen the gap slightly. Kenneth Clark's research suggests that the gap also widens in Harlem, but this is evidently not typical for Northern whites. This same pattern evidently continues in college. . . .

Verbal ability?

"The authors' second conclusion was that of all the tests they administered, the best measure of school effectiveness was the verbal ability test. . . . The authors then set out to isolate the characteristics of both individuals and their schools which influenced verbal scores. This is by no means easy. We know that verbal ability usually develops in small increments over long periods of time. Verbal scores are therefore influenced not just by the school a student is attending when he takes a test, but all the other schools he has ever attended. It is extremely difficult to get accurate retrospective information about these schools. Since the authors could not spend twelve years following various sorts of students through school, observing all the salient features of each institution, they had to assume that a student who was in a particular kind of school at the time of the survey had probably spent most of his academic life in similar schools. While there is a good deal of empirical evidence to support this general assumption, there are plenty of exceptions. Each exception reduces the relationship between a student's current attainment and the characteristics of his current school. . . . Family background, for example, seems to exert more independent influence on verbal ability than the schools do. . . .

"Over-all, the report makes a convincing though not definitive case for the view that student achievement depends largely on forces over which today's schools exercise little control. Whether they could exercise more influence if they were organized and run differently remains an open question.

"To the extent that schools do influence what a student learns, their facilities and programs are evidently the least important factors in the equation. If the quality of teachers and students is held constant, luxurious physical plant contributes nothing to the development of verbal skills, and an inadequate plant does nothing to inhibit them. Nor does it matter whether the textbooks are old or new, whether there is a library or a librarian, whether the classes are large or small, or whether the school groups children in separate tracks or not.

Good teachers or good students?

"Good teachers seem to contribute somewhat more than bad ones to their students' verbal ability, but it is hard to tell how much. Partly this is because able teachers are usually found in the same schools with able students, so that it is hard to separate the influence of teachers from that of classmates. Partly it is because the statistical analysis in the report is poorly explained and seems at times contradictory. One thing is clear, however, namely that good teachers are much more important to Negroes than to whites.

"However much difference teachers may make, the student culture evidently makes more. Again, the difference is far greater for Negroes than whites. Negroes do much better if they have middle-class schoolmates, while whites do little worse when they have lower-class ones. Those of our forefathers who pushed for the common primary school, and later for the comprehensive high school, were evidently on the right track. Such a melting pot seems to help the disadvantaged without appreciably hurting the advantaged.

THE PERSISTENCE OF INEQUALITY

"The finding that able teachers and able classmates matter more for Negroes than for whites raises a basic question.

"It is hard to believe that this is really a racial difference, and tempting to assume that it is an economic one. Unfortunately, the report provides no separate tabulations for middle-class Negroes or for lower-class whites, so the question cannot be answered directly. Indirect evidence does, however, suggest that it is the poor in general, rather than Negroes in particular, who respond strongly to good and bad schools. . . .

"Integrating poor Negroes with poor whites, in other words, probably does no good. Integrating poor Negroes with middle-class Negroes might do as much good as integrating them with middle-class whites, but as a practical matter there aren't enough middle-class Negroes to go around. One reason for this is that 10 percent of all white-collar Negroes send their children to private schools, an incredible finding which deserves study. For the foreseeable future class integration will be impossible without racial integration as well. . . .

"Taking the report as a whole, three tentative conclusions seem warranted:

"First, America's present school system is doing nothing to narrow the gap in achievement between Negroes and whites. If the gap is narrowing at all and that is certainly debatable, the credit must go to forces outside the school system.

"Second, pouring more money into Negro schools will probably accomplish little or nothing. While the report does not prove that as yet untried improvements in school facilities and programs e.g., computers would have no significant effect on learning, it does provide a good deal of indirect evidence that this kind of innovation has made very little difference in the past.

"Third, closing the gap between whites and Negroes would require radical changes in the present system of matching teachers with students, and students with one another. Barring truly open housing, mixing classes, as well as races, equality of opportunity would require abandoning the neighborhood school. Not only that, it would require mixing students from the inner city with those from the suburbs, perhaps in educational parks. But neither parents nor educators will believe the report's finding that white, middle-class children do as well in heavily integrated schools as elsewhere. The necessary changes will therefore be strongly opposed by both suburban and small town educators, and by white parents. They will only be possible if the Federal government ignores those people's protests and intervenes directly in an area traditionally reserved to local government. Such intervention is unlikely."

("Education: The Racial Gap." The New Republic, Oct. 1, 1966.)

I invite your attention further to the article in the New Republic of December 17, 1966, in which a strong case is made for the proposition that integrated housing in northern cities is an unrealizable goal. Two brief extracts:

What Would Integration Require?

In view of these trends, the task of maintaining racial balance in the city seems insuperable; to offset them, huge numbers of families would have to be shuffled about by desegregation programs. This point was spelled out last spring by George Schermer at a "national housing workshop," sponsored by the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing. Schermer estimated the numbers of people who would have to be moved each year in order to insure a 50-50 population balance in Washington, D.C. in the year 2000. Assuming that migration trends and birthrates remain constant, 12,000 nonwhite families would have to be dispersed to suburban areas and 4,000 white families induced to return to the District every year until 2000.

Even if whites could be induced back to the city and Negroes accommodated in the suburbs, residential integration would not result. For within the central city itself, residential concentration by color is on the upswing. In 1910, for example, 60 percent of New York City's Negroes lived in assembly districts which were less than five percent Negro; by 1960, 62 percent were in districts over half Negro. In Southern cities, which traditionally have tended toward more dispersed patterns of settlement (with Negro servants and artisans living near those they serve), ghettos are being formed by the concentration of growing Negro populations.

Again, assuming that present trends persist, Schermer estimates that to achieve integration neighborhood-by-neighborhood in Philadelphia by the end of the century, 6,000 Negro families would have to go to the suburbs and 3,000 whites settle exclusively in ghetto areas each year. The numbers, of course, would be infinitely greater in cities like New York and Chicago, which have much larger aggregations of Negroes.

I invite also most respectfully attention of the Body to the November 17, 1966, issue of "The Reporter," describing angry parents of I. S. 201, which was the school at Harlem about which there was so much difficulty this year. A brief quote from Page 33:

In a statement, Donovan outlined the "unsurpassed educational features" I. S. 201 would offer: a chance for all pupils to study a foreign language, a musical instrument, and typing; a maximum class size of twenty-four pupils as compared to an average of thirty or more in junior high schools; an after-school program of courses in Negro and Puerto Rican history and culture. Only three of the fifty-five teachers (twenty-six Negro, the rest white) would be teaching for the first time—an unusual situation in Harlem, where many complain that the schools have a high percentage of inexperienced teachers. And "For closer parent and citizen involvement in the school program, the school has a full-time community relations specialist."

"A commitment was made in 1954 by the Board of Education in New York, Public education in a racially homogeneous setting is socially unrealistic and blocks the attainment of the goals of democratic education, whether this occurs by law or by fact. It is now the clearly reiterated policy program of the Board of Education—to devise and put into operation a plan which will prevent a further development of such schools and to integrate the existing ones as quickly as practicable."

Thereafter, the I. S. 201 was constructed and it was found impossible to integrate the school, a school building in the middle of Harlem.

I suggest from all this that residential integration may well be an unattainable goal, and I suggest that educational integration is a goal which must be attained, but that the experience in the northern cities indicates that it will not be attained within narrow geographical boundaries. Only some sort of metropolitan dispersion of students not to lace stocking communities but to working class communities is obviously the only direction in which to go.

Returning to the subject at hand, in the face of this massive evidence to build this campus-type high school in the middle of the Negro area in Boston is educationally disastrous and all the attempts by Logue and others to obscure this fact at the hearings failed.

The Sargent report upon which all this is based states that the new campus-type high school should be built upon the tradition and the student body of the present English High School.

Presently English High School is in a white area and it is 24 percent Negro. The new school will be in a Negro area and it will not have the student body of English High School because there will be a separate English High School. It must, therefore, surely have an enrollment of more than 24 percent Negro. To deny that would be to deny the sun rises in the east in the morning.

I find no magic in the figure of 51 percent, but to construct a gold-plated high school in the middle of a Negro area which you are quite certain will be no less than 24 percent Negro and in all probability be more than that, is faulty, it is wrong, and the City Council, having thrust upon it by the machination of Edward J. Logue and others, the responsibility of making important educational decisions, should have the courage to say it is wrong.

WHY

Why have matters come to such a pass? In 1948, George Orwell said that dictators had discovered the only way to keep people docile was to maintain a continual state of crisis. Our local would-be dictator has been intent for some years to raise his badly eroded power position by striking for the mayoralty of Boston. His power position was badly eroded by the dismissal of his Washington contact, Mr. Slayton, last spring, and by the death of the person upon whom his debatable connection with the Ford Foundation rested, his father-in-law, and by the disastrous election results of September 13, 1966.

He is more than willing to be the man on the white horse for the men of the vault, but in this case, he has no white horse, so he is mounting the horse of educational racism.

We can all be grateful that the people have caught up with him even if the men of the vault have not.

WILLIAM J. FOLEY, JR.,

MINORITY REPORT OF COUNCILLOR GABRIEL F. PIEMONTE RE CAMPUS HIGH SCHOOL URBAN RENEWAL PROJECT

The need of any additional educational facilities in Boston is an established fact. Many who have the power to do something about it continue to give lip service instead. As a result Boston finds its educational needs grow more and more with each year. In September of this year under newly enacted legislation a new Board known as the Public Facilities Commission came into being. It was created to do away with the "alleged snarl" that existed in connection with new school construction. The new Commission has now all of the authority necessary, including the funds—approximately 50 million dollars authorized loan issue—to acquire land and construct schools. No action is being taken by this Commission in the matter of the Campus High School. Instead we are asked to proceed through this urban renewal project. But what do the facts show?

Instead of adding to our educational facilities, this project diminishes our educational facilities. Included in the project area are two elementary schools, the William Bacon and Asa Gray which house some 600 students who were burnt out of more modern school buildings, the Everett School and the Hyde School. The hearings disclosed that no plans had as of that time been made to substitute other educational facilities for these two which being in the area are to be razed.

As to the Campus High School itself, the hearings disclosed that the urban renewal procedure rather than speed the construction of the facility would delay the same. The School Superintendent unequivocally states that he will not approve the plan from the school viewpoint, which approval is necessary, unless it includes a 15-acre site now used for industrial. The BRA administrator passes it off by a suggestion that if that much land were necessary it could be had later.

Where is this 15 acres to come from? Is it suggested that perhaps the portion now committed for housing be used?

The spirit of the letter of the law is that with each renewal project the needed housing units be increased in availability.

There is no evidence to indicate that Boston's need for low income or public housing has diminished. As a matter of fact the need will be made greater by this project.

No evidence has been given regarding relocation to indicate that this project will not be a repeat of past performances. Brochures are drawn, statistics are prepared, but the facts disprove the statistics. A factual account may be found in the report, "Logue's Record in Boston, An Analysis of His Renewal and Planning Activities," by Michael D. Appleby, a former Boston planner and a Ph.D. candidate in city planning at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and issued by the Council for New York Housing and Planning Policy, May, 1966.

Renewal for Boston has meant a net reduction in total housing supply and a serious decline in the number of low-rental units.

It appeared for a period that some progress was being made to correct the situation. A group of young planners organized as the Urban Planning Aid became involved with the people in the area. They attended hearings, offered suggestions, prepared papers. Their dedication translated into persistence accompanied by the sympathetic support of understanding people overcame Logue's initial open hostility to an attitude of tolerance. But that is all it amounts to for even as of this date no word has been issued from Logue of acceptance by him of the Memorandum of Understanding with the Lower Roxbury Community Committee and it has been definitely stated by him that in no event would any such memorandum contain the veto power. Without the veto power it is meaningless.

Commitments must be substituted for concern. In the absence of commitment and because of the facts stated above and as reported in the Appleby report which I incorporate by reference, I do not vote for this project.

The needs of educational facilities can best be served by proceeding under the authority of the newly formed Public Facilities Commission.

GABRIEL F. PIEMONTE.

MAYOR TRACES CITY'S GREAT STRIDES IN 7 YEARS OF URBAN RENEWAL

(Following is the address made by Mayor John F. Collins on January 27 before the Fifth Annual Plans for Progress National Conference at Washington. During a several-day stay in the National Capital the Boston Mayor participated in the activities of the Conference, the winter meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, a reception to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson. He talked at length with Sargent Shriver of Office of Economic Opportunity and with Vice-President Hubert Humphrey):

Seven years ago in Boston the private enterprise system was busily engaged in withdrawing from the ghetto areas of our city. Industry was moving to the suburbs. Mortgage lenders were refusing to make new loans or extend old ones.

Fire insurance companies were redlining large areas and canceling policies within them.

Blight was rampant. There is no other word for it. Retail enterprises were shutting down. City services were deteriorating. White families were fleeing to the suburbs.

Most important, despite Boston's proud history of civil rights leadership there was a minimum of personal contact between the Negro community and the white community. Virtually none between the Negro community and the business community. Whole vast areas of the economy did not have a single Negro worker. It might even be unfair to ascribe this situation to an exclusionary policy. I suspect it was more a matter of unconcern. Noninvolvement.

In 1967 the situation is vastly different. We have effectively launched the largest urban renewal program in the United States. In these seven years we have received almost $200,000,000 in federal urban renewal funds, more than any other city of any size in that period. To an extent that almost no other city can match we have invested our urban renewal moneys in the so-called ghetto.

Over half of this area of our city is within active approved urban renewal projects. The residents of the remainder have openly and repeatedly expressed their desire that urban renewal be brought to their areas. (We are unable to comply with their requests because the federal government does not have sufficient funds. It now has a backlog of funding requests in excess of $1.25 billion.)

Planning With Community

Our kind of urban renewal in Boston is people oriented. The projects are planned with the community not for it. The public hearings which are the climax of this process have customarily registered overwhelming support.

The projects emphasize rehabilitation, usually of 75 percent of the area. Neighborhood identity and institutions are thereby maintained.

Poet, Composer, Artist Aiding Winterfest

A poet, composer, and artist have been commissioned by Winterfest to create special works to be presented during the eight-day civic-cultural festival scheduled for Boston from February 19 to 26. Mayor John F. Collins heads the Winterfest Committee as honorary chairman with Eli Goldston, chairman, Boston Gas Company, as general chairman of the event.

They are Pulitzer Prize winner Richard G. Eberhart, Professor of English and poet-in-residence at Dartmouth College; composer Earl Robinson, who has written several film scores and the musical "Sandhog"; and George Lockwood, a lithographer who operates the Impressions Workshop, Inc., Boston.

Professor Eberhart was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for Poetry last year for his book "Richard Eberhart: Selected Poems 1930-1965." His Winterfest poem will be read opening day of Winterfest, Sunday, February 19, at the concert scheduled by the New England Conservatory Chorus at Jordan Hall at 8.30 P.M. Winner of several literary awards, Professor Eberhart is a reviewer for the New York Times Book Review. He was appointed by former President Eisenhower to the Advisory Committee on the Arts for the National Cultural Center in Washington in 1959 and served as con-

Modern Traffic Safety Record Established in Boston in '66; J-Walking Ban Successful

Boston has established an enviable record in drastically slashing traffic and pedestrian deaths in 1966, Traffic Commissioner Thomas F. Carty has reported to Mayor Collins.

A new, low record for both traffic and pedestrian fatalities for modern times was achieved this past year, according to Carty, who said that 50 persons lost their lives in auto mishaps and 32 pedestrians died on the streets.

These figures compared to 1965 statistics which saw 76 traffic deaths and 45 pedestrians lose their lives. The prior year, 1964, was a record high year in both categories as 77 lives were snuffed out in motor accidents and 56 pedestrians were killed.

The latter was the last year before the stringent pedestrian control law went into effect to curb J-walking on Boston streets, Carty said.

It was in 1964 that Boston held the dubious distinction of leading all major cities of the nation in both traffic and pedestrian fatalities on a per capita basis.

A continuation of the "life-saving" campaign to curb J-walking by strict enforcement of the law will further reduce the loss of life on Boston streets, Carty said.

"Each time a policeman reprimands someone for J-walking, or issues a ticket for this offense," the Commissioner concluded, "scores of pedestrians in the vicinity receive a valuable lesson in the pedestrian control law."

Five-Story Office Building for Old Patten Site

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has given approval to final preliminary architectural plans for a five-story building to be constructed on the site of the former Patten's Restaurant on Court street.

The site, a 15,000 square foot area, across from City Hall, will house the headquarters of the City Bank & Trust Company. The structure, designed by F. A. Stahl Associates, who designed the State Street Bank Building will cost $1.5 million.

Included on the first floor will be a drive-in bank and a banking headquarters for City Bank & Trust. The bank is scheduled to be displaced from its present quarters at Washington street, near Court street.

The BRA also approved final preliminary drawings for another five-story building to be built at Hawkins and New Chardon streets, near the Government Center. The structure will also cost about $1.5 million.

The building will house the offices of Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. Developers are Robert Grimes, former city assessor, and Timothy Murphy.

The Board also tentatively designated three South End church groups as nonprofit developers of roughly over 400 units of new housing to be constructed as part of the area's urban renewal plan.

The Grant A.M.E. Church will build a maximum of 175 units on Washington street, between Northampton and East Lenox streets.

Tremont Homes, Inc., affiliated with the Tremont Methodist Church, will build an estimated 60 to 110 dwelling units on Tremont street, at Concord square.

The Union Methodist Church anticipates constructing 125 to 150 dwelling units along Columbus avenue, between West Newton and Yarmouth streets.

William D. Donovan

Capt. William D. Donovan, 72, of 6 Sparhawk street, Brighton, retired Boston police division commander, died on January 16 at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

A native of Charlestown and lifelong resident of Boston, Captain Donovan was a member of the Police Force for more than 40 years.

He commanded the Brighton, Joy Street, East Boston, North End, and Charlestown stations and also served on the homicide squad, the special service squad, and in the Boston Bureau of Criminal Investigation. He retired in 1958.

He was a Navy veteran of World War I and a member of the Bunker Hill Council, Knights of Columbus, the Charlestown School Boys, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the American Legion.

Captain Donovan leaves two daughters, Mrs. Ann Coady of Watertown and Navy Lieut. Joan M. Donovan of Quonset Point, Rhode Island; a son, William D., Jr., of Framingham, and two grandchildren.

A Requiem Mass was sung on January 19 at St. Mary's Church, Charlestown. Burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

Urban Renewal . . .

The new housing is within the range of most families, with the aid of rent supplements for many. One thousand units are occupied or being occupied. Another 500 are under construction. One thousand more are in various advanced planning stages. Areas have been designated for 2,500 more units.

We are relying heavily on the 221 d 3 3 percent 40-year mortgage program and are providing through urban renewal write-down and other city aids, housing that is attractive, popular and a major stabilizing factor in once deteriorating communities. The housing for the most part is sponsored by churches and other groups in the area and this has had an important strengthening effect.

Investment Trend Reversed

There is not enough time to describe the program of physical renewal in detail.

With striking and imaginative help from our local savings banks we have reversed the investment trend. Almost $10 million has been or is being spent in rehabilitation. A major shopping center has opened in the area providing employment opportunities and competitive pricing. A new YMCA is in operation. A boys' club is under construction. A civic center soon will be. Streets are being redone. Lighting improved. Trees planted. Schools are to be built (we are behind here for complicated local reasons which we are trying to correct).

I would not have you think urban renewal is all a bed of roses. It is slower than we would like and cumbersome at best. Some hardship is inevitable and some bitterness, but we actively try to minimize that.

In the downtown areas, with the help of urban renewal we are rebuilding our economic base. In seven years over half a billion in new construction has been completed, or is under construction or is on the drawing boards. Another seven years will see us at least doubling that.

We are also improving our city services within the limits of severe fiscal problems and an outmoded civil service system. Through stringent economies we have restored the fiscal health of a city which seven years ago was headed for fiscal bankruptcy in the minds of our financial leaders.

Manpower Training

We have launched a major poverty program emphasizing community action and manpower training. We hope for much from it if we can obtain an adequate level of funds from OEO or other sources.

We have broken new ground in the appointment of Negroes to positions of high responsibility in the city service and in the renewal program. We expect to do more. Above all we have established and kept open lines of communication with all elements of leadership within the Negro community.

That does not mean we have solved the problem. But we are working on it and we are making progress.

Our business leadership has awakened to the necessity of reaching out to the Negro community, to suggest job opportunities and to establish lines of communication. There are quiet, but frequent meetings between Negro leaders and white business leaders going on all the time. Many of our leading employers have held carefully prepared recruiting sessions in Roxbury which have expanded job opportunities for that community. Many of our major employers now advertise job opportunities in our Negro community newspapers.

Our media of communication have Negro staffers. There is an ever-increasing dialogue between the leaders of the so-called ghetto and our suburban neighbors outside. Almost 300 Negro children from Roxbury are attending suburban schools. Modest-priced housing is being planned for the suburbs to help broaden housing opportunities. We are gradually coming to the view that the core city alone cannot solve the problem of the ghetto.

We are making progress in Boston, progress we can all be proud of. But more, much more must be done.

Business Must Help

Our business leadership in particular must give the matter of increasing job opportunities a much higher priority. We could well use a local merit employment council under imaginative, aggressive, highly placed leadership. If more of the people at the top would indicate a desire for results, the personnel people down the line would be able to do more. Our metropolitan area has a continuing shortage of skilled employees. The level of skill is constantly rising. Private enterprise must reach out and take more risks, engage in longer, costlier development and training programs.

There is no one panacea which will ease the racial crisis in our cities. However, more than anything else, the private enterprise can do the job.

Finally, I think we can all agree, our objective must be to include all members of the community in our free enterprise economy and equip them so they can take care of themselves. To the extent we fail to do that we may be sure we pay for it in many other ways.

I am personally hopeful that the Administration and the Congress will take steps this year, through revisions in the Internal Revenue Code, to encourage investment in so-called ghetto areas and to encourage companies to take on greatly expanded job training programs.

We have a chance in America to lick this problem, if we all pull together and if we recognize and act on the principle that private enterprise must be at least an equal partner of the public sector in such an effort.

Rail Crossing Perils

"The Registry has received alarmingly increased reports of complete disregard of the law requiring certain vehicles to halt before entering railroad grade crossings," Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin points out.

The Registrar stated that Massachusetts law requires all school buses or motor vehicles carrying explosives or inflammable liquid as cargo to come to a full stop before entering the grade crossing and to resume movement only after the driver has satisfied himself that it is safe to do so.

The law requires all vehicles of any type to reduce speed before proceeding through railroad grade crossings and to come to a full stop when red lights are flashing or a crossing gate is lowered.

The Registrar stated that he is conducting a special enforcement drive on the railroad grade crossing laws and that more than 25 serious violations have been booked in the past two days. "These violators," said the Registrar, "will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law including suspension or revocation of their licenses."

Dimes March Jan. 29

Here's a reminder that the 1967 March of Dimes Mothers' March Campaign begins Thursday and continues through Mothers' March Sunday, January 29.

When a volunteer visits your home on one of these days, won't you please give what you can to allow the National Foundation-March of Dimes to carry on its fight against birth defects, the nation's second greatest killer.

CONTRACT AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the award of contracts, without public advertising, based on the following communications:

MAYOR'S OFFICE EXPERT SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Your Honor's written authorization is requested to dispense with public advertising in the City Record in connection with the award of a contract to M. J. MacDonald Associates, Inc., covering the period January 1, 1967, to March 31, 1967, both dates inclusive, encompassing the performance of expert services on behalf of and to the great benefit of the City of Boston. This three months' contract is a renewal of the current contract with the aforesaid firm which will expire on December 31, 1966, and the new contract will contain an option in favor of the city, enabling the city to renew the prospective contract for the period April 1, 1967, to December 31, 1967.

As stated, prior to the inception of the current contract with the aforementioned firm, it appears most prudent that the City of Boston obtain every useful assistance that might be available from the federal government; and thus, I recommend that the more effective liaison M. J. MacDonald Associates, Inc., is establishing between our municipal government and regulatory agencies of the federal government be continued. The existence of over one hundred varieties of community assistance offered by the federal government, including programs involving complex and difficult formulae for aiding such municipal activities as health protection, hospital care, highways, assistance to the needy, public schools and many others make it vital that the City of Boston maintain its existing arrangements to exploit all such possibilities; and concurrently therewith, to expedite all matters which come before agencies of the federal government in which the City of Boston has a stake or can expect favorable action.

It is anticipated that the City of Boston in 1967 will file applications for federal assistance in several areas of importance to the City of Boston; namely, concentrated code enforcement, urban beautification, neighborhood facilities, open space, and demolition. Such programs will, if approved by the federal government, benefit the city directly by enabling the expenditure of many millions of dollars which would not otherwise become available for the betterment of services and facilities within the city. It is particularly important at this time that the city be adequately and constantly represented before all appropriate federal agencies.

In view of these circumstances that the firm of M. J. MacDonald Associates, Inc., is experienced in such matters as mentioned above and is now engaged in representing this municipality very successfully as well as other entities in a similar fashion, it is urged that the City of Boston enter into a new contract with the aforementioned firm for the period January 1, 1967, to March 31, 1967, including an option providing for its renewal on the same terms for the April to December period and covering the following objectives and services:

1. To assure full and efficient utilization of federal programs of benefit to the City of Boston;
2. To follow, report and advise with respect to federal legislation as it may affect Boston;
3. To provide representation relative to and to expedite favorable action with respect to, all matters under the supervision of federal agencies to the degree that such matters affect or are of direct concern to Boston; and
4. To promote business and economic expansion by expeditiously and efficiently providing pertinent information to this city with respect to economic programs advantageous to it.

The contractor will be paid at the current rate of $3,000 per month, the total three months' contract expenditure not to exceed $9,000.

In that the proposed contract is one constituting a particularly unique service and one that is so highly personalized, it is clearly not conducive to a public solicitation for bids; and thus, the requested permission to dispense with the same, since that procedure would not be of avail to the City of Boston.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN H. O'NEILL, JR.,
Administrative Assistant.

Action for Boston's Community Development Board Praises Mayor Collins for Appeal to President Johnson

The Action for Boston Community Development Board of Directors at its regular monthly meeting voted unanimously to commend Mayor John F. Collins for his recent appeal to President Johnson to take steps to prevent threatened severe slashes of community action poverty funds.

The letter, published in the January 14 issue of the City Record, was termed "an excellent exposition of the position of people of the poverty areas," by Mrs. Melnea Cass, a member of the board.

Under the date of January 17, Mayor Collins received the following letter from Director Sargent Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity:

OFFICE OF ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY
January 17, 1967.

HON. JOHN F. COLLINS,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MAYOR COLLINS:

The President asked me to thank you for your letter concerning the reductions in "war on poverty" programs. I certainly understand your feelings, and I can assure you that I am as keenly disappointed about this as you are.

In the time since the President signed the Office of Economic Opportunity appropriation and authorization bills, I have received from communities across the nation numerous expressions of serious concern about the impact of this recent legislative action on the "war on poverty."

If the President's bill had been passed, we would have been able to meet a reasonable part of the local needs and demands. All programs could have moved ahead in a coordinated attack on poverty. But now we are forced to greatly expand some programs and reduce others almost entirely. This reduction falls most heavily on locally initiated community action programs.

Again, I fully appreciate and share your concern regarding the present situation.

Sincerely,
SARGENT SHRIVER,
Director.

Ethnic Dancers Give Winterfest Show

The group will perform at the Auditorium on Friday, February 24, at 1 P.M.

Since its formation in 1961, Billie Pope and her Afro Dance Company have appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show, Carnegie Hall, and numerous supper clubs and theaters throughout the northeast.

sultant in poetry at the Library of Congress from 1959 to 1961.

Mr. Robinson has been commissioned to compose a concerto for five stringed banjo and orchestra. It will be premiered at the special Winterfest concert of the Boston Pops Orchestra, Monday, February 20, at Symphony Hall, at 8.30 P.M. The composition, the first concerto ever written for five stringed banjo and orchestra, will be performed by folk singer-banjoist Pete Seeger and the Boston Pops Orchestra, with Arthur Fiedler conducting. A vocal solo is incorporated into the concerto score for Seeger.

Winterfest and the Boston Public Library have commissioned Mr. Lockwood to do a stone lithograph print, which will have a limited printing. The 100 copies made of this print — a semi-symbolic tree done in a delicate, sensitive technique typical of the artist — will be on sale during Winterfest. Mr. Lockwood's Impressions Workshop is the only independent graphics shop in the area, and one of the two in the country. Others are connected with universities and private foundations. He has taught at Smith College, Amherst, University of Florida, the Worcester Museum School, the Massachusetts College of Art, and most recently, the Rhode Island School of Design. In Boston, he has had one-man shows at the Kanegis and Tragos galleries.

Also to be unveiled at Winterfest is an original wood block print ship between Boston and Kyoto, Sister City Committee to commemorate the "sister city" relationship between Boston and Kyoto, Japan. The print will be created by Miss Naoko Matsubara, a young Kyoto artist, who is now teaching in the United States at Pratt Institute, New York City. The Sister City Committee has commissioned the print in collaboration with the Boston Public Library and in consultation with the department of Asiatic Art of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Miss Matsubara, a Fulbright Scholar, who has been teaching "Hanga," wood block cutting, and printing at Pratt since 1965, will create a wood block print representative of the City of Boston. Fifty copies will be on sale at Winterfest.

Sinclair Hitchings, Curator of Prints at the Boston Public Library working with the Winterfest Committee on the commissioning of the Matsubara and Lockwood prints, said the purchase price of the prints will be $15.

"The Library is pleased to collaborate with Winterfest in the commissioning of these high caliber artists," said Mr. Hitchings. "We feel Winterfest is giving strong impetus to art by placing it within the range of many people, and not just a few," he added.

Mr. Hitchings also disclosed that 25 copies of an abstract color print, done by one of Japan's leading artists, Hodaka Yoshida of Tokyo, have been obtained and will also be offered for sale at Winterfest.

The eight-day cultural festival, fashioned after last year's successful Winterfest program which attracted a half-million people to the Auditorium, offers an exciting array of cultural, entertainment, and educational events, including amateur and professional performances in music, drama, and dance; 120,000 square feet of exhibits and "live" demonstrations, starting February 22 at the Auditorium; lectures, discussions, and seminars on timely topics; film festival; folkfest; special children's programs; and many other special events.

NO GAS STATION

Turkish President Cemal Gursel beamed with pride as he roared away from Ankara's parliament building in the first auto ever made in Turkey, with a chauffeur at the wheel. A scant 100 yards later, Gursel's smile froze as the engine coughed and died. "We made this car with the Western part of our minds," he berated the chauffeur, "but with the Oriental part we forgot to put gasoline in it."

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

January 20.

Personnel Order No. 1179

Patrolmen Arthur C. Cinelli and Michael R. DiFronzo, District 9, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted one day additional vacation.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty displayed by these officers, who, by their alertness, prompt response and inspection of the area in which a crime was committed resulted in the speedy arrest of three dangerous felons who were also wanted for other offenses.

Folk Singers To Entertain at Winterfest

Gospel songs, blue grass music, Scottish ballads, Puerto Rican folk songs, and out-and-out blues — these diverse categories of folk music will echo from the main auditorium of the War Memorial Auditorium on Saturday and Sunday, February 25 and 26, as Winterfest Week in Boston, February 19 to 26, winds up with four star-studded folk concerts.

A number of nationally prominent folk stars will participate in the Winterfest Folkfest. Children's matinees are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at 2.30 p.m., and the main concert Saturday at 8.30 p.m., and a matinee on Sunday for adults also at 2:30.

Heading the list of performers will be The Staple Singers, a Negro quartet composed of two young men and two young women, who are currently one of the country's leading gospel-singing groups.

Bill Monroe, the "father of bluegrass," and his Blue Grass Boys will represent classic country music. The term "blue grass music" originated with Monroe who, many years ago, called his band The Blue Grass Boys in honor of his home state, Kentucky. Two musicians well known in the Boston area—Pete Rowan, guitarist, and Richard Greene, fiddler—are members of Monroe's present group and will perform at Winterfest.

A young Negro baritone, Junior Wells, accompanied by his band, will sing the hard-driving, urban blues that have made him famous in Chicago and other parts of the country.

Norman Kennedy, a singer of Scottish ballads, and the Yomo Toro Group, an exciting Puerto Rican group quickly gaining popularity, also will perform at the Folkfest.

Earl Robinson, composer of "Ballad for Americans," "Sandhog," "The House I Live In," and "Hurry Sundown," will be present at the concert. His Concerto for a Five-Stringed Banjo and Orchestra, commissioned especially for Winterfest, will be performed by Pete Seeger and the Boston Pops Orchestra on Monday, February 20, at 8.30 p.m., at Symphony Hall.

The Sunday afternoon matinee for adults will feature Junior Wells, the Blue Grass Boys, the Yomo Toro Group, and others. One segment of the matinee—The Boston Folk Scene—will be devoted to local folk talent such as Eric von Schmidt, Leonda, Ray Pong, and The Villagers.

The Saturday children's matinee will be conducted by Bostonian, Tony Saletan, popular folk singer and musician, and the Sunday children's show will feature The Boston Trio, starring Tony Saletan, Irene Kossoy, and Happy Traum.

Winterfest Week in Boston is planned as a civic and cultural festival in the tradition of great festivals offering the widest possible range of cultural, entertainment, and educational attractions; the Winterfest '67 lineup of events includes amateur and professional performances in music, drama, and dance; 120,000 square feet of exhibits and "live" demonstrations, starting on Washington's Birthday, February 22, and running through February 26 at the Auditorium; lectures, seminars, and discussions on timely topics; special children's programs; a film festival; and many other special events.

G.B.C.C. Backs Pay Hike

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce will give its support to a $10,000-plus expenses salary for members of the Massachusetts Legislature.

In a statement to be made before the Legislative Committee on Public Service, Donald L. Connors, Legislative Counsel for the Chamber, says that "legislating in Massachusetts has become a full-time job."

"The services demanded of government continue to grow and become more complex in this increasingly urban society of ours," Connors says. He points out that while legislators must serve their individual constituents, they must at the same time "see through a maize of some 5,500 bills to act in the best interest of the Commonwealth."

"The current salary of $5,200 is low, he says by any standard of measure and is a barrier to stronger and more efficient government at the state level."

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce has supported the legislative pay raise in the past.

HEALTH AND HOSPITALS DEPARTMENT
MARY E. CURLEY PAVILION

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request for and on behalf of the Board of Health and Hospitals, and in accordance with their vote at a meeting held on December 23, 1966, your Honor's written authorization to dispense with public solicitation for proposals, and to enter into a written agreement with Desmond & Lord, Inc., architects, with offices at 6 Beacon street, Boston, Mass., for the preparation of plans and specifications for, and the renewals to the Mary E. Curley Pavilion, Boston City Hospital, 818 Harrison avenue, Boston, Mass. The total estimated cost of the aforementioned construction is $800,000.

The architect's preliminary basic fee taken from the "C" rate of the American Institute of Architects 1951 recommended schedule of minimum rates and based upon an estimated cost of construction of $800,000, shall be at ten percent (10%) of said estimated construction cost. The total construction cost of the work and the fee percent applicable thereto as determined by the aforesaid designated A. I. A. schedule of fees which shall be set forth in the contract, provided, nevertheless, that in no event shall the maximum liability of the city under the terms of the proposed contract, as of the date of its execution, including presently estimated expenditures of $16,000 for supplementary services by the architect, exceed, in the aggregate, the sum of $96,000.

In the opinion of the Board, since the proposed contract encompasses the performance of highly technical and professional services, competitive public bidding therefor would not be in the best interests of the city.

Respectfully yours,

DONALD M. DEHART,
Executive Officer for the Board.

CITY COUNCIL

CITY OF BOSTON

Proceedings of City Council

Tuesday, January 3, 1967.

First meeting of the City Council for the year 1967 held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 10 A.M., Councillor Craven, Senior Member, presiding, and all the members present.

The Right Reverend Christopher P. Griffin, chaplain of the City Council, was escorted to the rostrum.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

Our Father, Eternal God, under the benign disposition of Thy Divine Providence, and by the free choice of our fellow citizens we meet in this venerable chamber of civic government. On this threshold of a new year, the opening of a new session, with new hopes, new opportunities, we pause to pray together. Notwithstanding the blessedly fruitful labors of good, capable, dedicated men and women, our labors, the sum total of all our efforts will be merely weakly, pitifully human. Human and only human unless we seek and receive Thy divine grace; unless we hear and heed Thy voice; unless we feel and follow Thy guidance. We ask Thy benediction upon the esteemed Chief Executive of Boston, our Mayor. For the president and the members of this Council we ask Thy guidance and Thy care, and upon the citizens of this city we pray that Thy blessing descend upon them that they may be blessed in the knowledge and sanctified in the observance of Thy holy law. Unless the Lord build the city, they labor in vain who build it. Hear our prayer O Lord for we sincerely wish to build, but with Thee, may the motto of our city be the daily wish of our hearts, the content of our daily prayer, Sicut Patribus, Sit Deus Nobis—As He Was With Our Fathers, So May God Be With Us.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

ESCORT TO MAYOR COLLINS

Chairman CRAVEN—His Honor, the Mayor John F. Collins, will deliver the annual address. The Chair will, therefore, appoint Councillors McDonough and Piemonte to escort the Mayor to the Council Chamber.

The Chair now declares a short recess while we await the arrival of his Honor the Mayor.

(Short recess.)

The committee appointed to escort Mayor John F. Collins to the chamber retired and presently returned in company with the Mayor, who was greeted with applause upon his entrance.

Chairman CRAVEN—Members of the City Council, invited and honored guests, I am pleased to present the Honorable John F. Collins, who will now deliver his annual address. Mayor Collins.

ANNUAL ADDRESS OF HON. JOHN F. COLLINS, MAYOR OF BOSTON.

Reverend Clergy, Honorable Members of the City Council and the School Committee, Ladies and Gentlemen.

Before I commence my remarks today, I would like to say that all of us miss Joe Dunlea. We hope that, according to the news we received this morning before we proceeded, he is feeling better, and we all pray for his speedy recovery.

I would like, also, to point out that many of the members of the School Committee, perhaps all of them, are at the funeral of Thomas P. O'Connor, a former official in the Assessing Department of the City of Boston, and a brother of School Committeeman William O'Connor, and perhaps they will join us somewhat later.

Today we stand on the threshold of a New Year—a Year of Promise and a Year of Problems.

I hope—and I am confident—that we will be able to continue the progress that has been achieved in our city during the year just ended and for the past seven years.

Great strides were made during 1966 toward the realization of a New Boston as yesterday's dreams became today's realities.

It was my hope and my prayer, when I assumed office seven years ago, that I would be able to come before you at the start of each New Year, and report to you and to our citizens, that our Boston was a better city than it had been the year before.

With great pride and yet with deep humility, I feel I can say that truthfully to you today as I have done for each of the past six Januaries.

I also can tell you that great new advances will be made in the year now starting and that there will be further fresh evidence of the confidence in our city and its future—a confidence which will be translated into broader opportunities, new jobs, and a higher degree of prosperity for our people.

Nineteen hundred and sixty-six was another year of progress for the New Boston—another year of sharp contrast with conditions that existed in our city in years past.

The face of our city continued its change for the better. Business activity expanded further. Municipal services increased and improved.

This is not to say that in 1966 our city was without problems nor that the past seven years have been without great sacrifice or perhaps annoyance for some of our citizens.

This is understandable—because if the spread of blight and the decay of civic pride were to be curbed, strong decisions and firm policies were required.

Just as harsh-tasting medicine must sometimes be administered to cure a sick patient, the prescription for a once ill city, of necessity, must for a time, and for some persons, be hard to swallow.

Displacement by urban renewal is not taken as a happy remedy by those who must move elsewhere.

Realignment and modernization of city services is considered painful by those who insist upon old methods and familiar locations.

Compelling tax-exempt institutions—for the first time in Boston's history—to pay charges for city services is little-recognized consolation for those who refuse to be satisfied except by massive tax relief, which only the Commonwealth can provide.

Realizing from the outset the enormity of our task, this administration has devoted whatever its talents and all its energy to leading Boston on the long and difficult journey from bleak yesterday to bright and booming tomorrow.

Many steps have been taken to bring nearer the completion of this long journey.

At the very beginning of our journey we sought to eliminate waste and modernize purchasing procedures.

Boston's budget was cut while, at the same time, the state budget and the federal nondefense budget were spiraling upward.

Even before the enactment of the state sales tax, Boston's tax rate was reduced for four successive years.

It would give me tremendous satisfaction if I could stand here today and tell you that our tax rate will be reduced again in 1967.

Unfortunately, that is not possible. We have approximately $31 million in built-in increases in our budget. Most of that money must be raised from the tax levy on real estate. There is no other way we can get it.

I can make no precise forecast as to how great the rise in the tax rate will be. We will do everything within our power to keep it as low as possible. However, I regret to say that it will be substantial.

In this connection, let me say that we must provide the essential services for our citizens, and I believe the standard of the services we furnish compares very favorably with those in our neighboring communities.

We must care for our needy, our sick, and our aged.

We must continue to strive for racial harmony.

We must continue our efforts to eliminate blight and human misery from our city.

These things cost money—a great deal of money. Yet we cannot afford NOT to do them.

I remarked earlier that we are beginning a Year of Promise—and a Year of Problems.

The problems which will confront us before 1967 has run its course will be enormous.

We will do our utmost to meet and overcome every problem which we have the means of solving. Would that we had the means to overcome them all.

Unfortunately, some of them are beyond our power to solve, and we must look to our state and federal governments for help if we are to overcome them and do what should be done for our people.

It is my hope and my expectation that the incoming Legislature, which convenes this week, will enact a bill under which the state will assume the public welfare costs now borne by our local communities.

At the time of the enactment of the sales tax legislation, Governor John A. Volpe promised that soon the cost of welfare or public assistance would be shifted from the cities and towns to the state.

When this is done, a considerable burden will be lifted from the shoulders of our taxpayers. If it is not done, our taxpayers must reach even more deeply into their pockets.

Most of our cities and many of our towns across the Commonwealth desperately need this help from the state.

We have the poor in large numbers. In all fairness and all justice, this is a burden which should be assumed by the state.

Let me emphasize that Boston is taking full advantage of federal grants and federal funds wherever they apply in city government.

But the load is still too staggering for the city to carry.

And we should be able to turn to the federal government for even greater help.

If the federal government can solve the problems of outer space, it should be able to help provide the means of solving the problems of the city dwellers on this planet and in this nation.

I was pleased to read President Johnson's statement that the United States of America is indeed rich and powerful enough to meet our commitments in Vietnam and at home, for the problems of this country are in the cities and the money is in Washington.

To right the conditions of the underprivileged and deprived, massive new federal programs are needed.

Refinements and improvements of existing federal approaches will not give us what we need.

It is time for a drastic overhaul of the whole complex of relationships between the federal government and the cities.

I do not propose that we look only to the national treasury. I believe that ways can be found to create incentives for private initiative and private capital to work constructively in the depressed areas of cities. The internal revenue code and insurance of some urban investments are examples.

As I indicated last month a new COMSAT type public-private corporation to enlist the full concern of our universities, and investments by banks, insurance companies' pension funds, hardware manufacturers, would merge public power and private incentive to solve the nation's most critical domestic problem.

Each city in America, many to a degree worse than Boston, faces these problems on a daily basis. They cannot be solved on the local level.

So we must of sheer necessity look to our state government and in an even greater degree to our federal government for help in meeting the problems of our people which we ourselves have not the means of overcoming.

I might point out parenthetically, not only have I expressed these thoughts and beliefs from time to time, but I have also gone to Washington to express this point of view at every opportunity. Some of you may recall of my attempt during the year 1966, to change my address to Washington for the purpose of furthering these beliefs.

Now let me review briefly some of the things we achieved in 1966 and some of the things we will accomplish in 1967 in our efforts to make Boston a better city.

During the year just ended hundreds of low and moderate rental housing units were built and are now occupied by families who formerly lived in substandard dwellings. Thousands more will be constructed in 1967.

The same is true for some 500 units of new public housing for our valued elderly.

The Government Center, once a slum, is taking form as new structures are completed and others are rising, including the new City Hall. Work on several new major office buildings will be started during 1967 by private interests.

The recreational facilities available to our people, including play areas and tot lots, were increased in 1966 and will be expanded further in 1967.

We plan to spend some $6 million this year for new streets and sidewalks. These plans include the construction of several new streets and a new Commonwealth avenue. New lights will be installed on several miles of streets.

Incidentally, it might also be pointed out more new streets and sidewalks have been constructed in the last seven years than in any comparable period of time in the city's history.

Our fire-fighting facilities will be strengthened by the most modern and efficient equipment available.

Every possible effort will continue to be made to keep the face of the New Boston clean. The city-wide cleanup campaign of the Public Works Department will be extended and intensified. We intend to purchase $1 million worth of new equipment for the department. We will lease new street sweepers instead of buying them. The success of this endeavor must necessarily depend on the cooperation of our citizens.

A roving inspection service will be inaugurated to report anything which needs fixing for which the city is responsible.

The scooter patrol in the Police Department will be expanded to cover residential neighborhoods.

High-speed computers will be installed in the Police Department, the Hospital Department, and City Hall.

This will make possible instantaneous communication between the Boston Police Department and the National Crime Information Center in Washington. It will enable the Hospital Department to handle its Medicare bills and will result in more efficient administrative procedures at City Hall.

The rejuvenation of the Boston City Hospital is now successfully under way and by merging the resources and skills of the Hospital and Health Departments, there is now available comprehensive health care to all our citizens.

School appropriations have been increased each year; and to break the long-existing log jam in school construction, we have a new Public Facilities Department with full authority to plan and build schools for our children.

It should be pointed out that the long standing disagreement between the State Department of Education and the Boston School Committee has resulted not only in withholding state funds for school purposes but also in the freezing of construction funds for new school buildings.

This impasse cannot be permitted to continue. But if it should it will not be the contesting Education Boards who will be punished, but rather those who are not parties to the controversy, the school children and taxpayers of Boston.

The task of rebuilding, revitalizing, and rejuvenating an old city such as Boston is not an easy one.

We knew it would not be an easy one when we undertook it. We knew that difficult problems would have to be met and that hard decisions would have to be made.

Not everyone agrees with the way hard decisions are made. If a unanimity of opinion were possible, they wouldn't be hard decisions.

But the tough decisions made by this administration in 1966 and each of the six years that preceded 1966, were always made in the light of what was best for the greatest number of our citizens and without regard for political considerations or political effect.

That is the way they will be made in 1967. Indeed, it is the only way they can be made if our city is to continue to move ahead.

In reporting to you, as I have, on the progress we have achieved during the seven years I have served as your Mayor, may I stress most strongly and most sincerely that it would not have been possible except for the cooperation and encouragement we have received from the great majority of our citizens.

To all of them I express my heartfelt gratitude and my wish that the year 1967 will be a happy and healthy one for them.

To you members of the City Council and the School Committee I voice my thanks for the contributions you have made to the New Boston. I most earnestly ask your help and cooperation in the 12 months ahead.

There is much that we can do.

There is much that we must do.

There is much that we will do.
Thank you very much and I wish each one of you a Happy New Year.
(Applause.)

Thank you, Mr. Mayor, for a very fine address.
The Chair now appoints Councillors McDonough and Piemonte to escort his Honor from the chamber. (Short recess.)

Chairman CRAVEN—The Council will be in order.

The Chair awaits the pleasure of the Body.

TEMPORARY LOANS IN ANTICIPATION OF REVENUE

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 3, 1967.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I am in receipt of the attached communication of the City Auditor. In accordance with the recommendations contained therein, I submit herewith an order authorizing the issuance during 1967 of temporary loans in anticipation of revenue to an amount not exceeding $75,000,000.

I respectfully recommend adoption of this order by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Auditing Department, January 3, 1967.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

In order to provide for the financing of the operation of the municipal government during the fiscal year 1967, it is necessary to submit to the City Council at an early meeting an order authorizing the issuance as needed during the year of temporary loans in anticipation of revenue receipts.
This method of financing is made necessary by the fact that under the Massachusetts municipal tax calendar, the major portion of the city's revenue receipts is received late in the year.

By authority of section 4 of chapter 44 of the General Laws, the city could issue in 1967 in anticipation of revenue receipts temporary loans which would not exceed, in the aggregate, the total tax levy of the fiscal year 1966 together with the corporation and income tax distributions received from the Commonwealth in the same year. This totals to date $160,656,511.12. In 1966, a total of $50,000,000 was authorized by the City Council and approved by the Mayor. During the year it was necessary to issue $45,000,000. At the present time it appears that the 1967 requirements for this type of financing will be $75,000,000.

I respectfully recommend therefore that an order in the amount of $75,000,000 be submitted to the City Council for consideration and adoption.

Respectfully,

JOHN T. LEONARD, City Auditor.

Ordered, That to provide temporarily money to meet the appropriations for the financial year 1967, the Collector-Treasurer be, and hereby is, authorized to issue and sell, at such times and in such amounts as he may deem best, notes or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston, not exceeding $75,000,000 in the total, in anticipation of the revenue of the financial year that all such notes or certificates of indebtedness be made payable with the interest thereon within one year of their date and bear interest from their date until the same are made payable at such rate as the Collector-Treasurer and the Mayor may determine. The said Collector-Treasurer is hereby further authorized to renew or refund any such notes issued for a shorter period than one year under the provisions of section 17 of chapter 44 of the General Laws.

Coun. PIEMONTE moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and Finance, when appointed, for the purpose of conducting a hearing on the same and at which time the Auditor is requested to bring up with him a fiscal statement, a current statement, as to the finances of the city as of December 31, 1966.

Coun. FOLEY moved the temporary loan go to Executive.

The question came on the motion of Councillor
Piemonte, and the motion was carried.

CONSTRUCTION OF WEST END BRANCH LIBRARY

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 3, 1967.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the President of Trustees of the Boston Public Library relative to your order of recent date with reference to the expediting the construction of the Branch Library in the West End.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Library Department, December 8, 1966.

Mr. Albert Kramer,

Administrative Assistant, Mayor's Office.

Dear Mr. Kramer:

On behalf of the Trustees of the Public Library
I am providing the following information in reply to the order passed by the City Council on November 21, 1966:

1. On August 2, 1966, bids were publicly opened for the construction of a new West End Branch Library, on Cambridge street. The low bid exceeded the budget for the building by the sum of $100,000. Neither the architect nor the low bidder in a subsequent conference could explain to the satisfaction of the Trustees why the square foot cost for the building should have come in at such a high figure. In fact the square foot cost for the building far exceeded the cost for any comparable library building that has been built in the last several years, or for the estimated cost of comparable library buildings that are presently under construction. Therefore, in the best interest of the city all bids were rejected and the architect was requested to re-examine his building plans and without reducing the size or changing the exterior to produce new drawings with such changes in specifications as needed to effect a reduction in cost of building so that new bids might be obtained.
These plans and specifications are now in hand and an advertisement will appear in the December 10, 1966, issue of the "City Record" inviting new bids. Subbids will be opened on Wednesday, December 28, 1966, and general bids on Thursday,
January 5, 1967.

2. The Bookmobile has been making a weekly stop at the intersection of Joy and Cambridge streets since the library facility in the West Church was closed. In addition, children's services have been rendered at Acorn place in cooperation with volunteers from the neighborhood. Several conferences also have been held with representatives of Hill House in respect to the possibility of locating temporary library facilities in this new Beacon Hill Center. If it develops that mutually convenient arrangements cannot be worked out, then the Library will investigate the possibility of obtaining suitable commercial property on Cambridge street for the location of a temporary library facility.

3. The Library Trustees have done everything possible to expedite the construction of the new West End Branch Library. The Library Trustees proceeded to the selection of a site and an architect immediately upon the decision in April, 1960, to discontinue the West End Branch Library in the old West Church. The architect's design was accepted for the building and before construction could commence problems developed with officials of the neighboring commercial development and more recently because of the unwarranted excavation of the Library site by the developers of Charles River Park during the course of their construction. This prevented the site from being turned over to the Library in its original state and required the architect to redesign the foundations of the building to meet the new site conditions.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,

BY LENAHAN O'CONNELL, President.

Coun. LANGONE moved that this communication be referred back to the Trustees of the Library with the particular advisement from the Council that immediate steps be taken to set up a temporary library in the West End.

Secondly this order be sent back because if they are $100,000 short over what they originally planned for this, I wouldn't like to be a party to any such agreement whereby some essential features necessary for the operation of a good library be deleted from these plans.

Coun. LANGONE moved to amend his motion, to have the Trustees of the Public Library next Monday before the Executive Committee with the architect and a representative of Charles River Park, and the members of the Boston Redevelopment Authority and perhaps even a member of the Boston Housing Authority if he remembers the particular agreement that was made at that time, so that we might get at firsthand for the enlightenment of the people of West End and Beacon Hill as to what exactly happened that delayed the construction of this library.

Coun. CRAVEN in the chair.

President HYNES in the chair.

The question first came on Councillor Langone's amendment to his motion, and the amendment was carried.

The question then came on Councillor Langone's foregoing motion as amended, and the motion was carried.

HON. JOHN F. COLLINS, MAYOR OF BOSTON

BARRY T. HYNES
PRESIDENT CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 59

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1967

NO. 6

MANY "BEYOND CONTROL" FACTORS FORCE HIKE IN 1967 BUDGET

Mayor John F. Collins on February 6 presented to the City Council a budget of $183,300,547 for 1967, an increase of $16,991,395 over last year.

In his budgetary message to the Council, the Mayor ascribed the increase of slightly more than 10 percent to a number of factors including his administration's determination to give the people of Boston those services "to which they are entitled."

"There is no question," the Mayor's message declared, "that our tax rate will increase, not only because of the legal problems which confront us but also due to the spiralling costs of government over and above this budget."

The Mayor, contrasting the Boston budget with that of the state for fiscal 1967-68, pointed out that the Commonwealth's anticipated costs are up 14.82 percent. Since 1959, he said, the state budget has risen 84.36 percent, while that of Boston for the same period has advanced only 45.11 percent.

If Boston expenditures had kept pace with the state the city's 1967 budget would be $232.8 million the Mayor said, close to $50 million more, with an added tax increase rate of $35.

This year the Mayor has reduced total original requests of various department heads by $6,823,821.

In his message, the Mayor stressed the necessity of providing services to the taxpayers. He said it was imperative not alone to carry out the normal replacement of worn and obsolete apparatus but to implement the existing departmental equipment and add new types of "modern tools to more effectively perform the functional services we need to move forward as a progressive city."

Turning his attention to the increased costs of the operations of the Police Department, the Mayor declared that Boston unlike other major communities nationally has been "holding its own in the battle against crime." (Crime decreased 1 percent in Boston in 1966 while increasing 9 percent nationally.)

However, he said, he concurs in the recommendations of "our responsible police officials" in allowing the full sum of $22,864,792 they have requested for operating costs, plus requests for additional equipment totaling $418,450. The new equipment for which the budget would provide includes not only automotive and communication facilities but also a new police boat. The Mayor has also authorized the expenditure from the capital budget the sum of $250,000 for a completely modern communication system which will permit a more expeditious and efficient evaluation of police activities.

The message also directed the Council's attention to the costs attendant upon the improvement of the living standards and working conditions of the members of the law enforcement agency.

Puppetry Guild Show Big Winterfest Feature

The New England Guild of Puppetry, a regional guild of the national organization, Puppeteers of America, will present a puppet program on Thursday, February 23, at 1 p.m., at the War Memorial Auditorium in Boston, as part of the Winterfest Week in Boston activities, February 19-26.

The hour-long program will include 10-minute puppet shows running at regular intervals; puppet demonstrations; discussions on the materials used for making puppets, and the differences between string, shadow, rod, and hand puppets.

Several prominent members of the New England Guild will participate in the Winterfest program. They are president, Jesse Herlihy, Rye, New Hampshire; past president, Eleanor Boylan, Newton; Edgar and Lanelle Rice, Wellesley Hills, and Helen Ferguson, Milford, New Hampshire.

Eleanor Boylan's Young Newton Players with Ruth Brand's Puppets will present Gulliver's Travels that same day at 10.30 a.m. in the Auditorium. The unique production will feature Newton children and puppets in an adaptation of Jonathan Swift's "Gulliver's Travels." The puppets made by Mrs. Ruth Brand of Melrose, a member of the New England Guild of Puppetry, will be on display during the Guild's afternoon program. Approximately 60 puppeteers are members of the regional guild.

Budget Hike . . .

Last year's police budget was $21,348,912; thus, the police budget, exclusive of equipment, will rise a million and a half dollars this year.

The cost of fire protection for Boston's 700,000 residents also will rise. Last year the Fire Department appropriation, exclusive of equipment, was $15,710,310. This year it will go to $17,047,242—an increase of $1.3 million. The Fire Department also expects to receive over a million dollars in new equipment.

Another sizable hike in appropriations goes to the Health and Hospitals Department. Last year the department received $27.9 million. This year its budget will total $32,483,485.

The Public Works Department also will receive a hike in operating appropriations of almost a million dollars. In 1966 the department operated on a budget of $10.9—this year the figure goes to $11.9.

Highest increase in this year's budget over that of a year ago, the Mayor said, was the necessity of setting aside funds to meeting spiralling Welfare and Veterans' Services costs. This year the cost of the two departments forces the city to face an astronomical figure of more than $49 million—an increase of $6.2 million.

"It is anticipated," the Mayor said hopefully, "that the state will recognize that the problems of our less fortunate citizens is no longer the prime responsibility of the local community but is the concern of the Commonwealth as a whole and that we can expect positive action by our Legislature this year to have the state assume this burden."

In this connection, the Mayor reaffirmed his position that the state should also assume the costs of Suffolk County government as a whole.

One of the serious difficulties of drawing up this year's budget for the calendar year, said the Mayor, stems from the operation of collective bargaining with various employee organizations. The 1967 budget, he said, "Makes no allowances for any contractual agreements not already consummated. If new negotiations during the year subsequently result in agreement, supplemental appropriations will be funded as deemed necessary."

The Mayor reviewed briefly in his message "two serious problems" now before the courts.

The first concerns the withholding of state funds because of the decision of the State Board of Education that the Boston School Committee is not meeting the provisions of the so-called racial imbalance law. He expressed his hopes for a resolution of this problem in the immediate future.

The second concerns the legal technicality as to the true meaning of the Sales Tax Law in respect to the valuation of Boston for the distribution of Sales Tax revenue. "The resolution of this problem in favor of the city," said the Mayor, "would be a financial gain that is sorely needed at this time."

5 New BFD Stations

Mayor John F. Collins has submitted to the City Council plans to build five new fire stations to replace the same number of antiquated facilities. Each station will be built in the same general locality of the stations they replace. New facilities will be built for the following companies:

Engine 9 and Ladder 2 in East Boston (Paris street).

Engine 39 and Ladder 18 in South Boston (Congress street).

Engine 33 and Ladder 15 at Boylston street and Massachusetts avenue.

Engine 12 and Ladder 4 in Roxbury (Dudley street).

Engine 13, Engine 24 and Ladder 23 in Roxbury (Grove Hall).

Each of the above houses were built before the turn of the century.

Mayor Collins explained that future city planning and anticipation of fire protection needs for these changing areas is the basic reason for the changes, "for as the fire protection profile of the city changes, so must its fire defenses change."

The Mayor said that in all contemplated changes, there is no current lessening of the fire protection of that area, but rather an improvement in the fire protection. This is so, he said, because of highway and arterial development, which is a basic factor in the determination of the location of a fire station.

The Mayor said physical and environmental influences, population density and degree and type of hazard have been evaluated and compared, present location to suggested location, to insure that these very significant factors exert their influence in the selection of the site proposed for each area.

He also said that in each of the current locations the present buildings housing the companies were antiquated, costly to maintain, prohibitive to modernize when the strategic deterioration of the current location was considered.

The Mayor said that the funds for the construction will come in great part from redevelopment sources which as a part of the planning for an area must incorporate into that planning the cost of necessary fire protection. Said Mayor Collins, the city stands to gain immeasurably in these changes, as well as the residents served by these facilities.

New Boston Folk Song

Winterfest Feature

A new folk song about Boston, "The Ballad of Boston," will be premiered during Winterfest Week in Boston, February 19 to 26, Francis W. Sidlauskas, Executive Director of the eight-day civic-cultural festival, has announced.

The song, written by Richard V. Lombardi, Vice-President and Radio-TV Director of Hoag and Provandie, will be sung by popular New England balladeer Tony Saletan at the Winterfest Folk Concert scheduled for Saturday, February 25, at the War Memorial Auditorium, at 8.30 P.M.

The song is included in a collectors' album created exclusively by Hoag and Provandie for the 75th anniversary of the Boston Mutual Life Insurance Company. On the record, "The Ballad of Boston" and other New England folk tunes are sung by Saletan and his wife, Irene.

"Boston is where we began," says the record's jacket. "Where a struggling colony blazed a Freedom Trail and gave the world a new concept of government. First there was rebellion—then the building of a great city, both commercial and cultural. Today there are many facets of the New Boston—a city still changing, expanding scientifically spaceward, yet retaining all the individuality and charm of Boston through the generations. It is this unending uniqueness which we have tried to capture in this album."

NO GAS STATION

Turkish President Cemal Gursel beamed with pride as he roared away from Ankara's parliament building in the first auto ever made in Turkey, with a chauffeur at the wheel. A scant 100 yards later, Gursel's smile froze as the engine coughed and died. "We made this car with the Western part of our minds," he berated the chauffeur, "but with the Oriental part we forgot to put gasoline in it."

Winterfest Will Be Hub's Top Baby Sitter

Winterfest Week in Boston, February 19-26, will also be Boston's "biggest baby sitter" during the traditional mid-winter school vacation break. Eli Goldston, Chairman of Boston Gas Company and General Chairman of the eight-day festival, is convinced of that.

Seventy percent of the programming at Winterfest is aimed primarily at the youngsters, according to Goldston. The cultural kaleidoscope will include everything of interest to children from magicians to puppeteers to full-length productions of popular children's plays. Exhibits and some major children's attractions are free, but tickets at 50 cents, available at the box office, are necessary for admission to most children's performances.

"Of course, the child-oriented performances and exhibits will have just as much appeal for the adults," said Mr. Goldston. "After all, hard helmet scuba divers from the Boston Fire Department, animals from the Children's Zoo, and a bird identity game from the Audubon Society are pretty appealing to all age groups," the Winterfest chairman added.

Children's events are scheduled at the War Memorial Auditorium in Boston from February 22 to 26. Hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, and 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Sunday.

NOTE: Auditorium events and exhibits of Winterfest do not begin until Wednesday, February 22.

"This year's Winterfest exhibits will have even more action and participation for the youngsters than last year's," said Mr. Goldston. "They will be able to try weaving on a loom at the Weaver's Guild of Boston exhibit, be able to play in the gigantic 900-square foot upholstered playground that the Children's Museum has specially constructed for Winterfest, see Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts demonstrating their crafts, get a close look at Police Department search dogs, and get fingerprinted at the same time, see the Cambridge potters shaping masses of wet clay into symmetrical containers, see Mr. Leuchs making stained glass window, and Robert Arthur drawing sports illustrations, or pet the animals in the special 'pet ring' being set up by the Children's Zoo, and the many other exciting, educational, and entertaining exhibits and 'live' demonstrations."

ABCD's South Boston Community Center Opens, With Facilities for Many Services

South Boston's new Community Action Center located in the old U.S. Post Office Building at 424 West Broadway will hold opening ceremonies on Saturday, February 4.

Mayor John F. Collins will be guest of honor. Leaders of various civic, community, and religious organizations and those interested in the war on poverty in South Boston will be present. The City of Boston's Fire Department Band will provide music.

The Center is sponsored by Action for Boston Community Development and is under the direction of the South Boston Action Council.

Services available for South Boston residents will include a new Employment Center, dental, senior citizens, consumer action, neighborhood improvement, and Neighborhood Youth Corps Programs.

All programs are aimed at assisting low-income residents of the area. They would be families or individuals receiving public assistance, residence of public housing, the unemployed or those falling within certain income limits. These limits are generally defined as $3,000 for a family of two, plus an additional $500 for each additional dependent.

U. S. Must Fight Poverty War, Too, Says Mayor

(Following are the remarks of Mayor John F. Collins at the opening of ABCD's South Boston Community Center on February 4):

I was in Washington a few days ago.

Washington is a city in which you can always get several thousand shades of opinion on any subject under the sun.

I talked with a lot of people down there, including the President of the United States.

I was a bit amazed at the degree of unanimity which existed on two matters.

No. 1 was that the War on Poverty must be pushed to a successful conclusion if this nation is to know the true measure of its great potential.

No. 2 was that in the immediate future the Poverty War was in for some very crucial days—days of decision on whether we should de-escalate this war and postpone to the future its full-scale prosecution.

I happen to be only one member of the 44-member board of directors of ABCD. However, I have kept in pretty close touch with its operations and I want to share with Arthur Gartland and George Bennett and all of you who have made possible the opening of this fine center, the satisfaction of work well done.

I know you all agree with me and with the President about the necessity of pushing the Anti-Poverty War to a successful conclusion.

I know, too, that now that important beachheads have been established we cannot afford to content ourselves only with piecemeal consolidation of small initial gains.

The need is with us now.

You don't postpone hunger.

You don't put off until tomorrow the health needs of far too many of our people.

You don't ignore the educational needs of today's generations.

We've made a bare start toward the solution of those problems now. To file those problems for future reference; to say we can take them up in a big way again tomorrow is an affront to the greatest and most civilized of modern societies.

Jobs Are There

It wasn't too long back—well within the memory of most of us—when economists were filling the papers and magazines with a gloomy picture of the adjustment we'd have to make for the Age of Automation.

"Where will we find jobs for the displaced workers Automation will create?" they asked.

Look at the Help Wanted pages every day. You'll find the answer there. The fact of the matter is that there are more jobs available than ever before. More jobs than there are people to fill them. The catch is that you have to be qualified to fill them.

Certainly, this nation in the last 15 years has created a new industrial machine equal in size to all that was built from the earliest factories until 1951. Put another way, the huge American economy has doubled its capacity in the last 15 years.

And yet—here in 1967—one fifth of our population lives in want!

Any objective observer today must admit that we are not holding our ground in the worsening urban crisis. The old adage that one cannot stand still—you must advance or go back—still remains good philosophy.

Recently some of the nation's cities have had painful reminders that the patience of the poor, shut out from the affluent society, is not unending.

I am one of those who is convinced that Vietnam and the Poverty War can and must be fought at the same time.

Our major cities from Boston to Los Angeles, from Portland, Oregon, to Florida, are not equipped to meet the problems of our so-called ghetto. There exists today and has existed for some years past a combination of trends over which our local government has no control.

The whole problem of providing for our needy cannot be thrust upon that unit of American government least equipped and funded to cope with it—namely the core cities of our metropolitan areas.

This morning as ABCD opens this great center—dedicated to attacking the deep roots of poverty in this area—I believe congratulations are in order. I know the days and nights of work which go into the planning of such a center. I know, too, that even harder work and further planning lie ahead.

New Addition to Central Library, Copley Square

Mayor John F. Collins and the Trustees of the Boston Public Library announced approval of the design for a much-needed multi-million dollar addition to the Central Library in Copley square.

The Trustees said that the need for this substantial enlargement of the Central Library building is indicated:

(1) by the increase in its holdings from 628,297 volumes in 1895 to more than 2,350,000 volumes in 1966;

(2) by the very substantial increase in the use of the Central Library—the count of people entering the Library last year was 1,178,601—resulting from both the population and knowledge explosions; and

(3) by the steadily increasing dependence on the Central Library as the reference and information center for the city, the metropolitan and eastern region, and the state.

State and federal support for regional and statewide services is being provided.

Ready Late This Year

The block to the rear of the Library is in the possession of the Library Trustees and the buildings on Boylston street have been demolished as the first step in the project. Specifications are being prepared for the demolition of the inadequate annex building and for the relocation of utilities. These next steps are scheduled for completion in the early summer so that groundbreaking for the addition can take place by late 1967.

The first three floors of the addition will provide the citizens of Boston ready access, on open shelves, to a well-selected collection of upwards of one-half million volumes. This facility will provide service for children, young adults, students (both high school and college), and adults. The auditorium, adjacent to the audio-visual rooms, will be a center for the Library's dynamic educational programs. These have included story hours for children, weekly programs for the Never Too Late group, film showings, conferama exhibits, as well as exhibitions and lectures celebrating occasions such as Jewish Book Month, Negro History Week, Polish Millennium, and Canadian Expo 67.

Boston Engineers

The Trustees of the Boston Public Library appointed Philip Johnson of New York to be the principal architect for the new addition. Johnson felt that an association with a Boston architectural firm would be helpful as conditions and direct supervision were considered as important factors for the success of this project.

Architects Design Group, Inc., was selected, and a joint venture was formed. The architects then selected William J. LeMessurier to be the structural engineer and Francis Associates to be the mechanical engineer for the project. Both engineering firms are from Boston and have done a number of major projects in this area.

The new library addition of 480,000 square feet will occupy the entire area bounded by Boylston, Exeter, and Blagden streets. Its height and roof line will conform to the existing Library and its exterior will be similarly faced with granite.

In order to contain eight floors, plus mezzanine within the height limitation respecting the existing building, unique structural and mechanical systems have been developed. The upper five floors are suspended from huge roof trusses which form the mechanical penthouse. This allows a very thin floor construction to be used, gaining a maximum amount of useable space and eliminates a forest of columns in the lower public floors.

Two complete floors are below grade and house a 300-seat auditorium, audio-visual rooms, storage space, and space for mechanical equipment. Between the present Library and the new addition, a continuous duct shaft was created to provide air conditioning for all levels within the building.

A. L. Convention to Bring $7 Million Here

Conventioners from the American Legion are expected to buy some 250,000 meals in Hub restaurants and occupy some 6,000 hotel-motel rooms, while spending an estimated total of $7 million in the Greater Boston area during their national convention this summer, it is estimated by the Lodging and Food Service News.

The American Legion Convention, August 25-31, will bring to Boston some 25,000 Legionnaires and their families. The 6,000 rooms have already been pledged by the American Legion Convention Corporation of Massachusetts.

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, through its Convention and Visitors' Bureau headed by Paul Lanigan, has worked for over two years in cooperation with the American Legion Convention Corporation in an effort to bring the convention to Boston. Mr. Lanigan is also on the board of the Convention Corporation, which is headed by Ernest Henderson, chairman of the board of Sheraton, as president, and Robert M. Brush, senior vice-president of the same company, as vice-president.

EXTRAORDINARY STEP-RATE ADVANCE UNDER COMPENSATION PLAN FOR EMPLOYEES OF CITY OF BOSTON. FIRE DEPARTMENT

DUNCAN T. FOLEY,
Supervisor of Personnel.

DEAR SIR:

On July 18, 1966, Theresa E. Fichtner was appointed as a permanent clerk and typist in the Fire Department from a Civil Service eligible list as the result of an open competitive examination.

Prior to this appointment Miss Fichtner was employed as a permanent junior clerk in the Savings Bank Life Insurance section of the Banking and Insurance Department of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for the period April 27, 1965, to July 15, 1966.

In view of Miss Fichtner's previous service with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and her qualifications for this position it is requested that her one and a half year step-rate increment be determined under paragraph F of Rule 9, to become effective February 8, 1967.

She has already completed her probationary period of service in the Fire Department.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM J. FITZGERALD,
Fire Commissioner.

Library Addition . . .

One-Time Tidal Flats

The main entrance to the addition will be from Boylston street and will directly serve the Main Floor, Lower Concourse, Mezzanine, and Second Floor. Administrative offices and book stacks will occupy the Third Floor, with book stacks entirely filling the upper three floors. A service and enclosed truck delivery entrance will be on Blagden street.

The site, in common with most areas in the Back Bay, was reclaimed from tidal flats about 100 years ago. The land fill used for reclamation was placed directly on the soft organic muds and peats of the tidal flats, under which lie more than 100 feet of soft blue clay, then bedrock.

Like many other older structures in the Back Bay, notably the Trinity and Old South Churches nearby, the present Library rests on stone walls and piers supported on timber piles driven into the stiff top crust of the clay. This crust was formed by drying, in a long past geologic era, when a drop in sea level uncovered the clay. The timber piles are a safe and acceptable foundation so long as they remain completely immersed in ground water. Lowered ground water levels cause rotting of wood at the tops of the piles, requiring expensive repairs. The Library makes frequent observations of exact ground water levels to insure the soundness of its foundation piles.

For structures too heavy to be supported by the stiff crust of the clay, several alternatives are available for foundations. Moderate size buildings which are not too heavy, such as the New England Life Building, may be constructed on "floating" foundations. This principle requires excavating an amount of soil equal to the weight of the building so that the soft clay never feels any new loads and, consequently, does not compress and cause settlement of the structure. Very tall or very heavy buildings, such as the Prudential Tower and the John Hancock Building, are founded on steel and concrete piles drilled into or driven to bedrock.

Fireproof Construction

Because the weight of soil to be excavated for the new addition is at least equal to the building weight, the possibility of a "floating" type foundation is being studied. The pattern of major column loads, the nature of the soil between the clay and the basement slab, and other complexities could lead to another choice. The final choice of a foundation will be made after completion of test borings, tests on soil and rock samples, and a thorough study of the entire challenging problem.

The new addition will be of all fireproof construction, with no exposed structural steel. The quantities of materials required for its construction give some idea of the size of the project. For example, there will be about 1,900 tons of reinforcing steel rods and 2,100 tons of structural steel, or enough steel if it were in the form of a pipe 5 inches in diameter to reach from a 100-mile high orbiting space craft back to the earth. If you would rather walk than slide down the pipe, a sidewalk 4 feet wide by 4 inches thick could (theoretically) be laid from that same space craft back to earth, using the 25,000 cubic yards of concrete required for the building.

The plan of the new Library addition is similar in principle to the present Library. While the existing building is oriented around an open court, the new addition is planned around an enclosed interior court, so that a good sense of orientation is maintained within the building. The fenestration of the new building is kept to a minimum, and the basic proportions are in sympathetic relationship to the present Library.

The project cost, including fees, furnishings, and equipment, is not to exceed 22 million dollars.

Jaywalking Deaths at Record Low Mark

A drop in traffic fatalities, including a record low number of jaywalking deaths, was recorded in Boston during 1966.

Boston Traffic and Parking Commissioner Thomas F. Carty reported to Mayor Collins that "As of mid-December Boston had 50 traffic deaths, compared with 76 in 1965, and 32 pedestrians died on our streets compared to 45 the previous year."

He pointed out that the continuance of the Mayor's Pedestrian Lifesaving Campaign, along with strict enforcement of the law by the Boston police, contributed to the new low in traffic and pedestrian fatalities.

"Each time a police officer reprimands someone for jaywalking, or issues a ticket, scores of pedestrians in the vicinity receive a valuable lesson in obeying the Pedestrian Control Law," he said.

The commissioner also pointed out that a safety education program conducted by the Traffic and Parking Department has been aimed at acquainting school children, PTA groups, and elderly persons with safe walking habits.

"It is an unfortunate state of affairs that the majority of our pedestrian deaths still involve persons over age 65. We have a crash education program in progress throughout the city, instigated by Mayor Collins, which concentrates on educating this segment of our citizenry," the commissioner said.

Records compiled by the Traffic Department show that last year's traffic deaths reached a new low since 1952.

In 1964, prior to the start of the anti-jaywalking campaign, there were 77 traffic deaths and 56 pedestrians were killed while jaywalking. Boston led all major cities in the country with the number of pedestrians who died while crossing streets.

At the end of the year-long intensive public education program, Boston's traffic fatalities totaled 76 in 1965, while the pedestrian deaths dropped to a record low of 45.

"Groups wishing to have a speaker address them on the Pedestrian Control Law are asked to write to: Director of Traffic Safety Education, 112 Southampton street, Boston, Mass., 02118, or call 442-7700," Commissioner Carty said.

Have You Forgotten?

Receipts on Mothers' March Sunday, January 29, 1967, the climax of the Annual March of Dimes fund drive, have not as yet been fully evaluated. For sundry reasons returns will filter into the March of Dimes in piecemeal fashion for several weeks.

But a strong indication points to the fact that the Massachusetts Bay Chapter of the March of Dimes (serving the people of Greater Boston) is behind its anticipated returns for 1967. For the March of Dimes to fulfill commitments in birth defects treatment and research and its facilities at Boston City Hospital and Boston Floating Hospital returns must definitely rally—immediately.

If by oversight you have forgotten to give, this is a plea, asking you to take a moment—a moment that may well assure help in the life of an unknown birth-defective child.

His Honor is deeply interested in the success of the campaign inasmuch as he knows from personal experience the tragedy that the onslaught of polio can bring upon a family.

This appeal is part of a nationwide effort to fight polio and other viruses, arthritis, birth defects and disorders of the central nervous system. Volunteer contributions are being solicited, and members of the Fire Department are requested to respond generously to this appeal as they have done in the past.

Members contributing should place their names and addresses on the stub end of the pledge card, which is being issued with this order, and also the amount being contributed. IX. HIGH COMMENDATION

At 1242 P.M., December 21, 1966, the department responded to an alarm from Box 3367 for a fire in the building at 136 Greenwood street, Dorchester. Upon arrival of the apparatus, fire was issuing from all first floor windows on the right side of the building.

Fire Lieutenant Elliot J. Miller of Engine Company 52 was informed by a neighbor that there were children trapped in a bedroom on the first floor. He entered the rear bedroom through a window, made a thorough search of this room and then crawled along a hallway to another bedroom which was heavily charged with smoke, heat, and gases. Upon searching this second room he found two children clasped in each others arms under a bunk bed. He carried the children to the bedroom window and passed them to members of the department who were outside.

Fire Lieutenant Miller and a doctor, who was present at the scene accompanied the children to the Carney Hospital in the station wagon of District 8 applying mouth to mouth resuscitation en route.

Fire Lieutenant Miller performed this rescue work before charged hose lines could be brought into operation and at great risk to himself.

Because of the extreme risk to which Fire Lieutenant Miller was exposed during the rescue operation, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly, and his case has already been referred to the Board of Merit for consideration.

Soviet Envoy Invited to Winterfest Opening

The Soviet Ambassador to the United States, Anatoliy F. Dobrynin, has been invited to be a guest of honor at the special Winterfest concert of the New England Conservatory Chorus, which will kick off Winterfest Week in Boston on Sunday, February 19, at 8.30 P.M., at Jordan Hall. The invitation was extended by Winterfest General Chairman Eli Goldston.

The Jordan Hall concert will be the first public appearance for the Chorus since returning from its triumphant State Department sponsored concert tour of Russia. The Chorus, under the direction of Lorna Cooke deVaron of Cambridge, will present excerpts from its Russian tour program. Fifty-one members of the Chorus and fifteen instrumentalists made the tour.

Mr. Dobrynin has sent word back through his Cultural Counselor, Valentin M. Kemenev, that he very much hopes he will be able to come since in his several years in the post of Ambassador to the United States, he has not yet had the opportunity to visit Boston. In any event, Mr. Kemenev will definitely attend the concert.

During the Russian tour, Sovetskaya Kultura (Soviet Culture), official newspaper of the Soviet Ministry of Culture, said of the New England Conservatory Chorus: "One is impressed by the naturalness of singing, impeccability of ensemble, and uniformity of timber." Mrs. deVaron was also praised: "The Choir bears the indelible imprint of its gifted conductor," said Sovetskaya Kultura.

The official Soviet news agency, Tass, said following the Chorus' first concert in Moscow: "The American Choir made a good impression. The superb culture of sound, exquisite sense of style, and the emotion of the performance enchanted the audience."

In his letter to the Russian Ambassador, the Winterfest General

Chairman said: "The City of Boston is very proud of this achievement and happy that this cultural exchange between our country and your country was so successful in many ways. The conductor and students were most pleased by the warmth and the enthusiasm of the Soviet audiences at the concerts in the many cities of the Soviet Union where they performed and were also happy to bring back memories of the many fine friendships made."

Commenting on the Russian tour, Mrs. deVaron, who was the first U.S. woman conductor to visit Russia in a professional capacity, said: "Everywhere we visited the hospitality and reaction to our singing was overwhelming. In each city we were greeted by large signs posted throughout the city welcoming the Chorus; and in Kiev on Thanksgiving Day, just another day in Russia, we were greeted at our hotel by a table laden with four roasted turkeys and all the other traditional Thanksgiving trimmings."

CITY OF BOSTON

Proceedings of City Council

Monday, January 9, 1967.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., President HYNES in the chair, and all the members present.

The Right Reverend Christopher P. Griffin, chaplain of the City Council, was escorted to the rostrum.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

Almighty God our Father, we invoke Thy benediction as we meet here to fulfill the obligations and demands to which we are committed by the election to this high office. We begin this first day of a new week, with a new presiding officer with a fervent prayer for divine guidance. We pray Thee to override any errors of our faulty judgment and help us to speak and to act in this day that tomorrow we live unashamed of our memories.

With Thy blessing upon the president and members of this Council, may they continue to work without fear of making decisions, and without hesitation to act when it is for the common good.

We commend to Thy infinite mercy the soul of our brother in public service, Chief James Flanagan of our Fire Department. In his 37 years of service he has represented all that is best, all that is highest in civic service. May his soul rest in eternal peace.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

CITY COUNCIL

CITY OF BOSTON

Proceedings of City Council

Monday, January 16, 1967.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., President HYNES in the chair, and all the members present.

The Reverend Michael Bowab, of St. James Catholic Church, Harrison Avenue, Boston, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY THE REVEREND MICHAEL BOWAB

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

God of love and of hope, through all the length of changing years, Thy goodness never fails. This moment of public prayer will make our efforts better able to succeed because we have the sense to draw our strength from deep wells. Enable, with the light of Thy wisdom and with the strength of Thy might, these Thy servants in these confused times, to fulfill their duties as stewards of the common good. May Thy truth illumine our nearest duty and Thy holy inspiration transfigure our humblest task. Help us to fill these swift hours with mighty deeds, to bear the fret of care, the sting of criticism, the drudgery of unapplauded toil, to play valiantly our part in the working of this city government. Make us faithful servants of the human need as well as of the common good that we may not fear the searching judgments of our fellow man nor the final verdict of our God, our Supreme Judge from whom no secrets are hidden. This blessing we ask through Christ our Lord. Amen.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

AUTHORIZATION TO SELL CERTAIN
TRICT TO CARNEY HOSPITAL

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1967.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication received from John J. Tierney, Jr., Parks and Recreation Commissioner, advising that the Parks and Recreation Commission at its meeting on December 14, 1966, voted unanimously to recommend the acceptance of c. 212 of the Acts of 1966. I am enclosing a copy of this act, together with a proposed form of order, and recommend its acceptance by your Honorable Body. Chapter 212, if accepted, would authorize the City of Boston to sell 184,000 square feet of land in the rear of the Carney Hospital.

I am informed by the hospital administration that the situation at Carney Hospital is very rapidly reaching the desperate stage in terms of facilities. A number of very important projects dealing with the various aspects of patient care and treatment are at a complete standstill. The only means of correcting the situation is to construct new facilities with adequate space to accommodate the projected needs of the institution.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Parks and Recreation Department,
January 10, 1967.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

At a meeting of the Parks and Recreation Commission held Wednesday, December 14, 1966, it was unanimously voted to recommend to your Honor and the City Council the acceptance of c. 212 of the Acts of 1966. This act would authorize the City of Boston to sell approximately 184,000 square feet of land situated in the rear of the Carney Hospital and being a portion of Dorchester Park to the Carney Hospital.

Respectfully,

JOHN J. TIERNEY, JR.,
Commissioner of Parks and Recreation.

Ordered, That chapter 212 of the Acts of 1966 entitled "An Act Authorizing the City of Boston To Sell Certain Park Land in the Dorchester District of Said City to the Carney Hospital," be, and hereby is, accepted.

Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

APPROPRIATION FROM ADDITIONAL LI-CENSE FEES FOR PURPOSE OF MAKING PAYMENTS REQUIRED BY CHAPTER
804 OF ACTS OF 1965

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 9, 1967.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

Since 1955, General Laws, c. 138, s. 23B, has provided for the reservation for a limited period of alcoholic beverage licenses for premises taken by public authority when the licensed business is required to be removed therefrom. Chapter 804 of the Acts of 1965 has recently provided for the voluntary retirement of certain of these licenses during the period they are reserved.

Pursuant to the second section of said chapter 804, the fee for each all alcoholic beverage license for the year and for subsequent years has been increased by $200, which has made available in excess of $200,000 for the purposes, but only for the purposes of said chapter 804. I recommend early adoption of the accompanying order formally appropriating from these receipts $200,000 for the purposes specified in said chapter 804.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

Ordered, That for the purpose of making the payments required by chapter 804 of the Acts of 1965, the sum of two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000) be, and the same hereby is, appropriated from the additional license fees collected under said chapter 804.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations and Finance.

DISPLACED FROM URBAN RENEWAL AREAS

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1967.

The Honorable City Council.

Gentlemen:

Moving expenses of businesses displaced from urban renewal areas are currently being paid entirely with federal funds. Until August, 1965, reimbursement to any firm being displaced was limited by federal regulations to a maximum of $25,000. This limitation resulted in hardship to a number of firms whose expenses were well over $25,000.

In August, 1965, the federal government liberalized its regulations to provide for the payment of not only the entire first $25,000 of expenses, but also two thirds of the expenses over $25,000 if the local authorities would provide the other one third.

Chapter 121 of the Massachusetts General Laws has now been amended, effective December 1, 1966, by chapter 619 of the Acts of 1966, to authorize cities and towns to raise money for grants to their redevelopment authorities for the making of relocation payments by the authorities, to match available federal funds.

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has requested that the city make such a grant of funds to the Authority (see attached BRA letter). The Authority estimates that over the next few years, and going back to the date of liberalization of federal regulations, businesses displaced and to be displaced from Boston renewal projects will in the aggregate incur about $1,588,000 of moving expenses in excess of $25,000. The one third which would not be met by the federal government accordingly would be about $529,500.

In order to alleviate a hardship to many businesses, resulting from public actions, I recommend that the City Council raise $529,500 to be made available to the Boston Redevelopment Authority for the making of relocation payments under chapter 121 as recently amended by chapter 619 of the Acts of 1966. An appropriate form of loan order is enclosed for your consideration.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

BOSTON REDEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY.

January 5, 1967.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.

Re: Business Relocation Payments

Dear Mayor Collins:

As you know, a number of business firms displaced from renewal areas have in the past suffered a hardship because of the federal ceiling of $25,000 on reimbursement of moving expenses. Now Chapter 121 of the General Laws, as amended by chapter 619 of the Acts of 1966, together with new federal regulations adopted in August, 1965, for the first time provide a means by which such businesses can be reimbursed in full for moving expenses.

The new federal regulations provide for the Department of Housing and Urban Development to continue to pay the first $25,000 and to pay two thirds of the excess over $25,000 if the local authorities pay the other one third.

The Boston Redevelopment Authority very much hopes the City of Boston will provide funds to match the additional federal funds available and thereby to alleviate hardship to a substantial number of Boston business firms.

Starting with the date of the new federal regulations, August 12, 1965, we estimate that the moving expenses incurred and to be incurred by displaced businesses in excess of $25,000 will be roughly $1,588,000 in projects now in execution or advanced stages of planning, as follows:

Project	Total Cost in Excess of $25,000	Local Share
Castle Square.....	$35,000	$11,700
Charlestown.....	435,000	145,000
Fenway.....	135,000	45,000
Government Center.....	11,000	3,700
South Cove.....	50,000	16,700
South End.....	265,000	88,400
Waterfront.....	657,000	219,000
Total.....	$1,588,000	$529,500

We estimate that the funds would be expended as follows:

Year	Number of Firms	Amount
*1965.....	2	$6,450
1966.....	17	194,350
1967.....	26	213,350
1968.....	9	65,350
1969-1972.....	10	50,000
Total.....		$529,500

The new state law is broad enough to permit the Authority to reimburse not only moving expenses but also direct loss of property. However, federal regulations effectively limit the availability of federal funds to reimbursement for direct loss of property to claims under $3,000 and my recommendation is that we continue to adhere to the federal practice as to such losses. Therefore, the above estimates are for moving expenses only.

We would appreciate it if your Honor would originate a loan order in the amount of $529,500 and forward it to the City Council for its action.

Sincerely,

EDWARD J. LOGUE.

* Eligible for retroactive payment.

Ordered, That it be, and hereby is, estimated that, with respect to urban renewal projects which are now being undertaken or are expected to be undertaken in the near future, approximately five hundred thirty thousand dollars ($530,000) will be needed by the Boston Redevelopment Authority for the making of relocation payments as defined in section 26J of Chapter 121 of the General Laws, as amended, for purposes therein permitted for which reimbursement or compensation will not be made by the federal government or otherwise; and be it further Ordered, That under the provisions of the second paragraph of section 26CC of said Chapter 121, as amended, the sum of five hundred thirty thousand dollars ($530,000) be, and the same hereby is, appropriated and granted to the Boston Redevelopment Authority for the making of relocation payments by said Authority as defined in section 26J of said Chapter 121, as amended; and that to meet said appropriation, the Collector-Treasurer be, and he hereby is, authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Urban Renewal.

STATUS REPORT ON RECONSTRUCTION OF CENTRE STREET RAILROAD BRIDGE, WEST ROXBURY

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1967.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Traffic Commissioner with reference to your order of recent date, relative to the expediting of the Centre Street Railroad Bridge in West Roxbury.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.
City of Boston,
Traffic and Parking Department,
January 9, 1967.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

This is in reply to Blue memo dated January 3, 1967, relative to Council order of December 28, 1966, requesting report on reconstruction of the Centre Street Railroad Bridge, West Roxbury.

On January 5, 1967, I discussed the status of the contract to perform the reconstruction work on the bridge with Mr. James Fitzgerald, Supervisor of Construction for the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority.

Mr. Fitzgerald advised me on that date that the contract was awarded to A. P. Whittaker & Sons, Inc., 536 North Main street, Randolph, Mass., on December 13, 1966, and that the work is to be completed within 90 days from the date of notice of award.

Mr. Whittaker, Jr., of A. P. Whittaker & Sons, Inc., advised me over the telephone on January 5, 1967, that to date they have received no notice to when they will receive their shipment of steel which is needed to repair the bridge.

Respectfully submitted,
THOMAS F. CARTY,
Commissioner.

ESTABLISHING BOUND MARKS AND PLACING MARKERS AT BOUNDARY CORNERS

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, January 16, 1967.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Commissioner of Public Works with reference to your order of recent date relative to establishing bound marks and place permanent visible markers at those boundary corners having no markers or where markers are buried or otherwise not plainly visible, as recommended by the report of the Special Committee on Perambulation of the Boundary Lines between Boston and the adjacent cities and towns of Revere, Everett, Somerville, Newton, Brookline, Dedham, Milton, and Winthrop.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.
City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
January 9, 1967.

Albert Kramer,
Administrative Assistant.

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to following City Council order dated December 12, 1966:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to establish bound marks and place permanent visible markers at those boundary corners having no markers or where markers are buried or otherwise not plainly visible, as recommended by the report of the Special Committee on Perambulation of the Boundary Lines between Boston and the adjacent cities and towns of Revere, Everett, Somerville, Newton, Brookline, Dedham, Milton, and Winthrop.

The recent field perambulation of the periphery of the City of Boston with the committee from the City Council and representatives of the adjoining cities and towns clearly indicated the need for permanent markers to be set in various locations where they are now missing.

Permanent markers have to be replaced at Everett, Somerville, Winthrop, and Dedham town lines. Arrangements are being made, with the cooperation of the adjoining cities and towns and the State Public Works Department to replace these markers.

This entire operation will be completed by mid-summer.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. FLAHERTY, Commissioner.
Placed on file.

PLAN TO END POLLUTION OF CHARLES RIVER BASIN

Coun. FOLEY offered the following:

Whereas, Upon Tuesday, January 17, 1967, at 7.30 P.M., the Corps of Engineers of the U. S. Army will hold a hearing (the first of three) at the Kennedy Memorial Junior High School, Waltham;

Whereas, The Charles River has played an important role in the history of the City of Boston touching as it does the side of the city longest developed;

Whereas, British troops crossed the Charles River Basin to Cambridge en route to Concord and Lexington April 19, 1775;

Whereas, The City of Boston has rightly maintained its side of the Charles almost exclusively to residential use;

Whereas, There is in advanced planning a major improvement by the MDC of the locks at the mouth of the river;

Whereas, In the past ten to fifteen years the areas of historic Boston bounding on the Charles have become much more sought after than during the depression and war years and would become even more attractive should the pollution in the Charles River Basin be reduced or, hopefully, eliminated;

Whereas, In an historical period where the population is increasing rapidly, the preservation and improvement of a vast open space in an otherwise heavily built up urban area is a priceless value;

Whereas, Opportunities for development of Boston Harbor and the Boston Waterfront are obvious and should be coordinated with our thinking on the subject of the Charles River and Basin; be it therefore

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston urges the Corps of Engineers to work to end the pollution of the Charles River Basin and thereby restore its recreational value to the people who live in its vicinity; be it further

Resolved, That the City Council urges the Corps of Engineers look upon the Charles River, the Boston Waterfront, the Boston Harbor and the Neponset River Valley as one contiguous vast water recreational area at the very center of the Greater Boston Metropolitan area and develop far reaching plans accordingly.

Adopted under suspension of the rules.

Boston's Second Stellar Winterfest Opens Week-Long Programs, Feb. 19

Boston's second Winterfest—bigger, better, and more varied than that which marked the opening of the city's modern War Auditorium a year ago—opens on Sunday, February 19.

Once again the focus of the week-long civic-cultural program will be focused at the War Auditorium but many events will be held elsewhere in the city.

A year ago the Winterfest program set all kinds of new records particularly in the volume of crowds it drew from the metropolitan area and all New England and in the quality of the programs it offered.

Festival Chairman Eli Goldston predicts that the second edition will outdo last year's classic.

Eight seminars and work shops dealing with subjects as diverse as air pollution, middle-age health, and poetry will be part of the 1967 program.

The opening day seminar, scheduled for the Sheraton-Boston Hotel at 3.30 p.m., will treat "The Role of the Police as Viewed by the Community."

Eli Goldston released the following Winterfest seminar schedule:

Lower Mills to Get New Library Branch

Funds for a new $400,000 branch library replacing the present Lower Mills Branch of the Boston Public Library are included in the Capital Improvement budget Mayor John F. Collins recently submitted to the City Council. The present building on Washington street, Dorchester, has been part of the branch library system since 1883.

Among earlier occupants of the building were a police station and a bank.

In 4,000 square feet of space, permanently divided into several rooms, the current building houses a book collection of 17,000 volumes with a seating capacity for only 30 readers.

Plans for the new building call for a book collection of 26,000 volumes located in twice the present floor space, with reading room areas for adults, young adults, and children seating 120 readers.

There will be included in the new building an all-purpose room with seating for up to 75 people. Mayor Collins said the new building will make possible improved service to all age groups through the strengthened book collections and through its facilities for integrating the library's book-centered activities with community and group use.

According to current plans, the Mayor said, the new building will be erected on the site of the present building at the intersection of Washington, Morton, and Richmond streets in Dorchester.

John E. Clougherty Becomes Boston's New Fire Chief

Assistant Chief John E. Clougherty was sworn in on February 8 as Chief of the Boston Fire Department, succeeding the late James J. Flanagan. Ceremonies naming Clougherty as chief took place in the office of Mayor John F. Collins.

Chief Clougherty, who has been serving also as Civil Defense Director, is a veteran of 30 years' service with the Boston Fire Department. He was appointed to the department on July 16, 1937. With his promotion to lieutenant in 1945, his advancement was steady and certain attaining each next higher grade as he became eligible for promotion.

Recognized as an authority on fire prevention nationally, Chief Clougherty is currently the President of the Fire Marshals' Association of North America, an organization sponsored by the National Fire Protection Association dedicated to the problems of fire prevention on a national level.

A member of several of the committees charged with the responsibility of establishing fire protection and fire prevention standards worldwide, Chief Clougherty's practical and legal application of fundamentals of fire prevention has made him an especially valuable authority in his field.

His dedication to the premise that the best fire protection is fire prevention is reflected in the many sponsored research programs of the Boston Fire Department while he has been in charge of the Fire Prevention Division. During this period building fires on a yearly basis reached the all-time low for the past century of less than 2,000 fires. Fatalities from space heater fires become practically nonexistent as a result of the Fire Department's sponsored legislation based on research.

Mayor Praises Record

In announcing Chief Clougherty's appointment, Mayor Collins said:

"As an operational fire chief, Chief Clougherty's experience includes his being in active command at many of the large fires which have occurred in the City of Boston in the past 16 years.

"Gifted with an analytical mind, his appraisal of fire situations and his accurate handling of these emergencies has stood him in good stead, as evidenced by the successful handling of the Bellflower Street fire in Dorchester, the worst fire to beset the city since the Great Boston Fire in 1872.

"Chief Clougherty's tactics and strategy as Acting Chief of Department in coping with this fire successfully prevented an embryo conflagration from developing. Chief Clougherty is an experienced, seasoned fire chief, with a dedication that insures the safety of the public at all times."

A father of 14 children, his unswerving purpose was tragically jolted when in 1964 in taking command of a fire at which five Boston fire fighters were killed, he learned that his son, Robert, attached to Engine Company 3, was one of the victims. The Cloughertys are a fire fighting family, with father, uncles, brothers, and sons throughout the department.

Plate Transfer Law

"Many dealers and young persons purchasing automobiles are laboring under the misapprehension that they may transfer registration plates from one vehicle to another new vehicle for two days," Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin announced.

"Such a transfer may take place only, I repeat, only under very special circumstances:

1. The person doing the transferring must be 21 years of age or over.

2. He must intend to transfer the registration to the newly acquired vehicle.

3. The newly acquired vehicle must be of the same type, i.e., truck or passenger car and have the same number of wheels.

4. He must lose possession of his original vehicle.

5. The original registration plates must be attached to the new vehicle.

6. The operator of the new vehicle must carry an original copy of the Bill of Sale quoting the registration number or he must carry a Certificate of Transfer issued by the dealer on an approved form.

"If all of the above requirements are met, the newly acquired vehicle may display the registration from the transferred vehicle until five o'clock P.M. of the second Registry business day following the date of transfer within the same calendar year.

"With the automobile purchasing season nearly upon us, I am stressing this law so that no young persons will become innocent victims because of ignorance of the law and find themselves brought into court for being illegally on the highways."

JFK Politic Seminars

With the aid of a grant from Henry L. Shattuck, the Institute of Politics of the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University is expanding its program to include five seminars on local government and local political organization.

Mr. Shattuck, formerly a member of the Boston City Council and of the General Court of Massachusetts, and formerly Treasurer and Senior Fellow of Harvard, gave the University on last October 3 an endowment of $300,000 to establish a "Local Politics Fund" in the Institute of Politics.

Mr. Shattuck's purpose as expressed in his letter of gift is to encourage "the development of undergraduate interest and information concerning local government and local political organizations." This is a purpose enthusiastically shared by the Kennedy School's new Institute of Politics.

Executives Club Tour

The Executives Club of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce sponsored a reception and tour of Boston on February 16, for the 150 business executives attending Harvard University's Advanced Management Program.

Four buses with police escort toured the old and the new Boston where history recorded the first sound of the Revolution, the country's first public school, the first newspaper, railway, subway, the first ether operation and the world's first telephone call.

The student-executives, representing companies in the United States and foreign nations, are enrolled in a 13-week course. It is the 51st class in the program's 25-year history, according to Harold B. Van Gorder, assistant dean of Harvard's Graduate School of Business Administration.

The tour for the AMP executives is held twice each year by the Executives Club. It provides an opportunity for local business leaders to exchange ideas with their counterparts in other areas of the nation and the world.

NOT OLD ENOUGH

When R. Buckminster Fuller developed the radomes for the Distant Early Warning radar line, he was forced, because of arctic storms, to design a structure that could be erected in less than 20 hours with untrained Eskimos providing most of the labor. The challenge was successfully met and the radomes across the northern rim of our continent were assembled in an average time of 14 hours.

When the Museum of Modern Art held a one-man Fuller show, one of the radomes was displayed in the museum's garden. Because of the labor problems involved, it cost thousands of dollars and took over 30 days to erect the structure in New York City.

Park Commissioner
Opposes Fens Taking

Boston Parks and Recreation Commissioner John J. Tierney, Jr., has added his voice to those protesting a Legislative Study Commission's proposal of the Fens area as the site for a new sports stadium.

Mayor Collins said he still believed the South Station site would be the best location for a stadium. Earlier the Mayor proposed that the State Committee investigate the possibility of using land in West Roxbury for the stadium.

In his statement Tierney said:

"I am opposed to any use of the Fens park area, including our valuable Victory Gardens, as a stadium site, parking lot, or any other infringement which would remove this priceless 25-acre tract from our dwindling Boston legacy of open space and green land.

"Our Park Department has had a long history of opposition to concerted moves which would remove the unique Fens area as a recreational and gardening area for the refreshment and rest of Boston's citizens.

"Our departmental engineers, incidentally, have indicated to me that pile-driving construction costs in the Fens and Muddy River area, with bedrock at about 150 feet below the surface, would approach prohibitive financing levels, in fulfilling the needs of any mammoth stadium project."

In conclusion, Tierney said:

"I am an enthusiastic Red Sox fan, but I do not believe their quite serious space and parking problems should be solved at the expense of priceless park land.

"The State's Stadium Study Commission ought to take another hard look around the Route 128 area for a site. Here in Boston, we intend to continue to preserve and protect functional and recreational park land, when and wherever possible."

EMPLOYEES OF CITY OF BOSTON

BUILDING DEPARTMENT
Supervisor of Personnel.

DEAR SIR:

On September 23, 1964, William J. Kocen was appointed sprinkler inspector in this department after certification for permanent employment by the Division of Civil Service. Prior to this appointment Mr. Kocen was employed provisionally in the department, continuously from November 5, 1963. In addition he has prior service with the City of Boston Hospital, Public Works, and Library Departments, totaling in the aggregate, eight years, nine months, and twenty-eight days, in position classifications of plumber, incinerator maintenance repairman, and third-class stationary engineer.

Very truly yours,
DANIEL J. FINN,

City Hospital In Appeal For Volunteers In Many Helpful Work Fields

Mrs. Alice Lyons, assistant deputy commissioner, Community and Employees Communications at Boston City Hospital, has written the following letter appealing for volunteer workers at the hospital.

The letter appears in the current bulletin of the Friends of the Boston City Hospital but because of the great urgency of the need the appeal is reprinted in this issue of the City Record.

"The Boston City Hospital is seeking ways to improve the standard of health services it provides for an ever-growing number of patients," writes Mrs. Lyons.

"Faced with a critical nursing shortage at the hospital, we have instituted two programs which we hope will entice women back into this demanding and rewarding profession: we are offering a paid refresher course to former nurses and we have started a new school for licensed practical nurses.

"But personnel shortages still do exist in almost every department of the hospital and while we are trying to catch up with our personnel needs, we are very interested in finding volunteers. We believe that volunteers can serve in many ways to help free nurses from those peripheral chores which habitually take time away from their more vital nursing duties.

"All kinds of tasks may be done by volunteers: simple patient care and feeding, visiting with and reading to children, housekeeping, desk work (typing, filing, answering telephone) at the Blood Bank, Out-Patient Department, doctors' offices, assisting the social service workers, interpreting to Spanish speaking patients, doing technical laboratory work (a great opportunity for women who want to catch up on their field under medical school supervision), and so on.

"This institution has long been noted for its achievements in the fields of medical and scientific research, and is the only hospital in the city with all departments affiliated with one or more of the three medical schools of Harvard, Tufts, and Boston Universities. While many private hospitals have a large reserve of middle-income women who can and do give some of their leisure time as volunteers to their local hospitals, the Boston City Hospital, which serves so many of Boston's low-income families, has not this easy resource. The City Hospital clearly needs suburban help and interest as well as the concern of Boston residents. If a volunteer can give two or three hours or more each week to the hospital, she can be of great help to us. Meals are provided for volunteers at the hospital and a parking permit will be arranged where possible.

"Members who are interested should contact the Boston City Hospital Volunteer Office, Administration Building, 818 Harrison avenue (just a half mile up Massachusetts avenue beyond Symphony Hall), or telephone 424-5348 for further information.

"Thank you, in advance, for your help. If you have any questions or suggestions, please do not hesitate to telephone or write to us."

How High the Boom?

"How High the Boom?" is the title of a seminar to be sponsored on March 1 by a real estate group most involved in Boston's office building progress.

Boston's Building Owners and Managers Association will hold the morning seminar at the Hawthorne Room of the Parker House featuring a panel of its own professionals and as a special guest, Mayor John F. Collins, described in the meeting notice as "The man who generated so much of the activity in the 'New Boston.'"

The president of BOMA, George M. Lovejoy, Jr., Minot, DeBlois & Maddison, arranged the seminar and announced as panelists:

Arthur P. Wilcox, A. W. Perry, Inc., past president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, moderator.

Robert A. Pihlerantz, president of the Greater Boston Real Estate Board, a property manager, and partner in C. W. Whittier & Bro., who reorganized the successful Boston office building surveys.

William S. Ballard, W. H. Ballard Company, a nationally recognized real estate counselor, appraiser, and consultant.

Thomas M. Horan, president of Meredith & Grew, Inc., the broker who successfully assembled the parcels for one of downtown's biggest real estate transactions in recent history.

"Millions of square feet of office space have been added to the Boston inventory in the past five years," said Lovejoy, "and the purpose of the seminar is to review just what has happened and to take a look at what is likely to happen in the years immediately ahead."

According to Lovejoy, areas to be covered will include discussion of Boston's capacity to absorb additional office space, the impact of the building boom on the downtown rentals, the question of where the tenants are coming from, and the relation of the building boom to the economy of the city and the suburbs.

All members of BOMA and its parent organization, the Greater Boston Real Estate Board, are invited and may bring guests. However, reservations at $2 should be made because of limited capacity. The Hawthorne Room will open for coffee at 9.30 A.M., and the seminar will begin at 10 A.M.

Connors Voices C. of C. Rail Subsidy Objection

Following is a statement of Donald L. Connors, legislative counsel, Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, relative to House Bill 1024 providing for extension of interim commuter railroad service before the Legislative Committee on Transportation, February 6, 1967.

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce wishes to indicate its support for the extension of essential interim railroad passenger service in the Boston metropolitan area.

The Chamber has, however, serious reservation as to the MBTA program for continued railroad subsidy as represented in House No. 1024 and as outlined in a recent report to the Advisory Board to the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority.

Elements of the commuter railroad service do provide an important transportation service to areas not presently served by adequate mass transportation facilities. Cost and operating characteristics of this railroad service, however, call for its prompt replacement by mass transportation facilities at reasonable cost.

Money spent for continuation of railroad service at the existing and recommended subsidy level represents at some point a diversion of funds required for capital improvements and expansion of the MBTA rapid transit system.

The Chamber also recognizes that increased costs of operating MBTA facilities coupled with inequities in the present method of assessing the cost of commuter railroad service now represent a serious financial problem for cities and towns in the rapid transit district. In view of the problems posed by extension of railroad commuter services, the Chamber specifically urges the Committee on Transportation to seek:

1. More precise description of funds to be expended in providing railroad service in the four-year interim period (MBTA report indicates a range of service costs between $13.8 and $21.8 million).

2. Clear indication of steps which the MBTA can take to reduce or terminate the requirements for state and local financial assistance for the subsidy program (e.g., increased fares, substitute service, etc.)

3. Accelerated planning and decision-making on the form which mass transportation facilities will take beyond the interim railroad subsidy program.

These suggested actions will undoubtedly require an extended effort on behalf of the MBTA, but the necessity to conserve funds and thereby achieve the maximum investment in development of mass transportation facilities is critical for the Boston metropolitan area's program of balanced transportation services.

Winterfest Start

The Visitor Information Booth at Boston Common was the scene of Winterfest opening day ceremonies on February 19. A number of advance activities, including the appearance of Crystal Ibsen, the official 'Miss Winnie Fest' was on hand.

The famous ride of Paul Revere was reenacted with the modern cry of "Winterfest is here—all roads lead to Boston." The ride started at the Booth on the Common and proceeded via Massachusetts avenue to Cambridge and the residence of Eli Goldston, Winterfest Chairman, at 7 Acacia street.

Over 80,000 visitors have been assisted by attendants at the Information Booth since its opening in September of last year. It is expected that Winterfest crowds and major national conventions such as the American Legion, NAACP, National League to Cities, and the Data Processing Management Association will increase the activities at the booth appreciably.

NOT OLD ENOUGH

When R. Buckminster Fuller developed the radomes for the Distant Early Warning radar line, he was forced, because of arctic storms, to design a structure that could be erected in less than 20 hours with untrained Eskimos providing most of the labor. The challenge was successfully met and the radomes across the northern rim of our continent were assembled in an average time of 14 hours.

When the Museum of Modern Art held a one-man Fuller show, one of the radomes was displayed in the museum's garden. Because of the labor problems involved, it cost thousands of dollars and took over 30 days to erect the structure in New York City.

Hospital . . .

Recently during a meeting of the Friends, Dr. John A. Merritt, physician-in-charge of the BCH Blood Bank, presented a short history of the Blood Bank program and paid tribute to those who had started it and had kept it in existence. Mrs. Callahan, president, cited it as a volunteer activity started in January of 1950 by the Friends of the Boston City Hospital. Statistics show that through the efforts of this service, 2,491 donors were obtained in the year 1952.

Dr. Merritt, in his presentation, brought an enthusiastic and attentive audience up to date on the Blood Bank program of today. A few years ago, transfusion was only of whole blood, including plasma white cells and unnecessary factors (to some cases) some even dangerous.

New methods are now being used which can separate or concentrate different factors of blood. It is now possible to concentrate and to store certain factors needed for difficult cases. The method for packing red blood cells is just now beginning to be used. It has proved very helpful. Today, plasma, may be removed, then divided and factors needed, as the red blood cells, may be returned to the patient. Plasma from normal donors can be tailored for hemophiliacs. Within the next few years, it will be possible to separate white blood cells.

It is now possible to freeze red blood cells without destroying. Of immense importance is this accomplishment to the military. Rare types of blood may be stored for usage and it is hoped that soon frozen blood will be available during the "seasonal slump" in blood donors.

Shortage of blood, however, has increased. Red Cross has always been generous and more than cooperative but the demand remains greater than the supply. Doctors ask for our increasing support in obtaining donors. Dr. Merritt informed the members that statistics note over 10,000 transfusions a year. Dr. Leon R. Lezer and Dr.

Merritt have met with Mrs. Callahan and new plans have been formulated to assist in this program. Hereafter, all visitors to the hospital will be presented a flyer explaining the Blood Bank Program. This to be presented in both Spanish and English.

A volunteer will be stationed in Administration Building (first floor foyer) to give Blood Donor Information, to maintain files of donors.

Volunteers on the Accident Floor, where there is a large reservoir of donors, have been given permission to approach the relative or friend of acutely ill patient so that the supply of blood may be replaced that is so badly needed.

Here are some statistics concerning BCH:

1. Boston City Hospital cares for a total of about 35,000 patients per year.

2. Approximately 3,900 births per year occur at the hospital.

3. On a busy day the accident floor at Boston City Hospital may see as many as 600 patients. Average daily figure for the year is 486.

4. Approximately one half of the patients admitted to Boston City Hospital for treatment are suffering from diseases of the heart and blood vessels, according to staff at the hospital's Heart Station (division of the Thorndike Laboratory) which is pioneering work in this field.

5. Approximately 1,800-2,000 patients per day are seen in the Out-Patient Clinics at BCH.

Chamber Booklet Lists Coming Hub Conventions

The 1967 edition of "Conventions in the Many Worlds of Boston" was distributed this week to members of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce for their exclusive use, according to an announcement by John K. Benson, Chairman of the Chamber's Convention and Visitors Bureau.

The 28-page book shows the convention dates, name and address of the contact responsible for the group, headquarters hotel and estimated attendance of conventions and trade shows scheduled to meet in Boston from 1967 through 1975.

"We can now point with pride to the position Boston holds as a major convention city. The Convention and Visitors Bureau in spite of its relatively low budget (ranked 26th in the nation) now ranks tenth in the country in convention dollar volume," said Benson.

"Future conventions will bring approximately $123 million into the community. The convention book has proven to be a valuable sales aid for the many member firms who benefit from convention business," Benson added.

"Contrary to popular belief, the hotels and restaurants are not the only businesses benefiting from the convention dollar—retail stores, taxis, food purveyors, gift shops, laundries, electricians, florists, and many other segments of business also show gains. General employment, in the many areas of service, is greatly stimulated by convention groups coming to our city," Benson stated.

Chamber President Frank S. Christian said: "This is the second year in which all future conventions to be held in Boston have exceeded the $100 million mark. In 1966 Boston realized over $30 million—this year, the value of convention business will exceed $34 million."

"This sizeable increase over previous years, indicates that Boston is attracting more and larger conventions due to improved facilities and extensive sales activities of the Chamber's Convention and Visitors Bureau," Christian added.

NOT IN THE BOOKS

A young married man had read all the psychoanalytic and religious self-help books on how to adjust to life, marriage, and to other difficulties. His young wife, who had tried to live up to the precepts in all these books, one day rebelled. "Now that we've found real happiness," she said, "couldn't we have some fun, too?"

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the award of contracts, without public advertising, based on the following communications:

SUFFOLK COUNTY COURT HOUSE

REPAIRS TO ELEVATOR SHAFT FIRE WALLS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

It is respectfully requested that your Honor approve of our selection of Stoco Engineering Corporation, Turnpike road, Canton, Mass., as engineers for the preparation of plans and specifications for, and the supervision of construction of, proposed repairs to the elevator shaft fire walls at the Suffolk County Court House, Annex Building, Pemberton square, Boston, Mass. The total estimated cost of the construction is $150,000.

We also request your Honor's authorization to dispense with public advertising in the award of the contract. The engineer's preliminary basic fee is taken from the "A" rate of Boston's 1966 Fee Schedule for Engineers and based upon an estimated cost of construction of $150,000 shall be at 8.475 percent of said estimated cost of construction. The engineer's final basic fee, however, shall be founded upon the actual total construction cost of the work and the fee present applicable to as determined by the Boston 1966 Fee Schedule for Engineers which shall be set forth in the contract, provided, nevertheless, that in no event shall the maximum liability of the city under the terms of the proposed contract, as of the date of its execution, including presently estimated expenditures of $1,500 for supplementary services by the engineer, exceed in the aggregate the sum of $13,116.

In our opinion, since the proposed contract is to be for the performance of professional services, a public solicitation for bids would therefore serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully yours,

ANGUS GRIFFIN, Chairman.

SENTIMENTAL GUY

In Coventry, England, a man called at the Citizens' Advice Bureau and asked to have his wife traced. It transpired that they had parted three days after their wedding nearly 25 years before, and hadn't seen each other since. Asked whether he was thinking of a divorce, the man replied, "Oh, no. I was just thinking it would be nice to get together to celebrate our silver wedding anniversary."

Inspection Patrols To Check City Services

Boston has expanded its new program of "roving inspection patrols" by department heads to guarantee that city facilities and property have no defects and that the quality of city services is maintained or improved.

The new plan was initiated last week in the wake of a northeaster snowstorm which dumped 10 inches of snow on Boston.

During that period, department heads toured the city to assure that all streets were plowed and passable. The result, most people agreed, was one of Boston's best snow clearing efforts in recent history.

Mayor John F. Collins in a letter to department heads has outlined the new inspection service as follows:

"In a city as large as Boston, defects in city facilities and property often exist without being reported. In many cases, repairs or replacements can be made at little or no expense, thereby adding to the attractiveness and utility of the city.

"In order to correct such conditions by identifying and rapidly reporting defects, this office is now operating a roving inspection vehicle. Operators of the inspection service will report daily the results of their inspections throughout the city on a standard report form, a copy of which is enclosed.

"This office will process the reports and forward a copy for immediate action to the appropriate city department. You are directed to delegate the responsibility for receiving these reports and taking appropriate action on them to an individual in your office with the authority necessary for prompt action.

"It is further directed that your office return a copy of each report to the Mayor's office within 15 days with a description of the action taken, or if no action has been taken, the reasons therefor together with your recommendation.

"Based on the experience accumulated with this trial effort, planning is now under way to expand the inspection service in such a way as to involve operating department heads directly. Although final details are not yet complete, the elements of the plan are as follows:

1. The city will be divided geographically into an appropriate number of inspection districts.

2. Operating departments will provide sufficient vehicles for the patrol of one or more districts periodically on regular basis.

3. Each department head will make a personal inspection of assigned districts at regular intervals.

"As soon as details of the plan are completed, you will receive further instructions.

"It is anticipated that the inspection service will add much to the quality of city services which our citizens have a right to expect. Your utmost cooperation will assure its success."

BCH Visiting Hours

Evening visiting hours at Boston City Hospital are now from 7 P.M. to 8 P.M.

Dr. Andrew Sackett, director of Health and Hospitals, said the change from the old hours (6 P.M. to 7 P.M.) to the new visiting hours was made for the convenience of patients and visitors alike in that it would not interfere with their evening meal.

The afternoon visiting hour at the hospital, 2 P.M. to 3 P.M., remains the same.

NO GAS STATION

Turkish President Cemal Gursel beamed with pride as he roared away from Ankara's parliament building in the first auto ever made in Turkey, with a chauffeur at the wheel. A scant 100 yards later, Gursel's smile froze as the engine coughed and died. "We made this car with the Western part of our minds," he berated the chauffeur, "but with the Oriental part we forgot to put gasoline in it."

SCIENCE MUSEUM BREAKS GROUND FOR MULTIMILLION-DOLLAR EXPANSION

Ground was broken on Monday, February 27, for the first building in a multimillion-dollar construction program which will enlarge the present size of Boston's Museum of Science and ultimately provide necessary space for double the present half-million annual visitors.

The building, spanning the sluiceway at the Cambridge end of Science Park on the Charles River Basin, will be a combination garage and service facility. Initially, it will consist of one floor and a roof deck. When this work is completed next fall, the garage will house up to 300 cars.

Once opened, this building will free the present parking lot adjacent to the Museum, to permit construction on that site of an urgently needed 350-foot long, three-story West Wing.

Every Year A Record

Space, both inside for exhibit halls and lecture rooms and outside for parking, is a vital need of the popular Museum, which has been annually breaking attendance records ever since it opened 16 years ago.

Anyone who visited the Museum during the recent vacation week can readily appreciate the problem. School vacation weeks, weekends, and the summer tourist season find the Museum bursting at the seams. Unfortunately at peak times carloads of disappointed people are being repeatedly turned away for lack of room.

"The demand on our services right at this moment," says Museum of Science Director Bradford Washburn, "is double what we are able to provide. However, with the new West Wing expansion we will have a flexible, modern plant, more nearly adapted to the size and needs of the Boston and New England community."

To pay for its expansion program, the Museum is conducting an $8 million fund-raising campaign, of which about half has been raised to date. For the remainder, it is counting on the many science- and education-oriented organizations and industries in the area as well as popular support from all over New England.

While only two floors are planned at present for the garage structure, its foundation will be strong enough to support up to five floors of parking. New floors, to a total maximum capacity of 900 cars, will be added as the need develops.

The Aberthaw Construction Company, which is doing the work, anticipates that some pilings may have to go as deep as 120 feet to reach bed rock. They will be driven both on the land on either side of the sluiceway and in the sluiceway itself, to support the edifice. There will be a 4-foot clearance between the water level and the bottom of the steel and post-tensioned concrete construction.

The first floor will be 16 feet high, to accommodate the buses that bring more than 100,000 school children from all over Massachusetts to the Museum annually, under a joint state- and MDC-sponsored program.

At a later date, carpenter and maintenance shops, exhibits-preparation shops, and lecture rooms will be incorporated into the structure.

The new garage is being built on land contiguous to Science Park formerly used by the Metropolitan District Commission as a maintenance yard. It was recently turned over to the Museum by the MDC in exchange for a new maintenance garage built by the Museum on Museum-owned land located on the banks of the nearby Lechmere Canal in Cambridge.

Engineering and architectural design of the garage and West Wing is a joint venture by the firms of E. Verner Johnson, Architect, Inc., and Charles A. Maguire Associates, Engineers.

$100,000 Storm

Public Works Commissioner John F. Flaherty said a sneak storm which deposited 7 inches of snow over Boston on February 23 cost the city an estimated $100,000 for plowing and removal efforts.

Commissioner Flaherty said that public and private plows were put into use throughout the night and as a result, all streets were reported in excellent condition by early February 24.

At the same time, Commissioner Flaherty called upon all home owners and property owners to please shovel their walks. He said the city is doing its part of the job but must have the cooperation of residents and business owners to make all public ways safe.

Dr. Thomas J. Giblin

Dr. Thomas J. Giblin, 75, of 18 Kirkland Circle, Wellesley Hills, a member of the dental profession for more than 50 years and a long-time member of the Boston City Hospital died on February 21.

He maintained offices at 476 Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay, and had been active in his office up until last Friday, February 17.

A native of Boston, he had attended Boston College High School and was graduated from Harvard Dental School in 1912. In 1942, he was elected a fellow of the American College of Dentists.

In 1960 the Guild of St. Apollonia honored Dr. Giblin in recognition of his efforts in founding the Guild which is composed of dentists who supervise dental care for Catholic parochial school pupils. He was a past president and treasurer of the Guild for 40 years.

Testimonials were received at the time from Cardinal Cushing, Cardinal Spellman, Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, Bishop Wright, Mayor John F. Collins, and Governor Foster Furcolo.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Catherine (O'Shea) Giblin; two sons, Dr. Thomas J., Jr., and Gerrard A. Giblin, all of Wellesley; three sisters, Mrs. George H. Salloway of Scarsdale, N. Y., Sr. Maria Constance of St. Margaret's Convent, Dorchester, and Miss Mary Giblin of Boston, and nine grandchildren.

Spring Sky Stars

Winter weary?

Then you'll be interested in the one-night-only, star-studded preview of spring planned by the Hayden Planetarium at Boston's Museum of Science.

Called "Stars of the Spring Sky," it is scheduled for 8 p.m., Tuesday, March 14.

A fascinating introduction to the springtime stars, constellations, and planets, the one-hour program also includes a fanciful review of celestial myths and legends, a discussion of solar and lunar eclipses, and close-up views of the moon as seen from the U. S. Lunar Orbiter satellite.

Primary purpose of the program, however, is to point out special sky features of the upcoming months.

Using the planetarium's unique Korkosz projector, the lecturer will call attention to such heavenly signs of spring as the constellations Leo the lion, Cancer the crab, Gemini the twins, and Virgo the goddess of justice. A special planetarium effect superimposes the outlines of these constellations over the stars themselves, making identification easier for the novice sky-watcher.

An ideal opportunity to brush up on star-gazing techniques, "Stars of the Spring Sky" is a family program (children over 8). Admission is $1 for adults and 50c for children through 16. This fee is payable at the door the night of the program.

Brighton Road Race

The Brighton Knights Athletic Association are holding their second annual ten-mile road race through the streets of Allston-Brighton the afternoon of Saturday, March 11, at 2 p.m., from the Municipal Building, Chestnut Hill avenue, Brighton Center.

That same evening the Association is holding its third annual sports banquet at the Elks Lodge, 326 Washington street, Brighton Center. The guests at the banquet will be headed by Bobby Orr of the Boston Bruins, and Jim Lang, radio announcer of the Bruins games.

4th Refresher Course

Miss Catherine Tuxbury, Acting Director of Nursing Services at Boston City Hospital, announced that the fourth refresher course for nurses who have not practiced the profession for some time began at the hospital on February 27 and will continue through March 30.

Miss Alice E. Travers, Coordinator of In-Service Nursing Education at Boston City Hospital, is director of the program. Nurses taking the course will be paid at the rate of $2.60 per hour.

Of the retired nurses who have taken previous refresher courses at the hospital, 53 have come out of retirement and stayed on to help in the nursing needs at the hospital. Most are working on an hourly part-time basis.

Dr. Andrew P. Sackett, Commissioner of Health and Hospitals, said that hospital officials were very much pleased with the results of the previous three refresher courses. "Nurses who have come out of retirement," said Dr. Sackett, "have gone into areas of the hospital where they were most needed." "We look forward," he continued, "to equally encouraging results from this fourth refresher course."

Miss Tuxbury said, "We are offering the fourth course as a means of promoting people to become interested in working at our hospital. We are asking nurses who have been away from the profession for various reasons such as getting married, raising a family, etc., to come to this refresher course for four weeks and then, when they complete the course, hopefully we expect them to come and work at Boston City Hospital—even on an hourly part-time basis if that is all they can manage."

Miss Travers said that nurses taking the course will be brought up to date in such areas as the metric system and the usage of new equipment. She emphasized that the classroom teaching will be coordinated with clinical practice so that the nurses can put into effect the theory they are relearning in the classroom.

BCH Cell Study

Two Boston City Hospital medical scientists announced on February 23 that as a result of a long-term research project that has been under way at BCH they have proposed, on the basis of preliminary data, a theory of cell division which differs in fundamental respects from the views generally held.

Dr. Milton R. Okun, Associate Director of the Dermatology Laboratory of the hospital, and Dr. Leon M. Edelstein, Instructor in Dermatology at the hospital, both on the staff of Tufts University Medical School, revealed that the essence of their theory is as follows: In addition to the well-known process whereby two cells form from one cell by complete division (mitosis), whole new cells can also arise from small portions of the original cell's nucleus. The term they proposed for this process is subdivisive growth.

Doctors Okun and Edelstein have based their theory on motion picture observations of living cells of mammals—both normal cells and cancerous cells. In these studies they noted (1) the formation of a stalk from nuclear components which detaches to form what appears to be a new cell; (2) a similar process in which the nuclear component evolves into an apparently complete cell, but in which the surrounding cellular material progressively deteriorates; (3) the accumulation of multiple spherical bodies within a nucleus, which eventually emerge to form structures resembling the surrounding cells of the culture.

They believe that subdivisive growth can occur in many ways, and have outlined two mechanisms which they have observed: (a) subdivisive replication, in which new cells form from nuclear components and emerge as separate entities, and (b) subdivisive structure formation, in which new cells form from nuclear components while the surrounding cell remains and changes into a membraneous envelope.

The implications of this theory are numerous. Doctors Okun and Edelstein suggest that a hierarchy of subdivisive structure formations may help explain the way the anatomical parts of an organism develop. If this theory is correct, it will also influence current genetic concepts. Citing further motion picture evidence which they have accumulated, Doctors Okun and Edelstein suspect that nuclear components can migrate from one cell to another, a phenomenon which may have bearing on relationships between adjacent tissues.

Dr. Okun first conceived this idea several years ago while examining microscopic slides of malignant melanomas. In these slides he observed large cells containing nuclei, fully formed cells and transitional structures. This led him to suspect that cells could develop within cells. Last November time-lapse cinematographic equipment was acquired, allowing direct visualization of the suspected phenomena.

Dr. Edelstein, who was an American Cancer Society Fellow in the Tissue Culture Section of the Department of Biochemistry at Brandeis University, purified the mouse melanoma strain used in this study.

Additional studies to further investigate the possibilities mentioned are in progress at Boston City Hospital.

A report of this work has been submitted for presentation at the meeting of the American Tissue Culture Association, and will appear in their journal.

This study was supported by grants from Boston City Hospital, the Medical Foundation (Boston), and the United States Public Health Service.

Hero Marine Honored

A request from the friends of a Marine who was killed in Vietnam last week resulted March 1 in an order by Mayor John Collins ordering all flags be flown at half-staff on municipal buildings in Dorchester for the remainder of the week.

Marine Pfc. Mark M. McLaughlin, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. McLaughlin of 32 Bradlee street, Dorchester, was killed in action February 19 near Da Nang.

Mayor Collins said his office received several requests from buddies of the popular Dorchester youth asking if the city could fly the flag at half-staff in Dorchester in tribute to McLaughlin.

The Mayor said that beginning sunrise Wednesday, March 1, and continuing through Sunday, March 5, police stations, fire stations, and municipal buildings in Dorchester would fly flags at half-staff.

Mayor Collins, "in expressing deepest sympathy" to the McLaughlin family said, "We are saddened by the death of Mark McLaughlin and we pray his sacrifice will be long remembered and respected by the people for whom he fought."

McLaughlin graduated from Hyde Park High School last June after starring as a tackle on the football team for three years and as a member of the swimming team. He had been active in St. Leo's CYO activities in Dorchester prior to entering the service. He completed his basic training at Parris Island, South Carolina, last July, and had arrived in Vietnam on December 10.

Besides his parents he leaves four brothers, John H., Jr., Raymond M., Philip B., and Richard T., U.S.N.; and five sisters, Jane M., Regina M., and Mrs. Marjorie Picot of Quincy, and Mrs. Barbara Connors of Hanover.

Roving Checks

Mayor Collins' office announced that "roving inspection patrols" will roam assigned areas of the city to check on municipal services and note defects or needed repair of facilities and property.

The Mayor, in a letter to all city department heads, said they must handle all complaints forwarded by the roving patrols and note within 15 days in a report to the Mayor's office what follow-up actions were taken.

He also ordered department heads to make personal inspections of all assigned districts at regular intervals. He said the roving inspection idea proved successful on a trial basis, and now is being expanded city-wide.

Fenway Renewal Fund

The Federal Housing and Urban Development has approved the 507-acre Fenway Urban Renewal Project and has allocated a grant of $9,370,943 to the Boston Redevelopment Authority to carry out the project.

The federal action was announced by Congressman John W. McCormack, House Speaker, of South Boston, and U.S. Senator Edward Kennedy.

The renewal plan, which has received approval from the Mayor and the City Council, comprises the area adjacent to the Back Bay and includes the heart of the city's major medical and educational institutions. It still must receive approval from the state Commerce Department's Urban Renewal Division.

It anticipates public and private construction investments totaling about $125 million with a prime rebuilding job scheduled to be the privately financed $70 million church-housing-commercial development by the Christian Science Church.

The latter development, adjacent to the Prudential Center, already has begun with demolition of church-owned buildings along Huntington avenue and Belvidere street, near the Mother Church.

The approval of the Fenway plan will enable the city to strengthen the church's development with public improvements. These would include widening of Massachusetts avenue and provisions for a landscaped median strip and improved street lighting.

The plan emphasizes rehabilitation of about 80 percent of the existing structures in the Fenway and also calls for construction of 4,000 new middle and upper-middle income housing.

The project area excludes both the Mission Hill area which had expressed vehement opposition to the renewal plan, and the St. Botolph Street section.

Other features of the plan:

Development opportunities over air rights of Inner Belt that may include a new Museum of Fine Arts school.

Widening of Longwood avenue and Massachusetts avenue.

Demolition of Police Station 16 and the adjacent fire station on Boylston street to make way for a new office building.

Expansion programs by various medical and educational institutions located within the project area. Besides the Christian Science Church they include Northeastern University, Harvard Medical School, Children's Medical Center, Emmanuel College, and Wentworth Institute.

Realignment of Parker street, Westland avenue, and Hemenway street, to intersect with major thoroughfares at right angles.

The proposed plan area roughly includes sections from the Prudential Center west to the Brookline town line, and from the mainline of the New Haven Railroad north to Newbury street and Park Drive.

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 2

To All Department Heads.

GENTLEMEN:

Chapter III of the Acts of 1951 provides that every officer and employee in charge of a department of the city or county shall, on or before the fifth of February in each year, prepare and furnish to the City Auditor a list of the officials and employees under said officer or board and paid by the city or county on the first day of February preceding, giving the name, residence by street and ward, designation, compensation, date of election or appointment of each of said officials and employees, and the date when each first entered the employ of the city or county. The blanks, when prepared, should indicate not only the names of those persons receiving compensation on departmental payrolls as of February 1, 1967, but also those serving in an honorary position without salary. Names of persons on leaves of absence without pay should not be listed.

In order to facilitate compliance with the provisions of this law, uniform blanks have been prepared to be used by every department making the return required. The list must be forwarded in duplicate to the office of the City Auditor. Sufficient blanks will be furnished to allow for a third copy, to be retained by the department if so desired.

Under the column listed as "Designation" on the blank to be filled out, the title now listed under the Compensation and Classification Plan must be used.

The preparation of this list and summary is a matter of considerable importance and should command your personal attention. The addresses listed should be the current addresses as of February 1, 1967.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 3

To All Department Heads and Employees.

The progress being made in the fight against cancer is most worthy of the attention and support of all. Research and accomplishment indicate that the strides being made toward ultimate success must be further supplemented by the necessary funds in this all out effort.

Accordingly, the Massachusetts Chapter of the American Cancer Society, are again calling upon us to participate in the Annual Drive for Funds. I know that the employees and officials of the various municipal departments recognize the need of further concentrated effort and that contributions will be generous.

I have designated Arthur G. Coffey, Director of Administrative Services Department, as Chairman for the City Employees Group, and I will appreciate the usual good cooperation of all officials and employees.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

NO MINI KILTS

The Scottish Bagpipe Band of Hong Kong is 100 percent Chinese—and modest. Says its leader: "We play the music, we imitate the Scottish style of marching—but we simply cannot wear the kilt. We Chinese are far too shy."

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 4

To All Department Heads.

GENTLEMEN:

At this time, I would like you to forward to my office and Mr. S. J. Messina, the name, address, home and office telephone number of the individual whom you have selected to carry out your liaison and operational responsibilities.

As mentioned in my letter of January 21, he must have the authority necessary to take prompt and positive action on complaints submitted.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

Truck Brakes Law

Possibility that the truck manufacturing industry may be unable to comply with the Massachusetts law requiring dual brakes on hydraulic braked vehicles became apparent in Boston at a meeting between officials of the Automobile Manufacturers Association and the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

The manufacturers representatives stated that they had not had timely notice of the Massachusetts statute which was enacted in August, 1965, and becomes effective for the 1968 model year.

Engineers representing the association stated that the problem was in development of a dual braking system with sufficient capacity to brake vehicles weighing in excess of five tons and sought Registry assistance in obtaining amendment to exclude the heavy trucks and buses from the dual braking requirement.

Registrar McLaughlin declined to intervene or to offer hope that the Massachusetts law would be amended. He said, "The dual braking system law allowed the industry two years of lead time to provide the required braking systems for the 1968 models."

McLaughlin pointed out that industry representatives had been intimately involved in the drafting and revision of the new law at every step of the process and that there was in his judgment no reasonable excuse for delay in developing the required system which, he said, is now required by federal regulation for all passenger cars effective in January, 1968.

McLaughlin said, "We want double brakes—not double standards. It is absurd to require dual brake systems for light weight passenger vehicles and, in the same breath, to say that these are not essential to public safety in the case of the juggernauts of the highway."

Meat Men in So. Bay

The meat purveyors to New England hotels-motels and restaurants have found a new home in Boston's South Bay area near the new market district. The purveyors are located for the most part at Faneuil Hall now, but are being evicted by urban renewal.

Duncan Cotting, vice-president of Bolton Smart Company, declared at the last meeting of the New England Association of Meat Purveyors that the new area provides all rail facilities needed by the industry. When construction is completed, he noted, there will be eight separate buildings for the purveyors, including a 22 multi-occupancy structure with an outside platform joining all units. The purveyors are expected to move to the new district within two years.

Mayor Announces Recognition of Unions Representing City Employees

Mayor John F. Collins announced on March 1 the city has recognized two major AFL-CIO unions to represent more than 8,000 employees.

Mayor Collins' announcement came in the wake of an agreement between the two unions to respect each other's jurisdiction. Union officials also told the Mayor they would endeavor to promote increased employee efficiency and improvement in the quality of public service.

The two unions, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) and Building Service Employees International Union (BSEIU), will represent employees basically by department, with separate units for professional employees and also for employees historically represented by a particular union.

Union executive Michael Botelho of the AFSCME in commenting on the union-city agreement said: "In one bold stroke the Mayor has cleared the logjam of lengthy proceedings before the state Labor Board and paved the way for collective bargaining throughout the city. He has thus avoided the time-consuming piecemeal negotiations which could have left major segments of city employees unrepresented for months or years."

"This is one of the most significant steps ever taken by any mayor in the area of collective bargaining," Botelho added.

Breakdown By Unit

The breakdown of the bargaining units to be represented by each union is as follows:

A. Park Department. All nonprofessional employees to be represented by AFSCME, except recreation instructors to be represented by BSEIU.

B. Public Works Department. All nonprofessional employees to be represented by AFSCME except bridgetenders and employees of the Water Division to be represented by BSEIU.

C. Department of Health and Hospitals. All nonprofessional employees to be represented by AFSCME except technicians (not including inhalation therapists) at Boston City Hospital to be represented by BSEIU.

D. Police Department. All civilian employees in the maintenance section to be represented by AFSCME; all other civilian employees to be represented by BSEIU.

E. Fire Department. All civilian employees to be represented by AFSCME.

B.U. Hosts Young Adult Birth Defects Meeting

An impressive team of medical and social personalities is set to take the March of Dimes' case against Birth Defects to New England youth at Boston University on March 11. Invitations have been sent to high school and college leaders throughout the six-state region.

The program, to start at 10.30 A.M. at B. U.'s Sargent College of Allied Health Professions, will present the medical and social aspects of society's greatest health threat to children—indeed the second greatest destroyer of life in America today.

The avowed purpose of the seminar is twofold: to inform and educate these young leaders about Birth Defects and what is being done in this rapidly growing field of interest, and through these leaders to reach a generation on the threshold of adult life. Of special interest will be an appearance by Dr. Virginia Apgar, Director, Division of Congenital Malformations Research for the March of Dimes.

Dr. Apgar is the creator of the celebrated "Apgar Score," a clinical evaluation within 60 seconds after birth to determine a baby's over-all condition (termed "Apgar-ski" where it is used in the Soviet Union). Dr. Apgar will speak concerning the causes and prevention of congenital Birth Defects.

- F. Library Department, Welfare Department, Traffic Department. All nonprofessional employees to be represented by AFSCME.
- G. Building Department. All nonprofessional employees to be represented by AFSCME except wire inspectors.

- I. Real Property Department and City Hall Unit. All nonprofessional employees to be represented by BSEIU.

Steam firemen and stationary engineers, as well as employees of the Printing Section of the Administrative Services Department, are excluded from the above units as they are represented separately by other unions.

Bargaining agents for AFSCME were: James Broyer, International Vice-President; Michael Botelho, International Union Area Director; Joseph D. Santoro, President, District Council No. 45. The BSEIU was represented by: Thomas J. Kennedy, President, Local 285; George R. Byrne, Executive Vice-President, Local 285; Matthew L. McGrath, International Representative.

Model City Meeting

Mayor John F. Collins met on February 25 with Department Heads, School Superintendent Ohrenberger, and the Directors of the Boston Redevelopment Authority and ABCD to initiate data collection for Boston's "Model City" area.

The area tentatively designated for inclusion in Boston's application for federal assistance is comprised of the Grove Hall area of Dorchester, Roxbury-North Dorchester, Madison Park, Highland Park, Egleston Square, and includes all of Franklin Park.

Under regulations of the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, Boston's application must be filed by May 1.

Mayor Collins stressed that all city departments involved must begin gathering information for the application immediately and, in addition, begin data collection for the upgrading of the area.

The Mayor said, "If Boston is successful in its application the city can expect to receive between 10 and 20 million dollars of additional federal money as a result of the 'Model City Program' which was enacted by the Congress in 1966."

Mayor Praises Work of Rescue

Agencies in Charlestown El Crash

Mayor John F. Collins, notified of the City Square Elevated train crash in Charlestown, March 7, immediately expressed his concern for the victims of the crash and directed that all resources of the city's public safety agencies be made available for rescue and hospitalization duties.

Throughout the morning, the Mayor remained in constant contact with those in charge of operations at the scene and with the Boston City and Massachusetts General Hospitals.

"I wish to thank everyone who participated in meeting this severe emergency," the Mayor said.

"I believe that it is particularly noteworthy that the mobilization of police, fire, and ambulance services under the most adverse weather conditions was carried out with utmost speed and efficiency. The accident occurred at a time when most public safety components were heavily preoccupied with handling peak traffic conditions in one of the most dangerous storms of the current winter.

"I extend my appreciation to all those who helped in carrying out the rescue work with such cool dispatch and efficiency.

"I wish to compliment particularly, the members of the Boston Police and Fire Departments, the Metropolitan District Police, the Boston Ambulance Service, and the cities of Cambridge, Somerville, Everett, Chelsea, Malden, and the Chelsea Naval Hospital.

"The Boston Police Department, within minutes, had 14 ambulance service vehicles on the scene. Ambulances and emergency vehicles were quickly made available by our neighboring cities and the Chelsea Naval Hospital.

"To the personnel at the Boston City Hospital and the Massachusetts General Hospital, I extend my gratitude.

"Under the conditions that were prevalent, it was most difficult to keep traffic lanes open to the hospitals. An excellent piece of work was done in opening those lanes and keeping them open.

"It was an example of rescue work that richly deserves the accolade—Well Done."

Mayor Names Lynch Vet Services Head

George J. Lynch, 51, of Dorchester, was named by Mayor Collins on March 1 as the city's new Commissioner of Veterans' Services.

Mr. Lynch, a former Department Commander of the Disabled American Veterans, will assume the post immediately. Mr. Lynch, his wife, two sons and two daughters live at 112 Wilmington avenue, Dorchester.

A lifelong resident of Boston, Mr. Lynch is a graduate of Boston English High School, St. Phillip's Preparatory School, and Boston College in the Class of 1938. During World War II he served with the Army.

He has been active since 1947 with Veteran Organizations throughout the state. In addition to serving as Department Commander of the Disabled American Veterans, he served with the National Organization as National Executive Committeeman for the New England states.

DIRECTIVE NO. 2

ID CARDS

To All Department Heads.

At recent meetings of the Administrative Services Board and the Public Safety Commission, discussions were held on the over-all policy of the city concerning the issuance of ID cards to employees who call on the public in the performance of their regular duties.

As a result of these discussions, it was determined that no set policy has ever been established on a city-wide basis to control the issuance and distribution of these cards, that several types of cards are in circulation at the present time, and that several departments do not issue ID cards to employees whose specific function is in the investigatory or inspectional phase of municipal administration.

In order to ascertain the status of present practice throughout city departments and to evaluate the possibility of issuing ID cards to employees other than those now carrying such identification, it is requested that you fill out the enclosed questionnaire and return same to Mr. Costello, Executive Secretary, Administrative Services Board, 50 City Hall, Boston, Mass., at the earliest possible date.

As you may well appreciate, the issuance of an ID card is an important function of any government, whether federal, local or state, and control of the issuance is imperative not only from an administrative viewpoint but for the protection of the public as well.

After this survey has been completed, the results will be analyzed and serious consideration will be given to the establishment of a new policy which, I am quite certain, will meet with the approval of all city officials, city employees and the general public.

Your cooperation in the above matter is respectfully requested.

Sincerely,

ARTHUR G. COFFEY,

Director.

New Aquarium To Be Major Tourist Lure

A new $4.3 million Aquarium scheduled to open in Boston in the fall of 1967 is expected to be one of the major tourist attractions in Massachusetts.

It will be operated by the New England Aquarium Corporation, a private, nonprofit organization chartered in 1958.

Ground was broken in October, 1965, on Central Wharf, and the cornerstone was laid in mid-October, 1966.

The property, purchased from the Boston Redevelopment Authority, is the site of the first new construction on the waterfront in many years. Surrounding it will be a series of apartment complexes and businesses when waterfront renewal is completed.

A broad variety of exhibits will fill New England Aquarium to carry out the theme of man's relationship with water in natural and picturesque environments.

Every effort is being made to insure the creation of habitats duplicating the surroundings of the species which will be displayed. Coupled with them will be interesting and educational presentations on sport and commercial fishing, water conservation and pollution, why the tides occur and the unique behavior of many animal species.

Major Exhibits

An Antarctic exhibit with living penguins in a refrigerated environment with ice floes.

A tidal pool which ebbs and flows twice in twenty-four hours encompassing such creatures as starfish, hermit crabs and others which live along the New England coast.

A series of displays of the marine fishes and allied creatures familiar to our waters—a typical under-wharf scene of sculpins, pollock, cunners, sea ravens, starfish, and barnacles. This will also include exhibits showing the vessels and nets used by our commercial fishing industry and displays and graphics dispelling the myths which surround some of our more common marine animals such as squid and eels.

A fresh-water series of exhibits encompassing the sportsman's favorite quarries—salmon and trout—plus re-creations of typical pond and stream bottoms.

The unique—electric eels with demonstrations, parental devotion of some fishes, "living fossils," or fishes which escaped the evolutionary process, the voracious piranhas, fish which climb and others which literally shoot down their food.

At present, Aquarium staff members are conducting research in the marine sciences and collecting specimens for other aquariums. These, in turn, will reciprocate by forwarding creatures for display here which they have gathered. This reciprocity will enable New England Aquarium to have a wide and varied number of exhibits representing nearly every facet of the world of water.

A comprehensive educational program is being developed to assist teachers in their work. This program will not only prepare a school child for a visit to the Aquarium but hopefully will create a desire for further study in the marine sciences.

A nucleus staff with broad backgrounds and experience is temporarily housed at 6 Long Wharf, adjacent to the Aquarium's construction site.

Edward A. Taft, Jr., of Manchester, is executive director. He is a former staff member of the Museum of Science and has been closely allied to the planning and building of the Aquarium since its inception.

Director of Development is James S. Plaut of Cambridge, formerly director of the Institute of Contemporary Art and Deputy U. S. Commissioner General at the Brussels World's Fair of 1958.

Curator is David Miller of Falmouth, formerly with the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole.

Richard Vahan of Georgetown is assistant curator. Both are respected members of the marine scientific community.

John H. Cunningham, Jr., of Fayville, is assistant to the President. He is a former executive of the Whitin Machine Works at Whitinsville.

Dr. Kenneth R. H. Read, assistant professor of biology at Boston University, is research fellow of the Aquarium. He will carry out a research program and work with the Aquarium staff in creating and assembling a library of films on the marine environment.

Miss Edith Kraska, a graphic designer, is curatorial assistant for exhibits.

All members of the staff are available for questions by calling 542-6605.

The Giant Ocean Tank

The central feature of the New England Aquarium will be a giant cylindrical glass tank in the core of the building reaching from the main floor to the fourth level. Here, in 200,000 gallons of tropical ocean water, 40 species of aquatic animals will live together in a re-created reef environment: leopard sharks and giant spotted eagle rays will share the water with hundreds of small, colorful reef fishes. Giant loggerhead turtles will swim the "ocean floor" with moray eels and bottom-feeding groupers. The intrinsic educational value of this exhibit will lie in the variety of color, motion, sizes and shapes visible in a tropical reef setting.

Edward F. Campbell

Patrolman Edward F. Campbell, 48, of 37 Blake street, Mattapan, died on March 5.

A member of the Boston Police Department for more than 17 years, he served in the Jamaica Plain Station before being assigned as clerk in Division 2.

He was a Coast Guard veteran of World War II, and was a member of the Boston Police Relief Association and Police VFW Post 1018.

He leaves his wife, Marie W. (Collins), five children, Edward, Susan, Jane, Coletta, and Patricia, all of Mattapan. He also leaves a brother, William, of South Boston.

Chamber Hails CAB Decision on Northeast

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce on March 6 lauded the Civil Aeronautics Board's decision to grant Northeast Airlines permanent authority to operate in the Boston to Florida market.

Aviation Committee Chairman Richard A. Berenson said that the Board's decision to give Northeast Airlines a permanent certificate on the Florida route was hard won and would prove beneficial not only to Northeast but also to the entire Boston and New England region.

Mr. Berenson stated that improved and competitive air service from Boston to Florida had been a goal of the Boston Chamber and other civic parties dating back to the early 1950s.

The Chamber spokesman also indicated the Chamber's pleasure in seeing Allegheny Airlines receive nonstop authority in the Boston-Washington commuter markets as part of the decision in the Florida case.

Turning to international route cases, Mr. Berenson said that the Bureau of Operating Rights' recommendation that Northeast Airlines be certificated in the Boston to Bahamas market was an encouraging sign in that route case that Boston would have improved air service to the attractive and growing tourist and vacation areas of the Bahamas.

Mr. Berenson also indicated that William F. Chouinard, Director of Transportation for the Chamber, would appear before the Civil Aeronautics Board to testify in the Trans-Pacific Route Case.

"Mr. Chouinard's appearance culminates eight months of preparing detailed exhibits and testimony in this tremendous route case," Berenson stated.

"The Chamber will be arguing for the establishment of a pattern of air service from Boston to Hawaii and major points in the Far East which we hope will serve us adequately throughout the 1970s," he stated. Berenson indicated that it was vital to look ahead in judging air travel needs since route awards involved such lengthy and arduous procedures before the CAB.

"This case will determine for a good many years the pattern of air service between Boston and the Far East, and, most important, whether Boston becomes a truly international gateway with service to Trans-Pacific as well as Trans-Atlantic destinations," he concluded.

Hyde Park Streets

Mayor Collins on March 6 announced a $275,000 street reconstruction program in Hyde Park.

Bids will be received on March 14. The Hyde Park project is one phase of a city-wide highway reconstruction program on which Mayor Collins plans to spend $2.5 million.

Hyde Park streets to be reconstructed include: Alpheus road, from Beech street to Bateman street; Bateman street, from Beech street to 56 feet south of Alpheus road; Charles street, from Roxana street to Town street, to end; Grew Hill road, from Jeffers street to Alpheus road; Mt. Pleasant street, from Pond street to Summit street; Neponset avenue, from Loring street to 600 feet east of Summit street; Readville street, from River street to West Milton street; Weeks avenue, from Grew Hill road to Alpheus road.

Public Works Commissioner John F. Flaherty said the work would be started as soon as weather permits.

It's E. Berkeley Now

Dover street, second only to the late, somewhat unlamented Howard street in its reputation for lurid lights and shady action, no longer exists up in Boston's South End. Henceforth, its official designation will be East Berkeley street, from Tremont street to Albany street, and West Fourth street, from Albany street westward.

Chairman George Farrah of the South End Urban Renewal Committee, leading exponent of the change, thinks that with urban renewal, the possible eradication of the "Skid Row" aspects of the old street and its prospects for a brighter future call for a more dignified nom de plume.

Hurwitz Tourney

"Nate Hurwitz Memorial" Basketball Tournament honoring the founder of the Annual Amateur Basketball Tournament, The Boys' Clubs of Boston, will hold its 44th Tourney on Saturday, March 18.

It was started in 1923 by the late Nate Hurwitz, at that time the Physical Director for the Bunker Hill Unit. Nate, as he was popularly known, later became a legislator and was also Commissioner of the Veterans Administration. The Tourney became one of the oldest and biggest in this part of the country for many years and has been open to any amateur Basketball Team within a radius of 25 miles of Boston and will bear his name in memory of his contribution to the sport. The Tourney will feature a special "Nate Hurwitz Memorial Trophy" for the Most Valuable Player of the tournament as selected by the officials working the games.

Two other outstanding awards: The Nathaniel F. Ayer Trophy, for the team displaying the most sportsmanship during the tournament and the Frederic C. Church Trophy for the winner of the Senior Division. Winner and runner-up in the other divisions will also be honored with a trophy.

Edward A. Walden

Boston Police Patrolman Edward A. Walden, 68, of 16 Althea street, Dorchester, who served as prosecutor for the department's traffic division, died on March 6 at Harley Hospital, Dorchester.

Mr. Walden formerly served for many years at the old Joy Street station prior to its closing several years ago. He was born in Charlestown.

During World War II he served as chief specialist of port security for the U. S. Coast Guard.

He was a member of Boston Police Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Bunker Hill Council, Knights of Columbus.

He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Alice McDonough and Catherine Walden, both of Dorchester.

A Solemn Requiem Mass was sung on March 9 at St. Mark's Church, Dorchester.

Mayor Pleads Needs of U.S. Cities for $125 Billion To Close Revenue Gap

The following statement was issued on March 14 by a Special Committee of the National League of Cities Executive Committee headed by Mayor John F. Collins, of Boston.

Other members of the committee are Mayors Harold M. Tollefson, President of the National League of Cities; James H. J. Tate of Philadelphia; Ralph Locher of Cleveland; Arthur Naftalin of Minneapolis; Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit; Henry W. Maier of Milwaukee; Howard Gardner of the League of California Cities:

The nation's cities face a staggering $262 billion revenue gap over the next ten years — $125 billion of which can only be closed by the federal government.

The needs of the cities can be met without any increase in federal tax rates, provided the federal revenue return is accomplished through direct unassigned grants to the cities on the basis of their fiscal needs and capacities.

There has been a great deal of discussion of tax-sharing proposals over the past several years. Unfortunately, most of this discussion has been in terms of generalities, unsupported by hard data. The Executive Committee of the National League of Cities, therefore, ordered an objective economic study of the whole question by TEMPO, General Electric Company's Center for Advanced Studies.

This study calls for a gradual closing of the local revenue gap by allocating $1 billion of federal funds to the municipalities the first year, rising during the next nine years, until in the tenth year the federal grants would total $26 billion.

40 Percent of Federal Revenues

The study also points out that since the $125 billion return of federal revenues to the cities represents only 40 percent of projected increases in federal tax revenues for the next decade at present tax rates, sufficient funds would be left over for expanding federal programs as well as defense needs, raising the level of existing grant-in-aid programs, rebating funds to the states for education and other state supported services.

The study also recommends that existing federal grant-in-aid programs to cities be continued and accelerated.

The TEMPO study points out that "there are compelling reasons for not allowing the states to administer or even to decide how to allocate federal funds intended to aid localities. Federal aid can be routed to cities in accordance with their relative fiscal needs and capacities without violating traditional federal and state roles. Using the states as a conduit is justified only if the states add value to the services being supplied."

"The development of an allocation formula requires the selection of appropriate factors to define the relative fiscal needs and capacities of the

Mayor Pleased

Mayor Collins has expressed his pleasure at the action of the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development's approval of the city's application for federal funds to assist in Boston's Urban Beautification program.

Mayor Collins said that more than $43,000 of new federal money will enable the city to do such things as light more city-owned playgrounds, undertake new tree and flower planting programs, and general upgrading of the city's parks and playgrounds.

Borrowing Order

Mayor Collins on March 13 resubmitted to the City Council an order which the Council defeated last week, calling for an adjustment in the 1967 Borrowing Power of the City of Boston.

In this message to the Council, Mayor Collins urged quick action for the following reasons:

1. Unless the order is passed, it will be impossible to go forward with repairs to schools for which some 3 million dollars must be borrowed this year.

2. It would be impossible to go forward with the construction of new streets and sewer facilities and modernization and improvements to four police stations for which some 5 million 8 hundred thousand dollars would be borrowed.

Mayor Collins pointed out that planned borrowing for the construction of new streets and sewers and the modernization of police stations plus borrowing for alterations and repairs to schools and the authorizations for the purchase of new street cleaning and other equipment would total more than 13 million dollars in 1967. If the Council does not act to rescind a 13-year-old loan order, the planned construction and purchase of equipment program will have to be cut back by more than 5½ million dollars.

nation's cities, and then the assignment of appropriate weights to those factors," TEMPO added.

Other studies on the subject show that a straight per capita distribution of federal revenues will not meet the criteria of placing the money where needed, and suggest per capita grants varying upward with increasing sizes of cities in recognition of the greater range of services and higher costs per capita of city governments as they increase in size.

This idea has merit, but should be combined with the assignment of weight to additional factors of need, such as unemployment, population density, nonresident influx, percentage of charitable and governmental properties excluded from the tax rolls, etc.
